MONDAY, MAY 12.

WHAT MR. PARDO DIDN'T SAY.

Mr. T. L. Pardo next occupied the attention of the meeting. He spoke of the pleasure it gave him to see his Pain Court friends, regretting that he could not see them more frequently. However, he had always looked after their interests well and would continue to do so. He hoped they would support him in the coming election, as in doing so they would support the Ross Government, which always had been and always would be the friend of the farmer. In the legislature he had endeavored to sever his constituents in all matters entrusted to him, and had almost invariably brought these matters to a successful issue. He had passed more bills than his predecessor in a shorter period, and in municipal matters had brought several thousand dollars to the relief of the various townships by careful attention to their rights. (Prolonged cheers, during which Mr. Pardo resumed his seat.)—Banner report: in full of Mr. Pardo's address at the Pain Court meeting.

As a matter of fact Mr. Pardo didn't say anything of the kind. He didn't even allude to his record in the House or attempt to tell the electors that "he had always looked after their interests well." He didn't mention his service to his constituents at all, or any matters he had brought to a successful issue. He didn't say anything about passing any bills, nor make any comparison with his predecessor. He didn't even hint that he "had brought several thousand dollars to the relief of the various townships by careful attention to their rights."

As everyone who was at the meeting is aware, Mr. Pardo altogether ignored the repeated requests of the public for an account of his stewardship to them. He steered completely clear of his parliamentary record—had nothing apparently to show for it. He, moreover, attempted to get away from his short-comings in this direction by a general apology to his audience and the plea to support him, "not for myself but for the Ross Government, if for nothing else."

Whether Mr. Pardo has given the Banner authority to get up speeches for him or whether the extract is just a forgery of its own, we don't know and don't care. But in either case it is an attempt to humbug the public which will not be tolerated.

If, however, Mr. Pardo has undertaken to hazard his reputation by permitting the Banner to create addresses for him, we sincerely trust, for his sake, that it will endeavor to curb the abusive vocabulary which characterizes its editorial utterances, while engaged in placing on paper the imaginary speeches of the ex-member for West Kent.

And in its manufacture of mythical platform deliverances the Banner might really make a hit by imagining Mr. Pardo making an address to the electors of West Kent on his record as their parliamentary representative, enunciating definitely and clearly all he has done for this constituency and the advantages which have accrued to the good people of this county by reason of his representation of them.

Mr. Pardo declines to do this himself, but his organ possesses an imagination which should not, surely, be daunted by a little task of this kind. As a journalistic campaigner it has not proved itself a Samson. Suppose, now, it sets its creative genius to work in the phonograph business.

GOOD CLASS OF CANDIDATES.

A glance at the list of Conservative candidates throughout the province, demonstrates the splendid class of standard-bearers by whom Mr. Whitney is surrounded.

In each riding representative men have been secured—men whose reputations are above reproach and men whose records constitute a guarantee of an honest and a business-like administration. Whitney will win, and he will have with him at Toronto a notable band of thoroughly capable and representative followers.

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Walter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

SUSTAIN THE JUDGES.

Judge after judge in Canadian courts of law has denounced in the strongest possible terms the election scandals committed by the corrupt "machine" in the interests of the Ontario Government, comments the Brockville Times. It is now left to the people of the province to back up the judiciary by aweing the Ross Government out of power. There is no other redress from the disgraceful wave of electoral corruption which has overwhelmed Ontario, and we are confident that the people will act with unmistakable decision on the 29th of May. When the very machinery of the law is so clogged by political crooks that election criminals are allowed to go unpunished then it is indeed time for a change.

THOUGHTFUL LIBERALS FAVOR A CHANGE.

Genuine Liberals declare that they do not like the machine, and will not support it.

No one need be surprised, for the thing is repugnant to the great doctrine of freedom for all which is dear in every patriotic Canadian.

True Liberalism means that the people shall rule. It was for this that Liberals of old fought.

No violation of that principle has been attempted, until within recent years.

Under George Brown, Edward Blake, Alexander Mackenzie, Oliver Mowat and Christopher Finlay Fraser, it was never alleged or suspected that such wrongs as are now perpetrated were permitted to occur.

The trouble comes from little ruling coteries, which employ an historic party designation for their own advantage.

Liberalism as a principle will not suffer by its declaration against an evil system designed by enemies of public liberty.

On the contrary, when it has shown the country that it will excuse no wrongs, when those who have usurped its name have been laid aside and the party has been reformed under men of the calibre of Blake, Mackenzie and Mowat, it will challenge public confidence and will do its part in the service of the province once more.

No party can expect to rule always. Certainly no fraction of a party dissociated from the better elements in the party can look for permanent power.

A change must come. It produced now as a protest against impropriety. It will be good for the genuine Liberals as well as for the province.—Mail and Empire.

Whitney Will Win!

Register! Register!! Register!!! May 29th will be the People's Day.

Turn the Rosses out!—Hamilton Spectator.

Pardo is the parliamentarian who has done nothing.

These shareholders in the Chatham Binder Twine Company evidently thought it was time for a change.

The eastern press are already speculating as to the size of Premier Whitney's majority in the next Provincial Parliament.

In his eight years' parliamentary record Mr. Pardo has found nothing out which he can ask for a renewal of the people's confidence.

For eight years Mr. Pardo, as representative for West Kent, has filled a seat in the Legislature, drawn his indemnity therefor and—but what else?

If you are 21 and a British subject and a resident of the Province for a year and this city for three months you are entitled to a vote. See that you get it.

Wonder, now, who, who told "the publisher of the Banner" about that speech of Mr. Pardo's at Pain Court. Or does he blame that blunder of his paper upon The Planet, too?

Wonder if the Banner will have to fall back on its red headlines again to publish the retraction for its nasty insinuations against the town of Wallaceburg and its good people.

Pardo evidently doesn't think that the people of West Kent are entitled to any account for his stewardship in the Legislature. And the people will discuss the matter with him on the 29th.

John Lee, Liberal candidate for East Kent, is our authority for assuring the readers of this great home journal that Mr. Whitney commands admiration for his courageous and conscientious convictions.

This paper is not responsible to any person or persons whatever for what appears in its editorial columns.—Banner.

Pardon the suggestion, but what's the matter with eliminating from the above that little unessential phrase, "to any person or persons whatever."

The Carleton Place Canadian says: His Honor Judge Houston, of Chatham, a prohibitionist and a Reformer, is also "bold enough to be honest, and honest enough to be bold." He has come out with the declaration that the course pursued by Mr. Whitney in the temperance question is the only manly one he has heard in the campaign.

The day following Mr. Whitney's address in Chatham the local "Liberal" organ assumed an annihilating posture and announced defiantly that it intended to discuss Mr. Whitney's educational policy. But it's been as mum as a mouse ever since. Did its investigation show that silence was the wiser course for its party, or has it been too busy slandering good people and calling this great home journal bad names?
