

table before the family are seated; that suitable nourishment is provided for the sick, and proper order preserved at the table.

3.—They will be expected to be respectful and kind to the inmates of the "Home," not showing partiality in any case, and always maintaining the respect due to their station. If improper conduct is observed in any member of the family, or profane language used, it shall be their duty to report the same to the Visiting Committee.

4.—They shall render a faithful account of all stores and property placed in their charge; note down in a book all events of importance, and all donations and visits, and report any loss or breakage that may occur.

5.—The Matron shall present a list of articles needed for the Home to the Visiting Committee once a week, and neither the Steward nor Matron are to make any purchases for the Home, except by written permission of the Visiting Committee.

6.—The Steward will be personally responsible for the administering of all medicines ordered by the Physician, and for the carrying out of his orders concerning the sick.

7.—No person shall be admitted into the Home, as an inmate, nor shall any person be discharged therefrom, without a written order from the President or the Committee on Applications, as provided.

8.—The Steward and Matron shall examine the persons and boxes of all inmates, on first entering, and, when necessary, cause all to be thoroughly cleansed.

9.—They shall also see that religious exercises are conducted morning and evening, at which all the inmates not on the sick list, or otherwise unable, shall be expected to be present.

10.—The Steward shall keep a Register in an accessible place in the Home, in which shall be recorded the name of each inmate, showing date of entry, place of birth, sex and age, and religious persuasion; also the date when, and the circumstances under which any inmate leaves the Institution.

11.—The By-Laws and Rules of this Institution may be altered, added to, or repealed, at any regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, provided notice has been given to each member at the next preceding meeting of such proposed alteration, addition, or repeal.
