

A Marconigram from Paris tells us that all negligees and underwear of every permissible sort will be fin-every permissible sort will be fin-lifted with little ribbons, so placed around the edges and the borders that they act as shirr strings and trimmings too. The latest garters are of elastic in the round-the-leg style. They are embroidered with pink silk roses and there is a narrow ruffle of chilfon along each edge. There is really little heed of study-ing the fashlons in underwear-unless one can learn something new, some-thing to one's edification. It is, there-fore, with pleasure that one perusas an account of the lingerie of a Paris-ian bride, a young woman who was one of the principals at the wedding of the Counters of Perigord, for-merly Miss Morton. The Colored Underwear.

The Colored Underwear. This young woman has built her trousseau entirely in those heavenly twins, pink and blue. One can get mulis and Swisses, batistes and linens and the most delicate silks in these colors, and this Paris bride bought them exclusively. In all her trous-seau there is nothing white. The trimmings on her pink and blue lingerle are white lace, but this is darned, outlined, corded and trimmed with narrow white wash ribbons or white linen, to make it strong and pretty.

white linen, to make it strong and pretty. In trimming your next bit of un-derwear try this method of treating the lace. Let it be an inexpensive sovelty lace or an imitation, and follow the plan of outlining the fig-neres with coarse wash silk. Go around them in a running stitch and when you have finished note the elegant appearance is the lace will have.

It will look curiously like net lace with appliqued figures, and the beauty of it is that it will daunder a thousand times as well after the treatment, so that the second state of that lace will be better than the first

Inst. In petticoats there are so many novelties that one might call for an inexhaustible supply of space in which to record them. The petticoat with the upper part of jersey cloth is still in evidence, but it is being laid away until cooler weather.

And now there comes the one with the upper of albatross, in pale yellow or light blue or delicate pink. Silk flannel will do, and the flannel part comes only to the knees or a little above. Then there is a deep flource or silk sewed or buttoned on.

Some Petticoat Ideas.

Some Petilcoat Ideas. Ella Wheeler Wilcox claims to have invented the buttoned on flounce and declares that she did it to avoid a panic in her purse from laundry bills. But now from across the seas there comes the claim that it was the spe-cial thought of the countess of War-wick, a woman who for originality in dress is as renowned as for her dress is as renowned as for her beauty. The countess is famous for her handsome petticoats and car-ries always a trunk of them, even on Saturday to Mandae with Saturday to Monday visit. It seems a little odd, almost indelicate, to speak so openly of the petti-

THE ATHENS REPORTER, JULY 2. 1902

A handsome honse gown of veiling, resembling albitross in its fin in ss, had very full sleeves that were shir-red at the wrist and finished with a ruffle of lace.

ruffie of lace. The upper part of the gown had the Gibsogian finish with wide plaits turfing back toward the shoulder, and these plaits were so built that they actually overhung the slove and looked very much like the famil-lar sleeve cap.

and looked very milen like the lamin-iar sleeve cap. The epauletto is certainly worn and doubtless the day of the cron-lined sleeves is not far off.

The desire for a steek, slim fit around the hips has been carried to the extreme length of having spec-ially devised pettlemats to enhance the smooth, elinging fit of the spring, dress skirt.

coat to the dress skirts is on the in-crease. In spite of the fact that all the better dress skirts inve their silk drop skirts there must be a pettlocat underneath of precisely the same color. Not only must the tone correspond, but the material must match. With a silk dress there must be a petticoat of silk, but Dame Fashion whispers loudly that with the cloth, the pongee, the poplin, the linen and the moire there should be a peticoat of the same stuff. The entire cloth peticoat is a lit-tle too warm, but to it there can be added a deep flounce of silk, so that while the under part is cashmere or veiling, or whatever it may be, the outside is of silk. This adds only a little to the weight but much to he waaring qualities. The Trimmed Skirt.

