Interest in the wholesale grocery trade during the week centred around the activity in canned salmon. With the recent announcement of prices by the packers there was a scramble on the part of retailers to get all available stocks of last season's salmon pack. As a result many of the wholesalers were entirely cleaned out of their salmon stocks during the week. Intimations have been made by the Food Controller that the recent embargo did rot apply to canned pork and beans, the term beans being used to signify canned string beans or golden wax heans. Wholesalers are accordingly proceeding with the sale of this comparison. proceeding with the sale of this com-
