

SKIN TROUBLES

YOUR SKIN REFLECTS YOUR HEALTH!

JUST as your skin is, so is your health. If the pores of your skin are not acting properly, the wastes of your body are not getting away as they should, and this means that your kidneys, liver, lungs, and heart have to take on extra duty. Your skin requires periodical cleaning, just as the housewife knows that the stove requires periodical shaking down to make it burn brightly.

Just at this season, pimples, face sores, eruptions, scrofulous diseases, and eczema, are very common because the winter has thrown extra work on to the skin, and in many cases the skin has been unable to do this extra work. Zam-Buk is a skin tonic. Your skin needs a tonic just as much as your stomach or liver!

Mr. William Pinner, of 1385, Elgin Avenue, Winnipeg, Man., says: "As a cure for skin diseases I do not think there is anything so good as Zam-Buk. I have used it on my face, and it has done me a great deal of good. I have had no return of this disease since. I believe the cure is permanent. I have had no return of this disease since. I believe the cure is permanent. I have had no return of this disease since. I believe the cure is permanent."

If you have any skin disease, scrofulous sore, festering ulcer, or an outbreak of pimples and eruptions, apply Zam-Buk. Apply it freely at night. Let its healing essences sink in! You will be surprised at its wonderful healing power.

HOW ZAM-BUK REMOVES SKIN DISEASES.

Mrs. S. Jaans, of Queen Street, St. James, Winnipeg, says: "Some time back pimples and sores broke out on my forehead, and spread over the whole of one side of my face and neck. Small red pimples, joining up into a kind of red rash, which discharged and then became very sore, was the form the disease took. The irritation from this was terrible, and whenever I went out of doors it was very painful. I consulted the family physician, who gave me a lotion to use. This only seemed to irritate the disease the more, and to cause more pimples to appear, so I left off using the lotion and began applying Zam-Buk. In a wonderfully short space of time this proved effective, and every pimple was removed from my face and neck, leaving my skin clear and smooth as before. I have had no return of this disease since. I believe the cure is permanent. I have had no return of this disease since. I believe the cure is permanent."

FREE BOX.

Send this coupon, name and date of paper, and 1c. stamp to the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. A free box will be mailed you.

Zam-Buk

MRS. PIERRE LORILLARD JR. CHOSE DEATH TO SOCIETY

Wife of Multi-Millionaire Committed Suicide By the Gas Route—She Feared Years of Physical Suffering

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Weary of the gay whirl of society and face to face, as she believed, with years of physical suffering, Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, jr., aged 49, wife of the tobacco magnate, committed suicide by asphyxiation at her home near the fashionable Dupont Circle in this city today. Her tragic death has shocked the first social circles of the capital as nothing else in years. Tonight the members of the Lorillard family, famous because of its wealth, are gathered here to mourn over the unexpected blow. In spite of the coroner's certificate of death by suicide, members of the family declare that Mrs. Lorillard died of heart failure.

The death was made more dramatic by occurring only a few hours after Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard had been guests of Mrs. Townsend on Massachusetts avenue at a dinner given in honor of Lady Paget. In fact, it is believed that as soon as Mrs. Lorillard arrived at her home at 2039 Hillier Place, shortly after midnight this morning, she began to prepare for death.

About 8.30 o'clock this morning, the butler in the Lorillard residence detected an odor of gas permeating the rooms. With little difficulty the origin of the fumes was traced to Mrs. Lorillard's apartments. Opening the door of the bath-room just off of her suite, the butler was horrified to behold the body of the mistress of the house stretched lifeless on the floor.

The alarm given by the butler brought Mr. Lorillard from his apartments across the hall. Together they carried the limp body to Mrs. Lorillard's room. Panic-stricken, the servant was dispatched for a doctor while Mr. Lorillard attempted to revive his wife by means of artificial respiration. Dr. M. F. Cuthbert, the family physician, was summoned and arrived about the same time that Dr. H. B. Dale was checked the first shock of the death. They resorted to every scientific method within their power to restore life, but after an hour's effort gave up in despair.

Shortly afterward J. Ramsey Nevitt, coroner, was notified. He visited the Lorillard home and after an investigation ordered Deputy Coroner Gresham to perform an autopsy, upon the completion of which Dr. Nevitt issued a certificate of death of suicide by gas poisoning. He said later that gas was escaping from one or more jets in the bath-room when the body was discovered.

Extreme reticence is being maintained by the Lorillard family and all others who possess information concerning the suicide and death. Only a few of the most intimate friends have been admitted to the home since the news spread of Mrs. Lorillard's death.

Inquiry at the residence met with the declaration that Mrs. Lorillard had not committed suicide. "She died of heart failure," retorted the servants.

Mrs. Lorillard left a note which the coroner has seen but Mr. Lorillard has declined to give his permission for it to be made public. While addressed to no one, it is said, it is personal in its nature. It is understood that it contained no declaration of any intention on the part of Mrs. Lorillard to take her own life.

