In the course of his address Mr.

Drary said:

"We have been misrepresented time and again on this by some people who want to stir up strife. The water powers belong to the province as much as the forests. While we may be able to develop the mines and forests under private corporations, altho recent developments make it questionable, the water powers should be developed by the province for the province, and they should be developed as soon as possible. With the shortage of coal in sight, it is a crime to delay a single hours development. This is a vital matter and the government has not and will not place a single straw in the way of the development of the water powers of the province.

This does not mean that we won't use electricity for freight and passenger service. The province can sell the electricity their roads. This whole matter has led us to say 'we want to be shown.'

In conclusion Mr. Drury said that the relations between the government and Sir Adam Beck were condial and were better, than those of some of Sir Adam's worshippers.

Officers of the association for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

An expert said that he thought the hair roots were stinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. "Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of the strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

After BALDNESS

"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prelific as in my youthful days.

That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind mildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

... Speaks On Commissions.

Touching on the question of the commission appointed to investigate, upon which he said the government had been often assailed, Mr. Drury said the government had made use of the best commission possible, a royal commission, which is now investigating Hydro radials. The members of that commission, he said, were the hest men that could be got. "If the report of the commission is that the policy is sound, we can finance it in much better shape. If the policy is not sound, we shall expect the municipalities and the Hydro-Electric Commission to accept the reasonable cipalities and the Hydro-Electric Commission to accept the reasonable conclusions as final in the matter."

The premier said that, because of too many railroads, the public was faced with increased freight and passenger rates. Now that the government had taken over the G.T.R. and Canadian Northern "two lame ducks." Canadian Northern, "two lame ducks," the building of Hydro radials would mean that "we would only be competing against ourselves." He referred particularly to the Toronto and Eastern section, which he said, would take

He said the government would not stand in the way of the development of the waier powers of the province. He reiterated his fattitude towards Hydro development that the "overnment wanted "to be shown and to know everything fully." If there were a better policy he wanted to be enlightened. He differentiated bitween Hydro radials and Hydro development, and declared the former was not a part of the latter.

"The third reason for the investigation is that we are entering upon a period of road development, which is important to the rore dealt with the good roads policy of the government to the rural sections and to the cities. This policy was necessitated by the change of transportation. As the auto has displaced the horse in a large degree, so motor trucks have displaced the railway for handling freight. That is the reason for good roads policy. The money spent on that will give retter results than money spent on railways. We are not doing much on the road displaced.

159 Avenue Pius IX, Montreal.

"For three years, I was a serrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine and faithfully carried out his instructions; but I did not improve and finally the doctor told me I could not be cured.

At this time, a friend advised me to try 'Frait-ties' and I did so. After taking two boxes of Fruit-otives', I was greatly relieved; and gradually this marvelous fruit medicine made me completely well. My digestion and general health are splendid—all of which I owe to "Fruita-tives".