The Trimmed Skirt. Just why or with what utilitarian purpose in view it is not known, but the latest French skirts show a trimming to imitate the outer skirt. The Spanish flounce, widening in the back: the little chiffon plaiting shfr-red down the middle; the bands of

23

The Time to Smile.

She-I'm very sorry, but I can never man who loses his temper loses his friends.

. 1

The belt has come into prominence as a feature of the dress-up gown.

belt, which comes up were the arms. An exceedingly pretty little belt is one seen with the dress costume. It is, worn with any bodice, and is pulled low, but is quite independent of waist and skirt, which are joined together in their own fashion and perhaps finished with their own method of joining. Then comes the little independent belt, which is narrow and or exqui-

Then comes the little independent belt, which is narrow and or exqui-site finish. One of these belts was ing ray stude, not over an inch wide. It was pulled very low in front and the ends crossed under a very hand-some little buckle, in which sparkled real gems. Such belts as this are really very costly and are articles of jewelry as well as of temporary beauty.

of jeweiry as went as or temporary beauty. It would be idle to try to mention the many forms which the belt is taking. One of these is a series of cameos, joined with tiny chains, the whole to be looped over a ribbon, which is fastened around the waist and classed in front. which is insteaded around the waist and clasped in front. Here little women are at their best, for they can wear these belts. It is the woman with the barrel-like waist who is at a disadvantage in them.

For the fat woman, the narrow or the belt the better, and the black or it is the more becoming it will

Sunday School

INTERNATIONAL LESSON NO. 1. JULY 6, 1902.

The Giving of Manna.-Ex. 16; 1-15. Commentary. - Connecting Links. We now return after six months in the Acts, to the study of the history of the children of Israel. We left the Israelites at the crossing of the Red Sea. After their deliverance Moses and the hosts of Israel sang a song of praise to God, in which they magnify His power so gloriously maninify His power so gloriously mani-fested in the destruction of the Egyptians. The people them make a three days' journey in the wilder-ness of Shur and find no water. They, come to Marah, but finding the water bitter they murmur against Moses. In answer to the prayer of Moses God shows him a tree by which the waters are sweeteneda. They then journey to Elim, where they find twelve wells of water and seventy paim trees, and here they emcamp.

encamp. 1. Wilderness of Sin—"It is supposed that this wilderness, or desert, had its name from a strong city of Egypt called Sin, near which it lay." But before they came to Sin they had an encampment by the Red Sea, after they left Elim. 2. Murmured—For want of bread. It seems they had taken a month's

It seems they had taken a month's provision when they left Egypt and now this was gone. Against Moses-

8. Shall give yoz-Their needs were all to be suppled; they were to have flesh in abundance that even ng and bread in the morning, and six morn-ings each week thereafter for nearly forty years. Heareth your nurmur-ings-How offensive to God must their murmurings have been, and yet He bore with them and had mercy mon them. upon them. 9. Come near hefore the Lord-Evi-

as a feature of the dress-up gown. It is worn with the handsomest dresses and partakes of their cle-gauce. The feature of the belt, now and for all time, is and has been the buckle. Cleopatra / unquestionably wore exquisite belt buckles, and per-haps the Queen of Sheba did the it chain, or cord, or the ancient bard of stuff resembling ribbon, says the Brooklyn Eagle. There is an Empire belt, which is worn with the princess; a very wife belt, which comes up well under the An sxceedingly pretty little belt

God.-Henry. '13. Qualis-Qualis were then as now considered a delicacy. "Among the Egyptians a quali was an cinblem of ease and plenty." Covered the camp-They flew low and were so tame that the Israelites could take as many as they chose. The children of Israel were again supplied with qualis about a year later. 14. A small round thing-It was like corlander seed (Num xl. 7), and white like 'hoar-frost." The people gathered on an average about three quarts for each man. It was dry enough to grind and bake like grain, and was plassant to the taste. 15. It is manna-"What is it ?"-R. V. They said one to another, "Man-hu ?" which means, What is it ? The manna was a type of Christi-it ? The manna was a type of Christ-was not understood by those to whom He came. 3. It was for all the people, Christ is for the world. 4. It had to be gathered early, each day. 5. It was white and sweet, so Christ is pure in Himself and sweet to the taste of the refined soul. 6. It gave life to the Israelites. Teachings-A murmuring soul de-stroys his own happiness and the

It gave life to the Israelites. Teachings-A murmuring soul de-stroys his own happiness and the happiness of all around him. God hears our murmurings and will call us to an account. We should learn to trust God day by day for the ne-cessities of life. The Lord is able to supply all our needs; even though we may not be able to understand how it is to be done.

