STREET PAVING

Glencoe council has rescinded its resolution passed a short time ago to enter into contract with the Archbold Construction Company for paving two blocks of Main street. It is expected that a contract will be entered into with another construction company early next week and the work carried out this season as originally intended.

WRONGFULLY ACCUSED

The St. Thomas Times Journal says: To make frivolous remarks to disturbed gentlemen who have had their pockets picked is a very unsafe pastime as Wm. McRae, a prominent Glencoe man, will aver.

Mr. McRae was at Port Stanley on July 1st and happened along just after Leslie D. Thompson of London had had some sixty odd dollars removed from his back trousers-pocket.

Thompson explained what the matter was "Mr. McRae made this somewhat unfortunate remark: "You may be thankful you didn't lose your wife as well."

Whether or not Mr. Thompson considered this sufficient grounds for arrest on charge of theft is as yet far from clear but at any rate Mr. McRae's name was included, with two others, on a charge sworn out by Mr. Thompson with the result that he languished a while in the county jail and appeared before Squire Hunt on Wednesday.

There it materialized that Thompson was very lenient for the inconvenience that he had caused Mr. McRae, that he had never had the slightest doubt of the latter's sterling worth and honesty, and that, more over, he didn't know why in the world he had him arrested.

Mr. McRae's wife, who was not present at the time of the occurrence, spent the remainder of her holiday in the night searching the Port and wondering what had happened to her husband. Her husband, meanwhile, had been incarcerated.

Squire Hunt, in commenting upon the arrest, said he had doubted the solidity of the charge from the first if only because of Mr. McRae's frank physiognomy and general appearance of honesty.

The case was, of course, dismissed. The other two accused by Thompson, James Conway of Detroit and George Clarke of Toronto, were committed for trial.

TRAPPING THE MOTORIST
Protests against the fee system of paying county constables are being raised in London as a result of a resumption of operations against motorists on various highways leading into that city. Some of the constables have operated traps to such advantage that it is claimed that their weekly fees amount to hundreds of dollars. During the past year the constables have found it particularly profitable to man road intersections to watch for cars traveling at more than 12 miles an hour. On Friday an official of a London department store stated that his firm had circulated out-of-town customers to ascertain why they do not do business in the city as formerly. The replies indicate that so many have innocently fallen into the 12-mile-an-hour traps that they find it unprofitable to attempt to drive into London. The problem will probably be taken up by the Chamber of Commerce. It is claimed that one pair of constables has found it possible to work in this extra man to share the "fat" as official witnesses. As a result the autoist prosecuted finds the bill of costs swollen to an alleged exorbitant rate by the needless employment of four men against each supposed offender. That the work is profitable for both the constables and their professional witnesses is borne out by the fact that some of the speed trap operators have secured upwards of sixty cases on a Sunday afternoon.

BLACK-GRISWOLD
A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, June 29, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Griswold, when their daughter, Jean Catharine, became the bride of Keith Black. Rev. Mr. Elder of Melbourne officiated. The bride, prettily gowned in ivory satin trimmed with pearls and wearing a bridal veil with orange blossoms, and carrying a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and maiden hair ferns, was given in marriage by her father, appearing in the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin played by Miss Grace Perry. The ceremony took place beneath an arch of evergreens and roses. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Griswold, who was attired in a dainty dress of pale blue silk and carried a bouquet of roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Duncan Black. Little Miss Alice Griswold made a pretty flower girl gowned in white silk and carrying the ring embedded in roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome cabinet of silver, to the bridesmaid a "signet" ring, to the groomsmen a pearl tie pin, to the pianist a silver bar pin and to the flower girl a silver ring. The bride received many useful and handsome gifts among which were some very substantial cheques. After a wedding dinner the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride traveling in a navy serge suit and black hat.

Beware of the man who is excessively polite. He probably wants to make a touch.

