TEN CLASSES FOR FORCED SERVICE

who otherwise would be producers in Canada and to the necessity of maintaining production at the highest possible limit under such circumstances the method of drafting men as provided in the Militia Act is unwise and imprudent, and that the men now required should be secured by a process of selection. The bill provides for securing reinforcements, which, unless parliament further authorizes, are not to exceed 100,000 men.

War Time Marriages. After setting forth the ten classes, the bill continues: (3) For the purposes of this section any man married after the day of 1917 shall be deemed to be unmarried. (4) Any class except Class 1, shall include men who are transferred thereto from another class as hereinafter provided, and men who have come within Class 1 since the previous class was called out.

(4) The order in which the classes are described in this section shall be the order in which they may be called out on active service, provided the governor-in-council may divide any class into sub-classes, in which case the sub-classes shall be called out in order of age beginning with the youngest.

(5) The governor-in-council may, from time to time by proclamation, call out on active service as aforesaid for the defence of Canada, either in Canada or beyond Canada, any class or sub-class of men described in Section Four, and all men within the class or sub-class so called out shall, from the date of such proclamation, be deemed to be soldiers.

Provision for Exemptions.

The system of exemption has evidently been worked out with great care. There are to be three tribunals. First of all, local tribunals composed of two persons are to sit in each locality wherever designated by the minister of justice. One of these two men is to be chosen by the senior county court judge of the district where the tribunal first sits. The other is to be chosen by a board of selection, and this board of selection is to be named, not by the government, but by the parliament. The premier's intention is that it should be composed of men acceptable to both and all elements of political faith. These local tribunals shall hear applications for exemption, and the principles upon which they shall act are set out in the bill. In effect they require that the tribunals shall decide whether or not the man who asks for exemption is best serving the national interest at the work he is at instead of in military service.

(4) The order in which the classes are described in this section shall be the order in which they may be called out on active service, provided the governor-in-council may divide any class into sub-classes, in which case the sub-classes shall be called out in order of age beginning with the youngest.

(5) The governor-in-council may, from time to time by proclamation, call out on active service as afore-all the provinces there will be a central appeal judge, to be chosen from the present supreme court of Canada. He is to determine by regulation the conditions upon which appeal may be made to him. Provision is made for providing assistance of other judges for the central appeal judge on his recommendation. It will thus be seen that the exemption provisions aim at fair and impartial, and what is not less important, uniform application of the exemption clauses throughout the whole of the Dominion.

Local Bodies. Persons chosen to be members of a local tribunal are evidently to be paid expenses, but are not to receive emolument. This should make for the appointment of men of high character and standing anxious to do public service at all times. They are protected from all liability so long as they act in good faith. They are furthermore compelled to perform their duties, if appointed, unless released from their obligation by the authority which appoints them.

A registrar is to be appointed for each province whose duty it will be to receive appeals and locate them by districts for the convenience of the chief justice in the selection and allocation of the appeal tribunals.

Certificates of exemption that may be granted are evidently intended to be, in the main, conditional certificates. Men may be exempted for a limited time or pending the happening of some event. They may also, in proper cases, be placed in the class next in order and required to report for duty when such class is called. Applications for exemption may be made by one person on behalf of another and may be made to any local tribunal in the province where the applicant resides. A local tribunal once chosen, however, by an applicant cannot be afterwards changed.

Exempted Classes. Those exempted wholly from the operation of the bill are practically the same as was the case in Great Britain. They consist of men forming part of His Majesty's regular or reserve forces and men in the royal navy, royal marines or the naval service and of men who have already served in the allies in the present war and received an honorable discharge.

There are also exempted clergy and ministers of religion and certain members of the Mennonites and Doukhobors promised exemption by the Dominion in 1873 and 1883. When the class to which any man belongs is called out each member of that class becomes a member of the militia, subject, of course, to his right to apply for exemption. The expense and delay of registration is avoided and apparently at the same time the objects of registration are to be attained. There are only 16 sections in the bill.

London, June 11.—The two missing boats from the British steamer Southland, which was torpedoed and sunk on June 4, have been found and 40 men who were in them safely landed. CANADIAN AVIATOR HAS FIGHTING VACATION

On Day Off He Flies Over Fox Lines, Destroying Two Huns.

British Headquarters in France, via London, June 10.—Both today and yesterday British air pilots have complained at their inability to get any considerable number of Germans to come up to fight. The spirit of these youths is described by a brilliant Canadian flyer attached to the British corps who was told he must take a day off yesterday, after a week of steady flying. He asked permission of his commander to fly thirty miles or so down the line to lunch with friends in one of the Canadian divisions. This was readily granted, but instead of flying down along the British line he crossed far over behind the German lines and had eight fights on the way, and brought down two German machines.

CANAL REGULATIONS.

Special to The Toronto World. Port Colborne, June 10.—The following notice to mariners has been issued by the engineer of the Welland canal: On and after June 15 and until further notice no vessel will be allowed to enter and pass down thru the Welland canal drawing more than fourteen feet three inches of water, and no vessel will be allowed to enter and pass up thru the Welland Canal drawing more than fourteen feet of water.

MACNAB LOSES ACTION AGAINST DAILY MAIL

Counter-Claims for Work Done Outside of Paper Responsible.

Montreal, June 11.—Judge Allard today gave judgment in the action brought by B. A. MacNab against The Montreal Daily Mail, of which paper he was formerly editor. His lordship found for the defendant with costs. Mr. MacNab, claiming to be a creditor to the extent of $6000, asked for the appointment of an interim liquidator for The Daily Mail.

The defendant journal claimed it had a counter claim against Mr. MacNab for money he had received for work done outside of paper. Plaintiff pleaded the practice of doing outside work was also carried on by M. St. Nicholas, manager of The Mail, and gave a list of matters Mr. Nichols was alleged to have been interested in. The court ordered this list stricken from the rolls as irrelevant to the case.

SETTLE ELECTION BY DRAW.

Special to The Toronto World. Galt, June 10.—City Clerk McCarty did not have to perform the unpleasant duty of casting the deciding ballot to determine the winner of Friday's by-election, which resulted in a tie vote. Both contestants, ex-Ald. W. H. Anderson and T. A. Rutherford, agreed to draw for the position, and in their presence a ballot was drawn, which elected W. H. Anderson, former holder of the seat.