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Having read the preceding chapters and seen the repeated and miracul-ous manifestations of divine power, and the wonderful deliverance of this people from a life of bondage, and how God delivered them in time of their first trial at the Red Sea, would lead one to conclude that they would never give way, again to doubts or never give way again to doubts or murmurings. Murmurings. We are startled in reading the second and third verses of the lesson to find the whole con-gregation giving way to murmur-ings and in such sad tones of despair. It had been only one month since they had left the land of Elypt, and thus for every need had been supthus far every need had be plied, and every reason given them to believe that God would continue to be with them as they walked in obe-dience to his commandments. From to believe that God would continue to be with them as they, walked in obe-dience to his commandments. From the beginning the Christian life is one of victory, over trial. The cause of their murmurings seemed to be from an evil heart of unbelief, for they had not en-tirely forgotten their past condi-tion as referred to in the third verse. Like many in these days, they seemed void of reason, and did not stop to consider that if it had been the will of God to de-stroy them He could have easily done so while they were crossing the Red Sea. God's forbearance is shown and made known to Mosses in the fourth verse, and instead of leserved wrath, He comforts Moses lest he might be discouraged by their com-plaints, by assuring him that Re would rain "bread from heaven" for them. This is but one of the many instances that shows the wonderful forbearance of the Al-mighty.

mighty.

Forouto Farmers' Market

June 20.—There were 900 hush-is of grain received on the street market this morning. Prices were steady. Wheat-Was steady, one load of red selling at 77c per bushel, and two loads of goose at 63c as bushel.

bushel. Oats-Were steady, 600 bushele seffling at 48% to 50c per bushel. Hay-Was steady, 25 loads selling at $10 to $12 per ton for timothy, and $8 to $9 per ton for elover. Straw-Was steady, selling at $3 ner ton.

Straw-Was steady, selling at $8 per ton. Dressed Hogs-Were easier, selling at $9,75 to $9 per cwt. a decline of 25c per cwt. Wheat, white, 72 to 85c; red, 72 to 80c; goose, 68 to 70c; spring, 67 to 80c. Rye, 59 to 62c. Barley, malt, 53% to 60%c; feed, 58 to 54c. Oate, 42% to 50c. Peas, 74% Hay, timothy, $11 to $12; clover, 58 to $9. Straw, $8 Butter, b. rolls, 15 to 17c; crocks, 12% to 14c. Eggs, new laid, 14 to 15c.

British Live Stock Markets

Londor, June 30.-Cattle -To-day American cattle are quoted at from 18 to 15c; refrigerator beef is quoted at 111-2 to 12c per lb. Toronto Fruit and Vegetapies.

Fruit here was quiet to-day, re-celpts being small, owing to bad weather. Strawberries, 51-2 to 81-2c per quart. Gooseberries, per basket, 50 to 60c. Pineapples, case, $3.25 to $3.50; do., each, 5 to 14c. Bananas, $1.50 to $2.50. Oranges, Sorranto box $3.25 to $3.50; do., each, 5 to 14c. Bananas, $1.50 to $2.50. Oranges, Sorrento, box, $4 to $4.25. Lemons, Messina, $2.50 to $3.50. Cocoanuts, sucks, $3.50 to $3.75. Cabbage, crate, $2 to $2.25. Tomatoes, 4-basket car-rier, $1 to $1.10. Cucumbers, crate, $2.25 to $2.50. Beans, wax, crate, $1.50. Peas, basket, 35 to 40c. Wat-ermilons, each, 40c. Potatoes, new, American, $3.75 to $4 per bbl.

