THE BOOK AGENT.

Studies Human Nature and is Skilled in Diplomacy.

The book agent is a student of human nature. He attacks man at his weakest points. What is calculated to minister to a man's vanity more than to have a gentleman, well groomed and of pleasing address, approach and offer to sell him some literary production? The fact that the book agent is there presupposes that the man is a lover of literature, that he has leisure to read books and that he has money to spend for them. The joke about the book agent being unwelcome will have to be relegated along with the mother-in-law joke. The facts will not sustain it. The book agent approaches a man, presents himself and proceeds to business. "I am introducing a new work, Mr. Jones, something that I know you will appreciate." Is Jones going to throw a man out of the third story window who thinks he will appreciate a new book? Not much.

The agent continues: "Mr. Brown suggested that you might like to look it over. He takes a set in half an hour." The fact that Brown thinks it will interest him pleases Jones still more. He values Brown's opinion. He likes to have Brown think he appreciates good literature. Brown must also think he can afford it. He looks over the book predisposed in its favor already. Then comes the objection that he cannot afford it. The book agent treats that excuse as a joke. His actions say: "I know you can afford it. Brown knows you can afford it." The book agent evidently believes that he is talking to a man of means, and Jones does not care to have him believe anything else. Perhaps the set of books sells for $80. He talks to Jones as if that were an insignificant sum, not worth hesitating about, although, if the truth were known, the book agent really thinks the $20 he will get as commission for making the sale is so large a sum that he can afford to play off the rest of the day and go fishing.

Jones hesitates, the book agent drops his fountain pen, Jones picks it up and has lost.

The agent folds up his prospectus and after assuring Jones he will never regret the purchase starts for the door. But a thought strikes him, and he comes back. "By the way, Mr. Jones, do you think of any of your friends who might like this work?"

TOO CHIVALROUS.

The Man Who Insisted on Giving Up His Seat in a Car.

The car was bowling merrily up the street, when a fat, elderly woman rose and signaled to the conductor. He rang the bell, and the woman proceeded to execute a masterly waltz down the car.

Just as she had covered half the distance to the door, a gentleman of the playfulness on the part of the motorman gave a phenomenal corkscrew movement to the car and brought the woman's triumphal progress to a sudden halt. She stood swaying and tottering before a red checked, pleasant man who was absorbed in an evening paper.

As he passed in his reading to refold his paper he caught sight of the wabbling figure before him, and, wadding his paper into a hopeless mass, he sprang hastily to his feet.

"Take this seat, madam," he said. "Oh, no, thank you," said the woman, reeling and clutching at a strap.

"But I insist!" "Really, sir, you are very kind, but—" "I couldn't think of allowing a lady to stand."

"But I"—she begged feebly. The man was losing his temper.

"Sit down," he said, still polite, but now stern.

"But, sir, I"—He took her by the shoulders and firmly, though gently, put her into the vacant place. The other passengers laughed. The conductor grinned and rang the bell. The driver started the car, which had stopped at the crossing. The polite and masterful man expanded his chest and beamed self approval.

"But, please, sir, I wanted to get out. I'm in the wrong car!" wailed the fat woman in hopeless protest.

As the car stopped again she struggled to her feet and made for the door, looking apprehensively at the phlegmatic man, who dived into his old seat and went into eclipse behind his paper.

An Impression.

An English writer, telling of a trip of an ocean steamer, said that he had only one girl on board, aged about 10. Of course we all made much of her. One day I was making a sketch from memory of Fastnet Rock. My little friend was by me, and she said:

"How can you sketch a thing that you do not see?"

"I remember it. I have an impression of it," I said.

"What is an impression?"

I explained by making an impression with the round end of the pencil on the back of the hand and then saying,

"There is an impression, and one is made by seeing—only in a different manner—on the mind or brain." With this explanation the little girl seemed to be satisfied. The next day I was talking with a bishop on board and said to him,

"My little friend here can tell you what an impression is."

"And what is an impression?" he asked.

"Oh," said she, "it is just a round hole made on the back of your hand by pressing a pencil on it!"

Knew When He Had Enough.

A story is told of a citizen of Glasgow which shows that contentment is a virtue rarely existent in some cases. One of the inhabitants was making his way homeward on a certain evening and taking a good deal more than his share of the pavement when he encountered a Glasgow town councillor wading about in a respectable fashion. The councillor, noticing his unbalanced condition, stopped and shouted with wrathful dignity:

"What d'ye want?"

To this his fellow townsman blithely replied:

"I want nothing. I'm as fat 's I can haul."

Advertising in London, 1907.

I have passed through London. I have seen many of their Bills fixed upon posts in the streets, to solicit men to afford them some service, which suggests, at a remote fashion, that they are not so skillful, that beg employment so publically: for, Vio vendibili suspensa hedera non est opus. A good workman needs not stand in the streets.—Surveyor's Dialogue.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Re-engage All the Teachers for Another Year.

