WAR LOAN DOMINION OF CANADA

As with the previous Loan, we predict a great success for this issue. During this period of stress our Government needs our help and counts upon our patriotism. But a chance is given investors of placing their money in securities of the highest grade, upon terms the liberality of which will, perhaps, not be fully realized until the return of normal times.

If this Loan were issued to yield 4%, instead of about 5 1/2%, the price would be 105.41, instead of 97.50. A 4% yield (the basis on which Dominion Government bonds sold so recently as 1914) would mean a price of 111 for the present issue.

We will forward your application, procure your allotment and render other services free of charge to you.

To ensure allotment application should be made at once

Employ 11,000 Women Clerks

British Government Fills Gaps in Office. Ranks: 5,000 Vienna
Women Run Street Cars

London, Aug. 25.—(Correspondence)—There are 11,000 women clerks and stenographers now employed in the British government offices in Whitehall, a fact which gives some idea of the way the women have filled the gaps left by the men who have joined the army. And still the cry is heard for more women, which leads to the belief that the demand has outstripped the supply. Even the government departments are finding difficulty in securing the clerical assistants they require. At one time Whitehall officials could pick and choose their clerks, and the majority of those engaged were of an adaptable age—from twenty to thirty—but an intelligent girl of seventeen, without experience, can now find a place, and middle-aged women need no longer feel that they are not wanted.

To meet extensions of the activities of such busy places as the War Office and the Ministry of Munitions, it is estimated that some 200 women clerks can be absorbed every week into the official machinery.

The pay is not high, though it is more than what was regarded as a satisfactory starting salary for young girls before the war. For ordinary routine work of type writing the pay is one pound ($4.86) a week, with six pence (twelve cents) an hour for overtime. For ordinary clerical work the pay is twenty-five shillings ($6) a week, with an overtime rate of seven pence. Competent stenographers start at twenty-six shillings a week, which may be raised to thirty after a period of satisfactory service, and the overtime rate is nine pence an hour. The normal hours of work vary from forty-two to forty-eight a week in different departments.

The Civil Service Commissioners are chiefly engaged in the task of supplying the staff required for temporary employment in public departments. The Ministry of Munitions and the post office departments have to a great extent made their own appointments, but in the last six months the commissioners have found nearly 6,000 women for other government departments.

Women Build Aeroplanes.
London, Aug. 27.—(Correspondence)—"Somewhere in England" there is a government factory where aeroplanes, often called the eyes of the army, are built almost exclusively by women.

In one large shed alone women are engaged in making tents to house the machines, the wings of which other women are in an adjoining shed cover and paint. In one machine shop women are engaged in welding parts of the machines—an extremely difficult and delicate work, which requires much patience, concentration and skill. In other shops women are engaged upon press tool work, rough filing, repetition milling, capstan lathe work, string sewing and small woodwork. The women are also employed upon the inspection of stores and varnishing all woodwork.

Run Vienna Street Cars.
Vienna, Aug. 31.—(Correspondence)—More than 5,000 women are now employed in the municipal street car service of Vienna. Of the 12,000 male employees before the war, 10,500 have gone into the field. The war has completely changed the street car service, which is now in operation nearly twenty-four hours a day, carrying not only ordinary passengers, but at night hauling coal and merchandise. There are no more motor cars or motor trucks or lorries, and horses are very scarce. Consequently the street railways have become practically the only means of transportation.

Most of the women employees are acting as conductors, but great efforts are being made to get permission from the Ministry of Railways for them to act as motor-drivers. The grades in Vienna are in places quite steep, and require great strength for using the brakes, so that the authorities hitherto have hesitated to sanction the employment of women for this work. Unless however, the military commanders will release a sufficient number of motorcars from the army to carry on the car service the experiment with women drivers will have to be made, whether dangerous or not.

LT.-COL. SHANLY IS DEAD

Overwork in the War Caused Illness Which Brought Death.

Lieut.-Col. Coode Nesbitt Shanly, D. S. O., of the Canadian Army Pay Corps, died last Thursday at his residence in Toronto. It is thought that overwork while he was in France brought on the illness that caused his death. In the First Canadian Division, Colonel (then major) Shanly was appointed chief paid paymaster for overseas service, and served in that capacity at Valenciennes, Salisbury and in France, with headquarters at Rouen.

It was at Rouen that his health broke down in April last; after some weeks spent in the Red Cross Hospital there he was transferred to England, where his health improved somewhat, but it was thought that a visit to Canada might assist in his convalescence. He derived no benefit from the voyage, however, and after reaching home his condition did not improve, and at the end he sank rapidly.

In March, 1915, Col. Shanly was recalled from Rouen to London to take charge of the Canadian Pay and Record Office there during its reorganization, but returned to France in the following month, and was associated with General Bray, chief of the Imperial pay department, in organizing the amalgamation of the Imperial and Canadian pay departments. Lieut.-Col. Shanly's services in this connection received recognition on the King's birthday, when he had the Distinguished Service Order conferred upon him.

Lieut.-Col. Shanly was born in Toronto, and was the last surviving son of the late Francis Shanly, C.E., the well-known railway engineer, and who was also engineer of the city of Toronto. He was educated at Upper Canada College. He was for twelve years connected with the 10th Royal Grenadiers, of which regiment he was for three years the adjutant. On the reorganization of the militia pay department he was appointed paymaster of Military District No. 2 at Toronto. Later he was transferred to Ottawa, where he was living when he broke out.

Lieut.-Col. Shanly was also for three years the official secretary of His Honor Sir John Gibson, former lieutenant-governor of Ontario.

KEPT TROUBLE MAN BUSY

The family had not had their telephone very long and everyone took a deep and abiding interest in it. On the outside of the directory they had noted words, "Trouble, Call No. 4217." It had been a hard morning, and everything had gone wrong. Finally the lady of the house, in desperation, turned to her trusty telephone and called 4217.

"This is the trouble department," answered the operator sweetly.

"Is this where you report your troubles?" asked the lady.

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, I only want to report that our cat got drowned in the cistern this morning; the baby is cutting a new tooth; the cook left without warning; we are out of sugar and starch; the stove pipe fell down; the milkman left only a pint instead of a quart today; the bread won't raise; my oldest child is coming down with the measles; the plumbing in the cellar leaks; we have only enough coal to last through tomorrow; the paint gave out when I was half way over the dining room floor; the mainspring of the clock is broken; my three sisters-in-law are coming to visit tomorrow; the man has not called for
