ALONE 14 DAYS IN OPEN BOAT; IS SAVED.

LOUIS VOLLET JUST BEFORE BEING PICKED UP BY THE S.S. CARMANIA.

NEW YORK, June 15—Rescued when almost dead from hunger and exposure after being fourteen days in a dory, Louis Vollet, thirty-three years old, a fisherman from the schooner Mimosa, of St. Malo, France, was brought into port on the Carmania of the Cunard line, in from Liverpool.

Vollet was just able to sit up for a few moments in the ship's hospital yesterday. His mind, almost wrecked by his terrible experience, fails him at times and he was unable to remember the name of his mate in the dory, who was swept overboard during the storm that drove them far from the schooner.

After the seventh day Vollet's store of biscuit was gone and the only water that saved him from the fall of the snow and rain in the bottom of the boat. In the agony of his hunger, Vollet gnawed at pieces of tarred rope, until at last he became semi-conscious. Although he said that he could see that the Carmania was coming to his rescue he was too weak to make a signal.

CZAR'S DECISION TOASTED

IN FLOODS OF CHAMPAGNE

St. Petersburg Conservatives Celebrate Dissolution of the Duma in an All Night Fete.

St. Petersburg, June 17—From a well-informed source the Associated Press learns that the decision to dissolve the duma and abolish the former election law, was due to the initiative of the emperor, whose original intention went far beyond the mere actual taking of his majesty's wish to dismiss parliament a fortnight ago, and along the interval between the convocation of a new assembly, thinking that the would permit the agitation throughout the country to subside. He was encouraged in his attitude by court circles, but finally yielded to the arguments of Premier Stolypin who strongly advocated the convoking of the duma in the autumn. The premier also succeeded in having stricken from the electoral law, provisions increasing the educational and property qualifications for suffrage and making the age limit of voters from 20 to 30 years, working upon him majesty by what is designated described by one of his opponents as "the bogaboo of reaction."

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

UNEXPECTED CATASTROPHE.

THE HAGUE, June 17—(Special)—The peace conference is off. War was carried on this morning in forty-six languages, by delegates with and without whiskers, not one of whom would listen to any talk about arbitration or other such expedient. The cause of the trouble is the cost of living. The thirty Hollanders, whose dyes will permeate the lower end of the world, are the sea, but who welcome what ever the sea casts upon their shores, fell upon the delegates to the peace conference with board bills that fairly took their breath. They struck below the belt. The advocates of disarmament immediately buttoned up their pockets and were unanimous in their opinion that the Hague they fondly imagined that The Hague would open his arms to them. It did not, but with intent to squeeze them dry, two landladies have been set upon and beaten, and the situation is grave.

Mr. Hiram Hornbass is entirely in favor of a 25-cent rate for hair-cutting. Hiram has his hair cut and his Galway whiskers trimmed every fall, and he says he always feels like tipping the barber who does the work, even if the latter does make a profit on the sale of the pomade.