Leading Wheat Markets.

Following are the closing quota-tions at important wheat centres to-day:

Cash. 2

C 11 1	C. D. B. B. B. B.	worker.
Chicago		71 3-4
Toledo	78 3-4	747.8
New York
Dulath No. 1 south		77 1-8b
Duluth, No .1 north.	75 1-4	71 3-4b
Duluth, No: 1 hard	77 8-4b	1
Torouto Live Ste	ock Mar	ket.
Export cattle, choice, per
do medium	4 5	tos 7.00
do cows
Butchers' cattle, picked.	52
Butchers cattle, choice	5 8
Butchers' cattle, fair	4 0
do common	4.0	to 0 00
do cows
do bulle	0 54
Feeders, short-keep	4.00
do medium	3 40	to 4 00
Stockersel.000 to 1,100 lbs.	2 78	to 4 00
Milch cows, each	25 00	to 45 00
Sheep, ewes, per cwt	. 8 74	to 3 99
Lambs, spring, each	9 50
Hoge, choice, per cwt	6 87
Hogs, light, per cwt.	6 69
Hogs fat, per cwt	6 62	600 000
FURTHER CONTRACTOR FURTHER MADE		200 0 00

 COOLNESS SAVED THE SITUATION.

In French theatres the doctor of the theatre has a seat given him for every performance. He must be there each evening. Naturally, after he has seen the same piece a score of times he longs to be else where, and prefers to give his seat to some of his friends. A well-known writer, M. B.—., says that when he was a young man, a friend, the doc-tor of a certain theatre, gave him his seat. Just as he was becoming interested in the first act the stage manager rushed up—the heroine had manager rushed up-the heroine had a nervous attack and required medica, aid. B-- had nothing else to do but one's ward robe, for always it has been a sub rosa adjunct, or partially so. But the long skirt has banished concealment from the petticoat, and the fact that it is to trail, while the dress

A SUMMERY STREET COSTUME.

BLACK AND WHITE STRIPED DUCK EMBROIDERED IN RED CHER RIES.

stitched silk and the application of flowers are all noted in the petti-coat as in the outer skirt. this a charming summer trousseau which has a petileoat for every dress, trimmed to imitate the outer

The Trimmed Skirt.

skirt and either exactly matching it in material or harmonizing with

The princess petticoat, while the most desirable thing to be found in underwear, has its objection from most desirable thing the objection from underwear, has its objection from the standpoint of economy. Being all of a piece, a combination garment, it must be laundered all at once and the corset cover and petticoat are treated to the tubbing, all of a piece. This is very destructive and the princess comes apart at the

"Nancy," said the stern parent, as he reached for the butter. "I thought "ack Hashaway kissed you last night." the prices comes apart at the waist line, just where the strain and stress of the tub and the flatiron are felt most.

"Nonsense, father," res, onded the pink-cheeked daughter. "Why do you For the ironing of delicate laces there is a board which can be made at home. It differs from the ordi-nary hoard in the tit to math. think so ?' at home. It differs from the ordi-nary board in that it is very heavily "Wil, Nancy, 's I passed the par-lor door I thought I heard you say: 'Oh, stop.'" "The idea' If Jack were to kiss me do you think I'd tell him to stop?" padded, and the lace while it is ironed is not flattened.

So with the piques and linens. They are fromed upon this padded board. The iron must be a very heavy one, not too hot. This presess the pique smoothly, but does not flatten it. Af-ter it is ironed the ribbing is still visible. She—I'm very sorry, but I can never be your wife. He—Oh, that's all right. If you are cruel enough to refuse my offer then you are unworthy of a love so great as mine, therefore I do not love you any more. Good night.

The Vogue for Kid.