WINS PRIZE FOR SHORT STORY
W. A. Edwards of Newbury has received word that he has been awarded first prize ($250) by the Dominion Textile Company of Montreal in a short-story contest open to the Dominion of Canada. The Transcript extends congratulations and takes pardonable pride in stating that Mr. Edwards began his literary work as a contributor of community news items to these columns.

THE LATE MRS. McNAUGHTON.
Mosa lost one of her oldest pioneers when Mary Campbell, wife of Duncan McNaughton, passed away at her home on lot 12, con. 5, Mosa, after a lingering illness.

Deceased was a daughter of the late John and Catherine Campbell and was born in Euphemia township on July 1st, 1838. The old Campbell homestead was on the Sydenham river, near Cameron church, the present owner being John McCallum, a nephew of the deceased. The country in those early days was in a far different condition from now. Those were the days of the log cabin and the open fireplace, the howling wolf and the bounding deer.

In 1857 the deceased was married to John Gray and they settled on a farm, opposite Cameron church, and here their son Robert was born. For a few short years they lived happily together, then the hand of death reared its bushy hand. As he was going through the bush from his own farm to his father's, a few miles distant, he met some neighbors who were on a deer hunt. By some strange cast of fate he was mistaken for a deer and shot.

On May 17, 1877, Mrs. Gray became the wife of Duncan McNaughton of Metcalfe, in which township they resided for about eight years. Then they moved to Mosa and for a number of years kept the Knappdale post-office. About eleven years ago they moved to their present residence, leaving the old home to their son Dan.

About two months ago Mrs. McNaughton was taken ill with pneumonia, which later developed into gangrene, causing her death. Her long and useful life she endured with patience and cheerfulness, retaining all her faculties till the very last. She will be missed by all who knew her. She was a loving wife and mother and a helping friend to those around her.

She leaves to mourn her loss her aged husband; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret McIntyre of Mosa and Mrs. Elizabeth Gray of Detroit; four sons, Robert Gray of Shelburne, Colin and Dan McNaughton of Mosa and Hugh McNaughton of Newbury, and two step-sons, John and Malcolm McNaughton of Metcalfe.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, July 5th, to Kilmarin cemetery. Six of her closest neighbors, Neil Mitchell, James Brown, John McDonald, Thomas Wilson, Alex. McBrayne and Dan Hillman, acted as pallbearers.

LONDON CENTRE OF STORM

A heavy rainfall which was experienced in the greater part of Western Ontario on Saturday and Sunday appears to have been most pronounced in London and immediate vicinity where the rainfall is reported to have been the heaviest ever known in that district. Damage to the extent of many thousands of dollars is reported from lightning, wind and flood. Several culverts on the leading roads were washed away, streets were turned into rivers of water, basements were flooded in the city and several warehouses are reported both on the railroads and public highways. Farmers suffered considerable loss in having their crops damaged by the storm. Owing to a washout on the Grand Trunk Railway in the neighborhood of Hyde Park, the eastbound passenger train Sunday afternoon had to be detoured over the Wabash from Glencoe.

Ridgetown experienced a small cyclone and the country around Chatham had more than its usual rain. A short distance west of Aylmer two motorists in a large touring car ran into a washout on the Talbot road. Their car was swept away and while one of the occupants escaped by swimming, the other is in a critical condition after having struggled for some time in the water, finally being swept against a wire fence by which he guided himself to an elevated point beyond reach of the swirling waters. One farmer is reported to have lost his hay taffer and several shocks of wheat, which floated down the stream.

In Glencoe and vicinity there was only a moderate amount of rain and little or no damage is reported.

A WESTERN WEDDING
On July 1st, at McLeod, Alberta, the marriage was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Kennedy of the Presbyterian church of Miss Catherine Marguerite McKenzie, daughter of the late Alexander R. and Mrs. McKenzie, formerly of Alliance P.O. and Wm. Morrison of Okotoks, Alberta. The bride was attended by Miss Atkinson of McLeod, while Mr. Hunter of Colebrook, Alberta, supported the groom. The happy couple left amid showers of good wishes and confetti for Calgary, and on their return will reside at Okotoks.