Som: Incomes of Salary—Accounts Passed—School Attendance.

The school board met last evening. The meeting opened with only Conservatives present, which fact Trustees McCorvie called attention to. The members who made up the quorum were Chairman Wilson, John McCorvie, J. E. Johnston, W. E. Campbell, W. N. Morley and Dr. Bray. Trustees Robertson and Thompson came in later. The passing of the salaries and the re-engaging of the teachers was about all that occupied the attention of the board.

Mr. Johnston moved that a resolution of condolence be passed and a copy sent to the parents of the late Miss Richards, who so faithfully served the board. Mr. McCorvie seconded the motion and it carried unanimously. A communication was received from the secretary of the St. Thomas board enclosing a resolution passed by that board. The resolution asked that the minister of education be requested to establish a supplementary examination at Christmas for pupils who had written on the midsummer entrance examination and failed, the fee to be $2 or as much more as will cover the expenses of such supplementary examinations. As the number writing would be limited, it was suggested that the examinations be held only at the county towns. The resolution was referred to the finance committee.

The teachers were all re-engaged for the ensuing year. Miss Kate Garrett was appointed, permanently to the McKeough school staff.

Miss Eva Schwenker, of the Central school kindergarten staff, was given an increase in salary of $3 per month.

In re-engaging the teachers of the Central, Dr. Bray moved that all the teachers be re-engaged, that Miss McKellar's salary be increased $2 and Mr. F. E. Forster, for next year, a salary of $700. The motion carried. Miss Gertrude Holmes and Miss Edith Tackaberry will each receive an increase of $25 next year if they pass the Normal school examination.

J. E. Johnston, for the finance committee, reported recommending the payment of the following accounts: Central school—R. Cooper, supplies, $13.35; J. Tilt, repairs, $1.85; salaries, $342.05; extras, $5; janitor, $35.41. Total, $387.66.

McKeough school—R. Cooper, $1.88; Binney, $2.75; W. L. G. Snell, 25c; R. Soutar, $2; salaries, $287.48; janitor, $29.16. Total, $323.52.

Queen St. school—The, Ark, $1.98; Haven St., $7; J. Macquand, $2; Wainless, $9; salaries, $74.95; extras, $3; janitor, $10.25. Total, $107.22.

Payne School—Hudley Co., $7; L. Williston Co., $2; C. Vanstone, $1; L. Keenwood, 50c; salaries, $54.16; janitor, $9. Total, $127.01.

Kindergarten, Central—Selby, Co., $1; salaries, $18.35.

Kindergarten, McKeough—W. L. G. Snell, 42c; The Ark, 80c; salaries, $39.58.

Model school salaries, $40; King St. caretaker, $1. Grand total, $1,080.54. The report was adopted.

The Inspector reported the attendance for October as follows: Payne—Miss Sprentall, 35; Miss Mounter, 21.

Queen St.—Miss Snell, 49; Miss Kerr, 27; McKeough—Miss Garrett, 44; Miss Lafferty, 12; Miss Longwell, 40; Miss Morrison, 38; Miss Young, 49; Miss Irving, 50; Miss Samson, 46; Miss Abram, 51; Mr. Brackin, 36; Miss Aylesworth, 47.

Central—Miss Birassini, 46; Miss McKellar, 49; Miss King, 44; Miss Macpherson, Arnold, 38; Mrs. Arnold, 38; Ryan, 49; Miss Birch, 31; Miss Gordon, 51; Miss Doherty, 39; Miss Hillman, 28; Miss Bell, 30; Misses Green and Schwenker, 54.

County Model—Mr. Plewes, 27.

AT THE THEATRE.

Stetson's Co. under the management of Mr. Wm. King, presents Uncle Tom's Cabin at the Grand theatre and night tomorrow. The cast is a strong one. In the third act the landing of the boat, "R. E. Lee," and the happy darkies, working on the levee and the child Eve's fearful precipitation into the river and her rescue by Tom, is a life picture. Between the acts, Stetson's uniformed band which is composed mostly of colored men, cultivates the ground by discoursing southern pastime. Previous to the performance the company gives a street parade.

The arrangements at the Grand for a most satisfactory evening's amusement to night are complete and Mr. Cairns promises his patrons that everything possible will be done to give them the fullest value of their money that they ever got. Everything available in the line of information will be given and given properly. There is no better male quartette on the road to-day than the Mendelssohn Male Quartette, of Boston, and they will be on hand to entertain. Any seat in the opera house may be reserved for 25 cents. Opera glasses will be found a convenience by those who have them.

CURTAIN RAISERS.

Sarah Cowell Le Moine will spend the vacation at New Haven.

Burr McIntosh will support Mary Manning in "Janice Meredith."

Corra Urquhart was 16 years of age when she married James Brown Potter.

Mrs. Leslie Carter will go to Switzerland after the close of her London engagement.

