Wee Dainty Miss Wise

A Hamilton Little One Who Was Afflicted With Eczema For Over Two Years.

Every Known Remedy Was Tried But Without Success Until One Happy Day Her Mother Tried Powley's Liquified Ozone.

The Disease Germs Were Soon Destroyed, and After Taking Four Bottles Little Miss Wise Was Entirely Cured and in Perfect Health.

cure your remedy (Powley's Liquified Ozone) has elected in my little daughter's case.

My daughter had been afflicted with eczema for over two years, and we had tried all the different remedies known for eczema—various patent medicines and also doctors' prescriptions, but nothing that we tried did her good.

We finally tried your Powley's Liquified Ozone and we are happy to tell you that after using four bottles our little one is entirely cured and is in perfect health, as you can see by her picture we are ending you.

You are at liberty to publish this in any papers you wish and to use my daughter's picture to confirm my statements. We thank you for your wonderful remedy and attribute our little daughter's recovery to Ozone alone, as no other remedies did her any good.

We have recommended Ozone to others, who have used it and been wonderfully benefitted by it.

Many Eczema Cases Cured by the Infallible Ozone.

Eczema is recognized as being one of the most stubborn diseases that medical men have to contend with. No halfway measures are possible with it. It must be rooted out entirely. Powley's Liquified Czone does this by destroying the germs that cause it. Not in simply one case has its efficacy been proven, but in hundreds, until to-day it stands unrivalled as remedy for this painful malady. The following are brief extracts from the testimonials of a few of the many who have been cured:

RODGER PILSON.

Downsview P.O., Ont., says: "For eight years I suffered with eczema and spent hundreds of dollars in medicines, but could get nothing to help me until a friend advised me to try Powley's Liquified Ozone. I did so and before I had entirely used three large bottles I was completely cured."

WALTER KNOWLTON,

87 Brunswick avenue, Toronto, says: "When our little boy was two years old a rash broke out on his face. The following Fail it became worse and we provided the disease left."

"When our little boy was two years old a rash broke out on his face. The following Fail it became worse and we were much alarmed, as we feared the child would be disfigured for life. The doctor said he could do nothing. A neighbor advised Powley's Liquified Ozone. I had no faith in it, but eventually decided to do so. At first he grew worse, then better, and the disease seemed gradually to dry up. In a short while he was in perfect health, with a skin as soft and smooth as velvet."

W. DORSEY,

12 Sultan street, Toronto, says: "I had a very severe attack of eczema in my left leg. It became very angry and sore, and seemed to est right into the fiesh. This gave me such great anin that I was nearly out of my mind. Different friends advised me to try

A writer in the New York "Times" says that when Mark Twain was a young and struggling newspaper writer in San Francisco, a lady of his acquaintance saw him one day with a cigar-box under his arm, looking in at a shop window. "Mr. Clemens," she said, "I always see you with a cigar-box under your arm. I am afraid you are smoking too much." "It isn't that," said Mark; "I'm moving again."

In a recent lecture to his people, Booker T. Washington told them that there is tittle or nothing to be obtained without work, adding: "There was an old negro, professionally pious, who wanted a luxurious Christmas dinner, and who, night after night, prayed to the Lord to send him a turkey. The days passed, Christmas approached, and the old fellow undertook to compromise by asking the Lord to send him to a turkey. He got one that very night."

A few years ago a British officer married a fortune, and soon after discovered that he had heart disease, and went on the retired list. His little son is a very precocious youngster, and when asked the other day, by a stranger, "Jack, what are you going to be when you grow up!" he replied, with grave deliberation: "Well, I've been thinking of that for some time, and I think that when I'm a man I'll get heart disease, and go on the retired list just like paps."

The obsequious person who seeks fees from travelers by pretending to take them for noblemen occasionally meets one who fails to fall into his trap. An English gentleman of somewhat imposing personal appearance had a door opened for him at the Paris Opera House by an "ourreur," or usher, who bowed low and said: "The door is open, prince!" The Englishman glanced affably at him, and, without extending the expected fee, simply said: "Thank you very much, viscount."

Once, when the press in the Carson City "Appeal" had just started to run, the late John Mackay rushed in to the editorial sanctum and called to Sam Davis in an excited tone of voice: "Sam, stop the press! "Why, old man Crooks" (famous for his stinginess)—"old man Crooks has just presented a peck of apples to the orphans' home, and he'll be broken-hearted if you don't have a column and a half if you don't have a column and a half about it in the paper this afternoon."

Talking about "graft" and "grafters," the other day, "Big Bill" Devery remarked: "Say, the people as talk about graft are the gingerbreads. If you had the right seent you could go off on a hop loo after grafters some night and land a long ways from the Bowery. Some of the ablast grafters are in that hightoned class where to mention their names with graft would be as bad as hightin' a cigar in church Sunday morning. An Irish priest discoursing one Sunday on the miracle of the loaves and fishes, said in error that five people had been fed with 5,000 loaves and two small fishes. It having come to the priest's knowledge that his mistake had given rise to a large amount of controversy (one, Murphy, partieularly declared he could do such a miracle himself), he (the priest) decided to rectify the mistake. Next Sunday, on concluding his sermon, he said: "I should have told you last Sunday that 5,000 people had been fed with five loaves and two small fishes." Looking down and espying Mr. Murphy, he said: "You could not do that, Mr. Murphy, could you?" "Ah, sure, yer rivrence, I could aisily," he replied. "How would you do it, Mr. Murphy?" "Why I'd give 'em what was left over from last Sunday," answered Murphy. As the Englishman lapsed into silence and the applause sank to an echo, all looked to Colonel Ochiltree to defend his nethonality and beat this petrified lion looked to Colonel Ochiltree to defend his nationality and beat this petrified lion story. "Texas," said the colonel, after a pause, "has its petrified forests, but, although they contain no petrified lions, they are remarkable for having petrified hirds flying over them." "Nonsense," said Lord Lonsdale; "that is impossible. Such a phenomenon is contrary to the laws of gravitation." "Ah, that's easily explained," responded Colonel Ochiltree, quickly; "the laws of gravitation down there are petrified, too."