Mrs. Lorillard was subjected to frequent attacks of depression, it is said. Tonight Mr. Lorillard stated that in his opinion the death of his wife was not due to suicidal intent but was the result of an accident. He is said to have denied that his wife had left a note.

The last person to see Mrs. Lorillard alive was Mr. Lorillard. He had her good night as they separated to go to their apartments, after returning home about midnight from the Townsend residence. Mrs. Lorillard was seemingly in the best of spirits. She had joined freely in the social festivities of the evening at the Townsend home.

Mrs. Lorillard's bed had the appearance of not having been occupied during the night. Mrs. Lorillard had disrobed after arriving home and when found, her body was clothed in a dressing gown. The dog collar of diamonds she wore at the dinner had been removed before she went to the bath room, but the costly collar of diamonds she wore at the dinner had not been displaced. The note was found in Mrs. Lorillard's room.

Mrs. Lorillard had lived at Hillier Place, which is in the heart of the fashionable community between Dupont and Shattuck circles, since January 1. Immediately preceding that time, Mrs. Lorillard was in Europe and while in France consulted an eminent physician in regard to her ailment.

ENGLISH LIQUID PAINT

WHITE LEAD 70%
ZINC WHITE 30%
PURE PAINT 100%

Said the Painter—

"There is a great house paint. It is 'English' Liquid Paint made by Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead. I never saw a paint before that was so finely ground, that spreads so easily or covers so well. The shades are clean and clear, and perfect, and the white—well, the white can't be beat."

"I know why this paint is so good. The white base is 70% pure white lead, and 30% zinc white with pure linseed oil, turpentine and drier."

"The guarantee formula is on every can. That suits me. I want to know what is in the stuff I'm using on my job."

"English' Liquid Paint is most economical to use."

Come in for a color card.

John Le Lacheur Jr. St. John

PROMOTION MUST GO BY ABILITY ON I. C. R.

Hon. Mr. Graham Says Merit Must Rank Ahead of Seniority for Advancement on the Government Railway

Ottawa, March 25.—The commonsense theory considered the supplementary estimates for the current year to the exclusion of practically everything else. The year ends with the present month and the government wants the items passed before the year closes.

Mr. Bowden enquired of Hon. Mr. Graham whether he had taken action on the report of the board appointed to investigate the complaint of clerks of the I. C. R. at St. John and Halifax. The report he noticed, contained rather important recommendations. Among these was one that there should be a system of classification and that length of service should control promotion.

The minister of railways replied that he could not agree with the proposal that length of service should be the only and absolute qualification for promotion. The supreme test was ability. Where there was ability coupled with long service, promotion ought to follow. He had not taken action on the report as yet because it suggested the dismissal of a number of employees. He was having inquiries made as to the length of service and ability of the clerks. He proposed to proceed along the lines of the report when he got that information because he thought the report was fair.

Dr. Daniel was of opinion that the view of the minister of railways that the I. C. R. was not overmanned, was inconsistent with the report which recommended that there should be dismissal of superfluous men.

Mr. Crosby said he did not understand that the board had been appointed to decide whether the I. C. R. was overmanned or not. They were to find out whether the men were being properly paid. He agreed with the statement of the minister that the I. C. R. was not overmanned.

Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson were interviewed by a delegation representing the Canadian Gas Association this afternoon and asked to remove the fifty cents a ton on the coal used in Canada for gas making. A protective duty on the by-products of gas plants, namely coke, tar and ammonia was asked. The members of the government promised consideration. It is not anticipated that action will be taken this session.

A subsidy for the Canadian Northern Railway's proposed line from Sarnia to Port Arthur to join the eastern with the western divisions of the line was asked of the members of the government today by a delegation from Port Arthur. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding gave assurance that the request would be given prompt consideration and the decision announced later.

SPRING USHERED IN BX 60,000 AT CONEY

Scenic Railways, Dance Halls All Are Open, and a Few Visitors Go Surf Bathing

(New York American)

Sixty thousand New Yorkers went down to Coney Island on Sunday and welcomed what really looked to be the coming of Spring, with a most enthusiastic celebration.

They found Coney ready for them as always, with scenic railroads running, Pleasure Beach booming, dance halls booming, with open doors and steam heat and the hucksters yelling just as unintelligibly as ever.

It had been a record day for Coney at this time of year, and a dozen of the sixty thousand got so enthusiastic over the newness of summer that they went in surf-bathing by way of wowing it along. What they said on emerging about the water's being fine was not, however, generally believed.

All the attractions were patronized very liberally, and the crowds were so numerous that it was a fair criticism or more.

By way of advertising Coney further as an early spring resort, some of the show keepers struck big times yesterday by the way of the beach. On these the thermometer pointed to 60 degrees. The official thermometers, however, recorded a temperature of 53 degrees in the sun.

The police said the sixty thousand visitors were so extraordinarily orderly that a single arrest was made during the day.