Abbey Sage Richardson will dramatize William Shakespeare's "Robert Tourneur" for Daniel Frohman.

Augustus Thomas is the author of the unnamed comedy in which Willie Collier will star next season.

Wagner's "Siegfried" will be produced in 1901 at the Grand Opera, Paris. "Die Gotterdammerung" will be produced in 1903.

"L'Education de Prince," the farce to which Anna Held secured the American rights early in the spring, has failed in Paris.

Robert Mantell has accepted a new play written by W. R. Tremayne, author of "The Secret Warrant" and "The Dagger and the Cross."

Miss Marcia Van Dresser, who was with the Bostonians last season, has decided to return to the dramatic stage next autumn. She was formerly in Daly's company.

Carl Sontag, the celebrated actor, who made a tour of the United States some 15 years ago, is dead. He was a brother of the equally famous comedienne, Henrietta Sontag.

The taste for war plays, even old ones, does not die out. Since its revival two years ago it is claimed "Shenandoah" has netted its author, Bronson Howard, $20,000 in royalties.

One of the plays in which E. S. Willard will appear the coming season is by Ellwyn Barron, formerly a Chicago newspaper man, but now a resident of London. The title is not yet announced, but the place will be Italy and the hero an actor.

THE CHINESE CRISIS.

Europeans have been teaching the Chinese how to fight. What for?—New York World.

Since Napoleon Bonaparte escaped from Elba has such an avalanche of trouble threatened the civilized nations of the earth.

The precipitation of war with China by the allied powers before they had forced in position to defend their citizens made the murder of their residents in China the logical result.

There is a grim suggestiveness in the fact that such a modern army as China possesses is largely the product of German instruction, as it was drilled by German officers and armed with German guns.

The surprise caused by the weakness of China in the war with Japan may be followed by another surprise caused by the discovery that the 400,000,000 Chinese, after all, constitute a gigantic power.

If the powers cannot save, they can punish. If their punishment must be inflicted it will be sure and deadly and lasting; the memory of it will linger in Chinese tradition like the horrid punishments of the Indian mutiny.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

China is defying the world. It now remains to be seen whether the 400,000,000 of natives can be led into war or whether the nation lacks cohesiveness, as has so often been asserted. It is at least certain that when the present trouble is ended the world will know more about China than it does now.

BARRY-MISNER.

A very pretty wedding took place Oct. 3, at William Barry's, 9th con., Raleigh, when there were united in marriage Miss Phoebe Barry to G. A. Misner, Rev. Mr. Locke, of Chatham, officiated. The bride was attired in blue serge trimmed with cream satin and lace and carried a beautiful bunch of carnations in her hand. She also wore roses in her hair. As she entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father Mr. Samuel Wallace played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Brockie Moffitt acted as best man and bridesmaid. The bridesmaid also wore roses in her hair. The bride's veil trailed the flower strewn floor. The dinner table was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and amilies was around the plates. An elegant dinner was served. Forty couple were present and as they partook of the feast there were smiles and brilliant speeches with fun on all sides. After dinner there was music and dancing. Two young girls danced the cakewalk. After tea games were played till two o'clock when the guest made their departure wishing the bride and groom much joy. Among the numerous presents were: 1 pr. bedroom towels, Tommy Wallace; sideboard cover, a friend; pr. bedroom towels, Oscar Goulette; sideboard cover, Samuel Wallace; bedspread, Mrs. John Goulette; bedspread, Miss Anderson; pr. of pillows and covers, Mrs. Tom Wallace; 2 pr. lace curtains, bride's father; pr. blankets, Mrs. George Thomas; chamber set, Mrs. Wallington Wallace; china berry server, Willie Barry; china berry server, Miss Maggie Morningstar and sister; china fruit dish, spoon holder and sugar bowl, bride's mother; butter knife and spoon, Miss Mahal Wallace; salt and pepper shaker, Mrs. R. Moffitt, napkin ring and berry spoon, Mrs. Geo. Thomas; celery dish, Mr. Thomas; silver salt and pepper shaker, Archie Wallace; silver sugar service, bridegroom; glass celery dish, Mr. Moffitt; 2 silver desert spoons, Miss Bryant; pr. glass vases, Wellington Wallace; china fruit plate, Miss Susie Wallace; large parlor lamp, Mrs. Samuel Wallace; handsome hanging lamp, Thomas Chambers; china mustard dish, Herb. Berry, cream pitcher, Mrs. Herb. Berry; fine linen table cloth, Wellington Wallace; lemon acid set, Miss Mary Ann Doyle; one large robe and bath towel, Mrs. James M. Doyle; Mr. and Mrs. Misner left the next day to visit in Raleigh among their many friends and left for their new home in Simcoe on Tuesday Nov. 6th.

The great amount of design work done at the Victoria Avenue Green House is sufficient proof of the excellence of the work. Nothing but the best at the lowest prices. Telephone 181.