The vogue for kid has touched the room robe. Kid helts in tan color and in colored leathers are chaped with gold fastenings; and yokes of kid are seen, but not so frequently. The kid necktie is worn with the N. Peck-My wife has had such a cold for a week that she can't talk above a whisper. Lushforth-Lucky boy. you. "I don't think. Say, were you ever jawed at in a whisper for a whole hour?" The kid necktie is worn with the shirtwaist, and there are cunning the belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a high, straight band fastened with a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a high, straight band fastened with a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a high, straight band fastened with a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a high, straight band fastened with a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a high, straight band fastened with a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a high, straight band fastened with a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a high, straight band fastened with a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a belt, and kid stocks, consisting of a bulk. Kid will be very fashlonable, both in such a wise woman who, looking at the newset room robes, would declare that the balloon sleeve was not in. There is so little difference between the full sleeve with its or yellow, according to the tone of the light wash dress. Section 1 fit is in brown or black or navy They had been keeping company for eight years, and when he finally proposed and was accepted, in the ardor of his enthusiasm he exclaim-ed: "Darling, you are worth your weight in gold." With almost cruel facetiousness she replied: "That is saying a good deal, for it was an awful long wait."

al proof of the hardnes of their hearts.

3. Flesh pots-The Hebrews when in slavery were doubtless fed in companies, in places where large pots or bollers were fixed for the purpose of cooking their food.—Clarke. Ye have brought us—They seem to have actu-ally lost the sense of having been de-livered by the hand of Jehovah.—C, H M To kill with human Denta. H. M. To kill.....with hunger-People when murmuring often anticipate evils which never will happen. 4. Unto Moscs-God made known His purposes unto Moscs in order that he might rest easily and not be tempted to discouragement. Will wate based are put on. Some women are always neat and dainty to the smallest de-tails. Others say that "so long as the general effect is good little things don't matter," says the Phil-adelphia Times. It never occurs to them that it is just the attention "o "little things" which makes a pleas-ing general effect possible. The 'sweetest blouse in the world, all tucked sik and lace" and a "darling little rose toque" are pretty to wear to a matinee, but they are not suitable for work. to discouragement. Will rain bread. etc.-Efforts have been made to do away with the supernatural aspect of this incident by suggesting that the mana was nothing else than the guny of tamerisk tree, to which the hame manna has been given; but we are certain that this gum could not have been the bread that is here said to have come from heaven. And gather-The manna was like a small grain A cortain sate. From more gainer—The mauna was like a small grain. A certain rate—Every person was to gather "according to his eat-ing." V. 16. Every day—It would breed worms and spoil if they undertook to keep it from one day to another. It was necessary ais) to gather it early, before the sun had arisen. May prove them—Thus God tried them to see if them—Thus God tried them to see if they would trust Him and depend upon Him for fresh supplies each day, and to see if they would serve Him and keep His commandments. 5. The sixth day—The day preced-ing the Sabbath. Shall prepare— The people gathered the manue and ing the Sabbath. Shall prepare— The people gathered the manna and "ground it in mills, or beat it in a mortar, and baked it in pans, and made cakes of it; and the taste of it was as the taste of fresh oil." Num, xi. 8. Twice as much—On the sixth day of the week they were told to gather and prepare twice as much as usual, so there would be no work done on the Sabbath. No manna fell oh the Sabbath.

manna fell of the Sabbath. 6. Then ye shall know-That the Lord had brought them out of Egypt was plain enough, yet they were ascribing it to Moses and Aaron. 7 Glory of the Lord-Either this glorious work of God in glving you bread from heaven, or the glorious hppearing of God in the cloud, men-tioned in verse 10.-Benson.-Against the Lord-From this we see that when we murmur against God's sef-vants we are really murmuring against God himself. What are we -Only His servants, obeying His commandments. We have not brought you out of your slavery, God, by His own almighty power, has done that, done that.

