TURNED IT DOWN

County Council, However, Voted Tie on Prison Farm Scheme.

After discussing the Prison Farm scheme yesterday afternoon the County Council divided equally upon a vote being taken and, therefore no action was taken in the matter. The general opinion was that after the building had been erected and the farm got going, some government inspector might come along and order many improvements for which the council would not stand good. They feel that they are not justified in altering present conditions, and therefore no move was taken. The go ahead members thought the council might select a representative who would report to them, but this was thought to be almost self committal and the step was not taken.

Routine business and the passing of the current accounts, concluded the session which was brought to a close about five o'clock.

JIM STEELE HOME

Sad Indeed Was His Mission to Quebec City, Where He Stayed This Week

R. J. Steele, the motorman of the Grand Valley, who lost his wife, two children and sister in the Empress of Ireland disaster, returned home from Quebec this morning. He was accompanied by Mr. Jack Bawinheimer, the mission of the sorrow-bereaved husband was a fruitless and very sad one. Not the slightest trace of the bodies of his dear ones could be secured, and it is believed that all lie within the bowels of the sunken ship, where they slept when the terrible accident occurred. Perhaps no other case is of such a distressing nature as that of Jim Steele, whose grief is heavy, but is borne with the fortitude of the man for which he is so well known among his many friends.

HONEY PROSPECTS

Spring Report is Handed Out by the Provincial Apiarist.

Detailed report on the honey prospects in the various counties. For the purpose of reporting on the condition of bees in Ontario and the honey crop prospects for 1914, blanks were sent to a large number of beekeepers the latter part of April by the Department of Agriculture. One thousand one hundred and fifty replies were received from which this report has been summarized.

The total number of colonies reported for the fall of 1913 was 41,318; for May, 1914, 38,222, being an average of thirty-three colonies spring count, for each bee-keeper reported. The winter loss of seven and one-half per cent. is the lightest it has been for several years. In 1913 it was eleven per cent., in 1912, fifteen per cent., and in 1911, fourteen per cent. What losses there were during the past winter were due principally to starvation caused by lack of sufficient feed in the hives.

So far as the condition of bees is concerned, the prospects for a good honey crop this year are very good, but clover is only in fair condition having been very much injured in many localities by unfavorable weather conditions.

While a spring report is of value to determine the present prospects of the honey crop, there is no other farm crop so entirely dependent upon the weather conditions from day to day during harvest time. Any sudden changes will often check the secretion of nectar in the flowers and reduce the expected honey crop by hundreds of thousands of pounds.