TO LIMIT THE POWERS OF SEPARATE SCHOOLS

Ontario Orangemen Send a Delegation to Interview the Minister of Education

Toronto, Ont., March 26.—(Special)—To limit some of the powers at present enjoyed by separate schools was the object of a deputation of Orangemen which waited on Hon. Dr. Pym, minister of education, yesterday. The deputation represented the Orange lodges of Ontario east and west, and included James Hurry, G. M. of Ontario East; T. B. Collins, of Milbrook, A. E. McLean, Newcastle, Col. Scott, of Walkerton, Ontario West, Wm. Lee, Toronto; and Rev. Mr. Fish.

The deputation declared its entire opposition to both the Racine and McGarry bills now before the legislature. If these are insisted on they will press for the introduction of a bill to cut out some of the privileges now enjoyed by the separate schools which have been granted since the passing of the B. N. A. act. If the promoters of bills to extend the privileges of separate schools are satisfied to withdraw and leave things as they are it is probable the Orangemen will do the same and the war will be called off.

John Boyer and Harry Nugent, mail drivers to St. Martins from Loch Lomond and St. John signed an agreement before Post Office Inspector yesterday by which they promise not to convey packages of liquor to St. Martins. Inspector Vincent preferred the information. Stipendiary Magistrate, of Fairville, fined Magistrate $20 and costs yesterday for liquor selling.

In the commercial series on Black's bowling alleys last night, the Dunlop Rubber Company team played the Grocers. The result was that the Grocers won three out of the four points. The scores were: Grocers, 1,245; Dunlop Rubber Company, 1,235.

HAZEN GOVERNMENT WAS SCORED AGAIN YESTERDAY

Hon. Mr. Burchill Announces that He Will Play a Lone Hand in the Legislature, and Will Not Give Active Support to the Government—Mr. Copp's Vigorous Speech in the Debate on the Address

Fredericton, N. B., March 25.—During the speech of Mr. Copp, after some cross-talking with Premier Hazen, he announced that he had an affidavit in his pocket charging a certain gentleman with the misuse of thousands of dollars, and that he would give the name to the attorney-general privately if he wished it, but Mr. Hazen sat silent.

The debate on the address which had been prolonged beyond all precedent is likely to be brought to a conclusion tomorrow.

The most interesting feature of the day was the announcement of his position by Hon. Mr. Burchill, the recently elected member for Northumberland, who has been claimed by both sides of the house.

Mr. Burchill was introduced by Hon. Mr. Murray, but was unattended by any other member of the government. Tonight when he announced his position there was nothing in the air but a great degree of comfort to a government looking for support. Nominated by a Liberal convention and supported by the Liberals of Northumberland, Mr. Burchill said that he had no complaint to make of their treatment by the government. As briefly as possible Mr. Burchill said that he would support the government measures calculated to advance the best interests of the province, and oppose those he thought would have a reverse effect. He held it was the duty of both the government and the opposition to unite on all measures that would increase the value of crown lands, and increase the forest wealth of the province.

He spoke of his former services in the legislature and said that he recognized and not. They were to find out whether the house who had been there in 1883 when he first took office—Hon. Mr. LaBrosse, of Restoucoche. The government members are disappointed at the deliberate manner in which Mr. Burchill announced his position. They expected a warm endorsement of the policy of the government from him. Why, no one seems to know.

Several bills were given their second reading.

Petitions were presented by Mr. McLellan in favor of an act to incorporate the N. B. Dock & Terminal Company; by Mr. Byrne, in favor of an act to incorporate the Twin Tree Railway Company; and by Mr. McKeown, in favor of a number of bills from the city of St. John.

Notices of inquiry were given by Mr. Upham respecting the grant of lot No. 90, to the city of St. John, by Mr. Robinson, regarding the cost of the N. B. Coal & Railway investigation; by Mr. Legere, of Westmorland, as to money in the hands of municipalities for expenditure on highways; by Mr. Robinson, as to the amount paid by the government for school books and the cost of handling same; and by Mr. LaBrosse, as to the number and names of highway and water bridges in the province, and the work done on the highways in the months of September, October and November, 1908.

Hon. Mr. Plessing resumed the debate on the address. In opening he denied that he had any interest either directly or indirectly in the proposed railway. He said that he was managing a mill on the St. John river but had not cut a log on Crown land for many years.

Dealing with the school book question he said the government had determined to reduce the price of school books. Some of them had already been reduced and he said that French readers, grammars, arithmetics, health readers and some others would be reduced soon.

It had been charged against the government that they had not the courage to fight the highway act into force. He (the speaker) considered it was a very proper course to refer this act to the municipal councils not only because they were in touch with the matter but because they would have to administer it. He did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information, but he did not think that the friends of the highway act had been deceived by the matter in a fair and reasonable spirit and it was to be regretted that two or three of the municipal councils had not believed in honest criticism and the government welcomed it, and would give the members all possible information