A STORY OF GLENCOE

The Dake of Argyll contributes ar account of the terrible event of Feb. 13th, 1692, from the pen of his ancestor upon whom Scotsmen lay some part of the blame for the massacre. "Afthough innocent of doing wrong to any many by my own will," says the writer, who was an officer in the force selected for the distressing task, "I know well enough that the orders. I obeyed were merciless. Yet did we what soldiers could to pre-yent the full misery of our orders and we what soldiers could to pre-vent the full misery of our orders falling upon the helpless. Say what we may, this event was horrible; I do still dream of it." The story of the submission of the clans to King and the late setting out of the chief of the MacDonalds in a snow storm is retol:, and the writer remembering submission of the clans to King and the late setting out of the chief of the MacDonalds in a snow storm is retol.; and the writer, remembering that the soldiers had been kindly treated as guests by the little clan, exclaims, "Good Lord! I am glad that the blood of none of these peo-ple is on my hands. I never fired a shot that went home. When we knew what Was before us we determined in our company to do all we could that would not be playing traitor to our officer to make the people understand there was danger. We had done what in us lay to save the lives of the doomed, but our leaders lives of the doomed, but our leaders had planned otherwise." The order was to kill every man and male child; but "through our words less than forty were killed; when there might have been nighton a hundred dead be-neath the show of mole the there.

have been nightforn a hundred dead be-neath the snow, or under the burn-ing roofs of their cottages." Some of the escapes (were ingenious and ex-citing. In one house there were six men. The soldiers fired through a window and killed five. The sixth threw open the door and cried, "I twould rather be killed outside than inside a house!" "Come out, then," replied the commander. "Since you have been so hospitable to us, we will give you the choice of the manner of your death." Out rushed the High-lander, and throwing his pladd over of your death." Out rushed the High-lander, and throwing his plaid over the nearest files, he leaped past them and got into some copse wood from which he escaped. The record con-cludes, "May the help I gave for many to escape weigh in the hal-ance for me on the Judgment Day is the prayer of a heart-sick soldier. We soldiers fear not our duty, and an open enemy we love; but in af-fairs of politics we are poor execu-tioners and soft of heart !"

Ar 2.1

follow him. In the lady's dressing room he found the manager with anguish depicted on every feature and the lady wringing her hands and shricking: with

"Now. doctor, quick. What's to, be done ?"

- grew as red as a lobster, and as he could not say anything he just ejaculated: "Hum. Let us see; let

He took the lady's hand in a wild attempt to feel her pulse. She shriek-ed more than ever and writhed like a snake.

"Have you poured any water on her head??" he asked.

"Yes."

"And no effect ?" "None."

"Then give her a sniff of eau de ologne, cologne," "Haven't any," was the answer." "Then go and fetch some." Off rushed the manager and the stage manager together, and B— was left with the patient. Suddenly she opened her eyes and Suddenly she opened her eyes and smiled. "Doctor," she said, "you are a good fellow, aren't you?" "Yes, mainselle." "You must be, doctor. Now listen. There is nothing the matter with me. You would have found that out soon. I want a couple of days' how day. Can't you manage it.?" "Delighted." he replied, joyfully "Delighted." he replied, joyfully "Now, ma'maselle, you're a good sort. too. I'm not a doctor. I came in on the doctors ticket, so you must not give him away." By this time the manager and stage manager came back, each with a bottle of eau de cologne. He told them that it was unnecessary now: the lady was quite composed, and could appear without any danger. But she must have a few days frest. the lady was quite composed, and could appear without any danger. But she must have a few days' fest. They made wry faces, but granted the holiday.-London Quill.

Maude-Do you think this hat makes me look older? Clara-Of course not. dear. I don't see how it possibly could.

Blobbs-Mrs. Newlywed insists that her marriage was a tailure. Slobbs-Why, she seems very happy. Blobbs-Oh. she is now; but during the coremony the bridesmalds got all mixed up in the procession and the groom forgot half his responses.

The Broker's Wife-What kept you downtown so late to-day? The Broker-New typewriter. "Slow, is she?" Well, I should say not."-Yonkers Stateman. 2.1