TRIBUTE TO ONE BELOVED

Earnest Eulogy on the Late Jno McCrae, who Passed Away in Windsor.

Impressive Funeral Services Where Many Paid a Last Tribute of Esteem.

Windsor Record.
"Mr. John McCrae is dead!" Such was the melancholy message that passed from mouth to mouth in the city last evening. With the death of Mr. McCrae a kindly and uplifting presence has passed out of the social and religious life of Windsor, and many outside of the family will mourn the loss of the friendly greeting of the venerable man whose nature was imbued with an unquenchable and uniform kindness.

The end was not unexpected. Nearly a year ago he disappeared from the street and the scene of his daily labors stricken with paralysis, and his extreme old age, as well as the serious nature of his attack, forbade hope of ultimate recovery. On Monday his illness assumed a more critical phase and he sank into insensibility. Last evening, a few minutes after eight, he passed to his reward, never recovering consciousness. All the members of the family were present with the exception of Allan, now in Chicago.

The late John McCrae was born on the McCrae homestead, about four miles below Chatham. He was in his eighty-second year, and resided over half a century in this city. He was the youngest member of the family of Wm. McCrae, who sat in the Upper Canada legislature in 1835. One brother, Thos. McCrae, deceased, was police magistrate of Chatham for many years. The other brother, William, also deceased, was collector of customs at Dunnville. There were four sisters, all deceased.

It was about 1842 when the deceased came to Windsor. He found the present city of 15,000 inhabitants a partial wilderness. He established with his brother a commission store on Sandwich street, and afterwards pursued a profitable insurance business.

Recognizing his claims upon his party, the Ontario Government appointed John McCrae in 1873 to the office of clerk of the Division Court.
He also was official assignee up to the time this office was abolished. As Division Court clerk for over 25 years Mr. McCrae won the esteem of his fellow-citizens, and was ever regarded as a faithful servant of the people. He labored diligently at his office until last October, when he had an operation performed for his eyesight. The operation was entirely successful, and Mr. McCrae rejoiced in regaining the use of his eyes. He suffered the first stroke of paralysis on Dec. 2 last and was confined to his home, 151 Bruce Ave., up to the time of his death. He suffered a second stroke last Monday, after which no hope was entertained for his recovery.

The deceased is survived by his widow and six children, Allan Lath-McCrae, Chicago; Walter Ogilvie Mc-Crae, Detroit; Miss Edith A. McCrae, Miss Frances Eva McCrae, of this city; Mrs. L. E. Tate, St. Thomas, and Mrs. H. L. Miller, of Chicago.

Laid at Rest.

A large number of Windsor's oldest citizens turned out Sunday afternoon to pay their last respects to the memory of John McCrae.
The McCrae homestead on Bruce avenue was thronged with a steady stream of friends of the deceased, who called to take a last look upon the kindly features of the highly esteemed old gentleman. The many beautiful floral offerings that surrounded the casket showed the great respect in which the deceased had been held.

At 2:30 o'clock short services were held at the house of Canon Hincks, of All Saints' Church, after which the remains were removed to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased had been a member. At St. Andrew's Church Rev. J.
S. Henderson, in the absence of Rev.
J. C. Todrie, conducted the services. After the sermon, the Rev. Mr.
Henderson paid a very high tribute to the memory of the deceased. The church quartette led in the singing of two favorite hymns of deceased—"Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me," after which the remains were taken to St. John's Cemetery, Sandwich. The services at the grave were conducted by Canon Hincks.

The following old friends of the deceased acted as honorary pallbearers:—Senator Casgrain, Judge Mc-Hugh, Sheriff Her, Judge Horne, Alexander Bartlett, Wm. McGregor, J.
Watson and H. C. Cousins. The active pallbearers were Wm. Millard, Miles Cowan, J. Duck and C. J. Seagel.

WILL ROSEBERY BE LEADER?

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's Recent Speech and Speculation as to its Drift.

Forthcoming Political Address by Lord Rosebery Foreshadowed by Politicians.

