BLOWING DOWN MOUNTAIN.

C.P.R. Removing Dangerous Bluff to Guard Against Slides.

Port Arthur, Aug. 16.—The C. P. R. has now in hand one of the largest projects that that company has undertaken on the Lake Superior division since the railway was built.

Near Port Coldwell the line of the C. P. R. runs along the mountain edge. The rocks rise for hundreds of feet above the tracks, and from the lofty heights at times great boulders and pieces of broken rock tumble down upon the roadbed below.

The work has been started, and is under the supervision of W. J. Whitley. Holes are drilled in the top of the great mass of solid rock and then heavily charged with dynamite.

In order that the traffic will not be stopped the company has built a track around the scene of activity. When the work is completed all danger at that point will have been eliminated.

To Massacre the Mosquito. Tonight there will be a meeting held at the Island of the Association for the extermination of the mosquito.

After all it's the way a man looks in a suit made by Score that makes the difference.

We would particularly like you to see our summer serges and flannel suitings.

They are by far the coolest, neatest and most satisfactory goods for the hot weather. Call and see them.

Reign of Terror Continues More Fighting in Streets

From All Points of Russia Come Reports of Attacks on Police and Court Considers Situation Grave.

London, August 16.—A Warsaw telegram to the Jewish Chronicle says: "After yesterday's disturbances, which the police quelled, 250 Jews were killed or wounded by the soldiers."

GRAVE.

St. Petersburg, August 16.—To-day's despatches from Poland are hardly less grave than those of last night. At Lodz, after the police station had been blown up and burned, Cossacks and other troops fired volleys into the crowds and more casualties are not given.

At Warsaw, street fighting occurred to-day, especially in the Jewish quarter, and the revolutionists used bombs against the police and troops. One hundred and fifty persons are reported to have been wounded by rifle fire and thirty by bombs.

The war of terrorism which the fighting organization of the social revolutionists declared immediately after parliament was dissolved seems now to have begun in earnest. From all parts of the empire the telegraph brings the same story of attacks on police officials of all classes, accompanied in the majority of cases by plunder.

The resumption of terrorism activity on a large scale renders the task of the government more difficult and darkens the prospect of the present ministry accomplishing anything in the direction of an amelioration of the situation.

Parliament's Rights. The government announces that the new parliament will not be deprived of the right to revise the budget for 1907. The budget will be submitted to parliament when it assembles in March, and in the meantime the credits for the first two months will be one-sixth of the credits of the present year, under the authority of the fundamental law assigning the credit for the preceding year in case of the failure of the passage of the budget.

Several Liberal papers have been permitted to resume publication either under their old names or with new franchises.

CONCERTED ACTION.

Berlin, Aug. 16.—A despatch to The Vossische Zeitung from Warsaw, dated yesterday, gave details of yesterday's rioting. The despatch says:—

"The disturbance was due to the determination of the revolutionists to arrange the arrest of one hundred and forty workmen of an enamelware factory. The firing commenced at ten o'clock in the morning in various parts of the city, as if by concerted signal. In many places the military fired on the crowds indiscriminately, and the exact number killed has not yet been ascertained. Bodies picked up in the streets continue to be brought to the morgue in Theodore-st., which is guarded by troops. Many of the wounded conceal themselves because the soldiers arrest all wounded persons, and twenty of twenty to fifty cavalrymen are riding thru the streets, searching passers-by for arms. The streets in the Jewish quarter are deserted because the military patrols knock down with the butts of their rifle everybody they meet.

A bonfire was thrown in the afternoon into the windows of the police station, wounding seventeen policemen and twenty passers-by. Nobody was killed.

MANY CASUALTIES.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Aug. 16.—It is now stated that during yesterday's massacre thirteen policemen, four police sergeants, seven gendarmes and four soldiers were killed, and that eight policemen, two sergeants, two gendarmes and six soldiers were wounded. The soldiers in replying to the attacks on the police with volleys and charging the crowds killed thirteen men and two women, and severely wounded several persons and slightly injured ninety-five.

