With a Love Like Thine.

Father, hear thy children
When they cry to Thee;
Praying night and morning
At their mother's knee.

Holy Spirit, filling
Human hearts with love;
Guide the little children
To Thy Home above.

Make them true and tender,
Full of grace Divine;
Caring for the helpless,
With a love like Thine.

Father, Son, and Spirit,
Ever watch and keep,
Like a careful shepherd,
These Thy little sheep.

Using the Pieces.

Some years ago there lived and worked in Italy a great artist in mosaics. His skill was wonderful. With bits of glass and stone he could produce the most striking works of art—works that were valued at thousands of pounds.

In his workshop there was a poor little boy, whose business it was to clean up the floor and tidy up the room after the day's work was done. He was a quiet little fellow, and always did his work well. That was all the artist knew about him.

One day he came to his master and asked, timidly: "Please, master, may I have for my own the bits of glass you throw upon the floor?"

"Why, yes, boy," said the artist. "The bits are good for nothing. Do as you please with them."

Day after day, then, the child might have been seen studying the broken pieces found on the floor, laying some on one side, and throwing others away. He was a faithful little servant, and so year after year went by and found him still in the workshop.

One day his master entered a store-room little used, and in looking around came upon a piece of work carefully hid behind the rubbish. He brought it to the light, and to his surprise, found a noble work of art, nearly finished. He gazed at it in speechless amazement.

"What great artist could have hidden his work in my studio?"

At that moment the young servant entered the door. He slopped short on seeing his master, and when he saw the work in his hands a deep flush dyed his face.

"What is this?" cried the artist. "Tell me what great artist has hidden his masterpiece here?"

"O, master," faltered the astonished boy, "it is only my poor work. You know you said that I might have the broken bits you threw away."

The child with an artist soul had gathered up the fragments, and patiently, lovingly wrought them into a wonderful work of art.

Do you catch the hint, little people? Gather up the bits of time and opportunity lying about, and patiently work out your life mosaic—a masterpiece by the grace of God.

The Order is Positive.

The spirit of obedience to a higher authority is strikingly illustrated by the following anecdote, which also shows that success crowns the sincere

CONSUMPTION CURED

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. determination to do one's duty at all cost, even in earthly matters. How much more needful is it to obey the orders of the Captain of our Salvation. Whose faithful soldiers we are sworn to be, and Who has pledged His Word for the everlasting success of those who carry out His orders without counting anything impossible!

In the time of the great victories of Wellington and Lake in India, it was decided to besiege Gawilghwi. Every detail in connection with the operation was carefully planned, and Colonel Wallace was chosen, by the advice of General Wellesley, to carry out part of the preparations. During the darkness of night a heavy gun had to be taken to an important point, but the difficulty of getting it over the rugged mountains was enormous, and at last further progress seemed impracticable. The artillery officer in charge of the gun gave up in despair, and came to report that to proceed was impossible.

"Impossible, sir!" exclaimed Colonel Wallace, who had all his life been a most rigid adherent to strict obedience—"Impossible! Let us see." He called for a light, pulled out the instructions from his pocket and read them. "Oh, no! not impossible; the order is positive."

That gun was at its appointed place before sunrise.

This simple speech had its root in the feeling of duty—that what is ordered must be executed; and it affords a proof that implicit obedience, with hearty goodwill, generally overcomes every difficulty. If this is so in earthly things, how much more so in heavenly things!

The Snail.

One day, when George was playing in the garden, he found a snail. He did not know what it was, for he had never seen one, so he called his sisters to look at it.

"It is only a snail," said Fanny.

"Will it bite us?" asked George.

"What a funny question," said Fanny, "of course it cannot bite."

"But it looks very ugly," said George.

"See what big ears it has. My ears do not stick out so. I am afraid it will do some harm in the garden. I will get a big stick and kill it."

"No, no!" said Fanny, "that would be wrong."

"How can it be wrong to kill such an ugly looking thing as that?" asked George.

"What are snails good for?"

"I do not know what they are good for," said kind-hearted Fanny, "but I am sure it would be wrong to kill it."

There is Aunt Mary. I will ask her about it.

When Aunt Mary came over to the children, she said that Fanny was right.

"What is it good for?" asked George.

"I cannot tell you now," said she, "for I must go and water my flowers. Some day, I will give you a book that will tell you all about snails, and how they live."