A wonderful instance of presence of mind, which has caused considerable annoyance to Mr. Sousa, is reported from Chicago. A fire broke out at Lincoln School in that city. Upon seeing the flames one of the pupils coolly sat down at the piano and started playing a Sousa march, whereupon her fellow-school-girls at once marched out of the building.

Kidney Disease

When the swelling takes place about the heart death usually comes suddenly and unexpectedly in the form of Heart Failure or Apoplexy.

The kidneys when in health filter from the blood the urea, which is in reality poisonous waste matter.

When the kidneys are weak and de-ranged the urea remains in the blood and causes it to become watery and deficient in nutritive quality.

Dropsical swellings are the result. At times the ill-effects are felt about the heart and death comes suddenly in the form of heart disease or apoplexy. With others the legs swell until they become of unwieldy proportions and require to be bandaged.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prevent and cure dropsical swellings and all the dreadful symptoms of kidney disease. They cure thoroughly by striking directly at the root of the trouble and setting the kidneys right.

Mr. James Treneman, 588 Adelaide Street, London, Ont., states:—"Two years ago I was laid up with kidney disease and urinary troubles. Besides the pain and inconvenience caused by these troubles, I became dropsical, and my legs would swell up so that I could scarcely go around at all. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I procured a box, and continued the use of this valuable medicine until now I can say for a certainty that I am entirely cured. I never took any this valuatie mention that have tassay to a certainty that I arm oritively curved. I never took any medicine that did me so much good, and am firmly convinced that if it had not been for this medicine I would not be working to-day."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Are wonderfully successful in curing all diseases which arise from uric acid in the blood. They act directly on the kidneys and liver, invigorate these filtering organs to health and activity and insure their perfect working. In thousands of homes in Canada and the United States they are kept constantly on hand as a preventative and cure for kidney and liver derangements, Bright's disease, dropsy, biliousness, stomach troubles and constipation. The "Spoilt" Child of To-day. A society paper not long ago asserted that children were "very much the fashion just now." Certain it is that no child ever had so good a time as the modern one, writes "Countess" in the London "Outlook." Petted, spoilt, overdressed, it is in evidence from moraing till night. Seated beside its mother it drives in the park, is taken to parties, performs "pas seuis" for the benefit of the "grown-ups" after dinner, drinks champagne and eats lobeter mayonnaise at midnight, and when suffering next morning from the inervitable uncomfortable sensations located in the region "under its pinny," is the object of so much solicitude and care that it rather enjoys itself than otherwise. The best rooms in the house are given up to the nurseries, the whole establishment is subservient to the convenience of the children. They eat only what they like, and do more or less what they please. Their eleverness and wit are remarked upon before them by their parents—so much so that not long ago a little girl of six came and sat on my knee and saked me if I had heard any of her "funny sayings," and was quite prepared to give me a series of "collections and recollections" six came and sat on my knee and zaked me if I had heard any of her "funny sayinga," and was quite prepared to give me a series of "collections and recollections" with the slightest encouragement, which I fear she did not get. My small nephew Teddy, who is at Eton, is spending the week-end here. He was supposed to have great literary aptitudes before he went to that seat of learning. So I asked him if he had been reading much lately. And he replied, "There have been such a jolky lot of divoree cases lately in the paper that I haven't had time for much else;" and when I took my small niece Angela, aged seven, to the park after church the Sunday before last she begged me in a piping voice to take her over to the other side, "as people can't see us here." So much for the modern child. But what of its parents and grandparents? We have grown so tender-hearted nowadays that even caning at boys' schools is considered inhuman. But what about the boys of a generation ago, who were thrashed by their fathers, and the order. nave grown so tender-nearted nowadays that even caning at boys' schools is considered inhuman. But what about the boys of a generation ago, who were thrashed by their fathers, and the girls who were whipped and had their ease boxed by nurses' and governesses, if not by their mothers? If whipping did not reduce them to submission, starvation was the remedy next applied. I wonder how meany of the fathers and mothers of the present generation remember having gone without their dimer or been sent supperless to bed. I have an aunt who had a rooted objection to mutton fat (a peculiasity I theoroughly appreciate), yet if also left any on her plate at the school room dimer it was served up cold at her supper, and if she did not get through it then, it appeared again on the following day, and so on until she succeeded in swallowing it. Yet no one ever thought of accusing my grandfather or grandmother of inhumanity. It was their idea of uprooting any tendency to "faddiness" in their offspring. Had my aunt been a modern child her appetite would have been tempted with a quail on toast, and the doctor called in if she exhibited any symptoms of distaste for her dinner. The result of all this modern coddling is that, though our children are indubitably happier, it is equally indubitable that they are growing more "muffish." Who twenty years ago bothered if their boys tumbled into the pond and got a ducking? Nowadays if the son and heir self to pneumonia. The nurse knows it is as much as her place is worth to allow to roll in the grass; while to "smack" any of her charges—however much they may require it—is fantamount to instant dismissal. The present golden age of childhood is really due to a reaction after a period of harshness and severity which, whatever its demerits may have been, certainly had the effect of inculcating a spirt of endurance in early youth which was one of the best preparations for the battle of life. But the happiest children to-day are those in whose parents minds is indelibly recorded a bitter memory of their own unhappy childhood.

Gentlemen,—In January last Francis Leclair, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were extertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruisted and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain, and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return his work.