During the night shots were heard in different parts of the city, but the casualties have not been ascertained. At Plock, Russian Poland, five policemen were killed and two were wounded. The assassins escaped.

SEIZE POLICE STATION.

London, August 16.—A despatch to a news agency from Odessa says that early to-day fifteen anarchists took possession of the railway freight station there, killing a police inspector and three policemen, who resisted them, and carried off $300.

RAILWAY MAN HONORED

Appointed by President Roosevelt to the Board of Interstate Railway Commissioners.

It is not every day that the services of a public-spirited citizen are rewarded in so signal and substantial a manner as have been the efforts of Bro. E. E. Clark, grand chief conductor of the Order of Railway Conductors of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who was a member of the committee which was instrumental in settling the great coal strike of 1903. On that occasion there is no doubt that President Roosevelt recognized his ability and the valuable assistance he could render to his government, at any rate the president has honored him with the appointment as interstate commerce commissioner, which removes him from a sphere of usefulness in which he was greatly respected by everyone who knew him, to a larger field of labor which will afford greater opportunity for the exercise of those unusual talents which he possesses.

The following letter issued by him on the occasion of his retirement from the office of grand chief conductor will be read with interest by every member of the order in America:

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 8, 1906. To Divisions and Members of the Order of Railway Conductors of America: The president has honored me with appointment as interstate commerce commissioner. It does not seem that I should turn away from this opportunity to take up work in a broader field, in which I hope to still do much good. I have asked the trustees to arrange to relieve me from the office of grand chief conductor at the end of this month. The trustees will meet and the arrangements made by them will, in due time, be communicated to you.

The order and its welfare have been the greater part of my life for a number of years. I can not sever my active participation in its affairs without much and deep regret. Naturally I feel pretty closely attached to the institution, which, since I have occupied the position of its chief executive, has grown from about 250 divisions to nearly 500, and from 15,000 members to 25,000. In the same period the membership of the mutual benefit department has increased from less than 4000 to nearly 24,000; we have paid benefits amounting, in round numbers, to eight millions of dollars and have built up a reserve fund of $416,000, and that without any appreciable increase in the cost to members per year, per $1000 of insurance. The financial condition of the order itself has been raised from nothing to its present strong, healthy and satisfactory condition without increasing the dues of members. During its period all of the order's work as a labor organization has been done. Immense and inestimable benefits in the way of increased compensation, shorter hours and better conditions of employment have been secured for our members all over the jurisdiction of the order.

All this has been possible because of united and loyal support from members to a sound and straightforward policy, administered in a frank, fair and impartial way. Every officer and every member has contributed to the work or to the loyal support given by the membership is entitled to his share of the credit and the glory. There is enough of both to go around.

I appreciate most highly, and am thankful for, the cordial and kind expressions of confidence and good will which many of our divisions and members have already sent to me on the strength of the press reports of the appointment having been made. I find great satisfaction in remembering the many expressions of confidence with which our grand divisions and members have honored me, and the many extremely pleasant and never-to-be-forgotten friendships that have been formed.

The relationships between our officers are most cordial and pleasant. I bespeak for my associates who remain in office the same consideration and support that the membership has been accorded me, and which the other officers have justly earned by faithful and loyal service. I trust that under them the order may continue to grow and prosper. My heart will be in its welfare, even tho I am not actively helping to guide it, and I wish for each member a full measure of prosperity and happiness, and I am,

Yours sincerely in P. E. Clark. That he carries with him the best wishes of all his friends—and they are legion—goes without saying, and his long and honorable service to his country is a striking instance of the results of faithful service, of a sound and straightforward policy such as he has advocated for, administered in a frank, fair and impartial way.

IN THE DARK.

"We haven't been approached in the matter at all by the city. All we know of it is what we have seen in the papers." So said Manager Pearson of the Consumers' Gas Company last night regarding the city's project for taking over the gas lighting of the city.
