AROUND THE PADDED RING.

Kerwin and Seiloff Clinched Through Six Rounds for a Draw.

But the Mystery Seemed to Have the Better of the Argument—Ex-Mayor Stewart Going to the Klondike, and Will be Unable to Referee the Popp-Kelly Bout.

Chicago, March 18.—It was late last night when Kerwin and Seiloff went in the ring at Tattersall's. The Mystery and O'Neil presented some of the most weird and wonderful gyrations ever seen in a prize ring, and, after hugging each other during most of the time for six rounds, the match was called a draw. It was very amusing and caused frequent laughter, though, as a matter of fact, a good many people thought a decision should have been given to Kerwin.

First round—Kerwin led with his left, landing a heavy blow on the body. He reached the body with his left, and they clinched. Kerwin landed on the Detroit man, and he landed a hard swing for the jaw. Kerwin landed on the face again and Seiloff on the body. A light exchange and they clinched. Seiloff landed a hard swing on the head, Kerwin slipped down and clinched as he arose. Seiloff landed a hard left, the stomach and jabbed in the jaw. Seiloff missed several hard swings. Seiloff landed left on body and right on Kerwin. Kerwin kept dancing in and out, and his funny antics caused the crowd to laugh. Kerwin landed a hard left on the face, and Seiloff missed an uppercut. Second round—Seiloff landed a hard left, Kerwin landed left on body and right on Kerwin. Kerwin kept dancing in and out, and his funny antics caused the crowd to laugh. Kerwin landed a hard left on the face, and Seiloff missed an uppercut. Kerwin landed a hard left on the face, and Seiloff missed an uppercut. Kerwin landed a hard left on the face, and Seiloff missed an uppercut.

Third round—Seiloff missed a left swing. Kerwin smashed him in the ear and landed a hard left on the face. Seiloff swung widely time and again, but failed to reach his opponent. Kerwin landed a hard right and left on the head, and Seiloff replied with a right which was well timed. Seiloff landed on head with right and Kerwin on the nose as he swung.

Fifth round—Kerwin, light left on the face. Seiloff landed a hard left on the face, and Kerwin on the body. Seiloff landed a hard left on the face, and Kerwin on the body. MODEL 35. Without exception the finest wheel in the world at the price. Includes all features of merit found in the highest price competitor.

MODEL 36. Intrinsically worth from $10 to $20 more than any other medium-priced imported wheel which generally lists from $10 to $20 higher than in the States in order to cover freight, duty and middleman's profit.

These Are Facts Easily Demonstrated and the humiliating spectacle need not be repeated of sending annually one million dollars to support U.S. industries, when you can purchase better wheels for less money at home and avoiding all delays at customs.

We refer with pride to the fact that we have never appealed for patronage on sentiment.

We rely solely on the merit of our production, and the public have nobly responded.
