

The revised curriculum of studies which has been drafted for the Faculty of Arts assumes that new subjects, such as Economics and Political Science, will be introduced as soon as the necessary funds can be provided. The strengthening of existing departments is also a prime necessity of the situation, and much could be done to make the course at McGill increasingly sought after by offering additional tutorial instruction—apart from professorial lecturing—during the first two years of the Arts curriculum. The last two years it is proposed to organize on lines which shall provide, where desired, a natural transition to work in the Faculties of Medicine, Law, or Applied Science. It is also being borne in mind that the University will not be completely fulfilling its proper functions till the opportunities of Graduate Work in the several departments have been largely extended and increased.

Among other more or less pressing wants may be briefly mentioned a Biological Building, residential accommodations for students, a University Hall, an Art Museum, a Gymnasium, and an increase in the General Endowment Fund of the University, as well as an addition to the funds at the disposal of the Library and Museum Committees.

In connection with the need for residential accommodation for students, it is worthy of mention that the efforts made by a Committee of Professors to establish a "Students' Club," where good board and lodging could be obtained at reasonable prices, have been completely successful. As the Committee undertook to act only for a year, it may become necessary to make new arrangements if the Club is to be established on a permanent basis. Meanwhile the success of this year's operations must be regarded as in the highest degree encouraging. The Committee is greatly indebted to its Honorary Secretary, Professor Penhallow, for the care and attention which he has bestowed on the affairs of the Club.