London, Tuesday, Nov. 12.—There is soon speculation as to the interpretation of an oracular utterance by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the present Liberal leader, at a private luncheon to the leading Aberdeen Liberals given by the Earl of Aberdeen at the Haddo House, where Sir Henry is a guest. No reporters were present, and various versions of Sir Henry's speech are afloat, but it is generally conceded that he referred to a forthcoming political speech by Lord Rosebery in a manner possibly intended to hint at the latter's reappearance in the political arena in response to an invitation by the Derbyshire Liberals, which is likely to lead to his resumption of the leadership of the Liberal party.

Several papers report Sir Henry as saying after a reference to Lord Rosebery's furrow, that they would all welcome the longly plowman, provided what he was prepared to do was acceptable to the Liberal party, and in the interests of the country, and that his wishes and actions were consistent with the opinions expressed by the party and the hopes they are cherishing. This may obviously have been the merest platitude, but it has created considerable curiosity in some quarters.

A leading member of the Liberal Imperial League says that Lord Rosebery's reappearance in politics was instigated by King Edward, who thinks the Cabinet needs strong opposition as a stimulus.

FAMILY AFFAIR

Husband and Wife Engaged in Fancy Duel Before Judge Houston
This Morning.

A young and comely colored woman, who acknowledged 23 years, appeared before Judge Houston this morning on the charge of not being a fit person to have the custody of her child. The charge was laid by the husband of the woman, Henry Horton, who claimed that his wife was characterized by lax morals.

Sarah Howell, grandmother of the defendant, told the Court that Mrs.
Horton had come home twice the worse of liquor and had domiciled with a man named Bradley for two months. The mother offered to give her six-year-old son up to the father yesterday before the case came into Court but the father desired to prove his wife's faithlessness in Court. The Judge held that the mother was not a fit person to have the custody of the child and the boy was handed over to his paternal parent by consent.

Mr. Horton then attempted to explain things to the Judge. He was assisted by Mrs. Horton.

"I had a house fixed up as fine as any colored gentleman's residence," said the husband.

"Yes, how did you have it fixed up?" was the scornful interpolation of the wife.

"My family," began the husband.

"I want separation," interrupted the wife.

"You pay for it and I will sign the papers," was the gallant response of the husband.

"I can pay for them," confidently retorted the wife. "He can't live with us," she added.

"This puts me down on women," said the husband with an affected touch of sadness. "I gave her money all summer. I came down from Windsor and she stayed at the Walker House. I paid her board. I gave her all the money I had but 20 cents."

At this juncture Judge Houston explained that the case had been tried and disposed of and it wasn't necessary to say anything more. The husband and wife left the court room, but not together.

HOME FROM WEST

Harvester Legg Tells of the Fatigue he Endured in the North West.

W. E. Legg, of Brownville, formerly a student of the Canada Business College, was in the city yesterday en route to Walkerville, where he has secured a position with Hiram Walker & Sons.

Mr. Legg has just returned from the Northwest, where he worked during the harvest.

"Moose Jaw," said he to The Planet, "is one of the liveliest little places I have ever seen, and I would like very much to live there. I have no desire to go back for the harvest though, especially in the Territory. Where I was working our nearest neighbors were so far away that you could just see their houses on the other side. When you are through with your day's work you have to start out and look for a bed and you eventually end up under a straw stack. I stayed there until the snow came, and people were driving around in sleighs, when I came to the conclusion it was too cold to sleep out doors.
"Are the farmers out there making any money?"

"Well, I don't know much about the Manitoba farmers, but those in the territories are not making more than a living. When a man goes there to work, the farmer always tries to let him go before his time is out, so that he can beat him out of his wages. I had a lot of trouble in getting mine, and I know other men who didn't get a cent."

"Did you have any trouble getting work?"
"No, but a lot of them did. When the rush came out there the most of them stayed right in town, expecting some farmer to come along and hire them. Those who got out and hustled generally got work. When I came away farmers were looking for men, and could not get them. The most of the men, having served their time, were anxious to get home. When I was walking down the street on my way to the station, no less than six farmers stopped me and tried to engage me, but I had had enough and no amount of money could induce me to stay there any longer."

ONE FACT is better than ten hear-sayers. Ask Doctor Burgess, Supt. Hospital for Insane, Montreal, where they have used it for years, his opinion of "The D. & L." Menthol Plaster. Get the genuine made by Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd.

All the world cannot form a truth.
