Now for Wall Paper!

What we've been doing with Furniture all through February we're going to do with Wall Paper during March. It'd be interesting to tell of the car loads of new goods just arrived and the handsome values we're going to offer, but it isn't March yet and the news will hold over till next week. The main fact

Belleville, Feb. 28.—Fire was discovered about 2.45 o'clock this morning in the residence of Mr. Wesley Yateman, who was awakened by plaster falling. The brigade responded promptly, but the interior of the building was almost completely wrecked before they could do any work. Mr. Yateman lost all hi; effects, excepting a sideboard and trunk, and had no insurance. The building is owned by Mrs. Jane Eves of Toronto. The loss is about $500. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The annual statement for 1895 of this solid and progressive company has just been published, the official returns to the Dominion Government having been promptly made on the 31st of December last, at the close of its year's business. The report shows that substantial and solid additions have been made to the insurance in force, assets, net surplus, the movements of which items from year to year indicate progress or the reverse of a company. There are four items in a life insurance company's statement from which a very good idea can be obtained of its progress or retrogression. If these items are carefully compared at the end of certain years, the company's record and standing can be ascertained. The items referred to are cash income, assets, net surplus and insurance in force, and at the end of the last three quinquennial periods of the North American were as follows:
