The Marchioness of Lansdowne has had considerable experience of Vice-Regal life. During the Vice-Royalty of her father, the Duke of Abercorn, in Ireland from 1866 to 1868, she greatly assisted him in fælfilling the numerous and delicate social duties attached to so dignified a position and won golden opinions from all with whom she was brought in contact. A leading incident of the Duke's reign in Dublin was the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales. Lady Lansdowne, owing to the fact of her father being a widower, presided with grace and dignity over the splendid festivities that marked that occasion. Since then she has visited Ireland several times, especially during the second Vice-Royalty of the Duke from 1874 to 1876. Her father and husband both possess large estates in that country, the Duke of Abercorn holding no less than 89,000 acres in the counties of Tyrone and Donegal. Lady Lansdowne's mother was Lady Louisa Jane Russell, second dughter of the sixth Duke of Bedford, K. G. She thus inherits from her mother the blood of the noble and patriotic family of Russell, while through her father she is descended from the ancient and illustrious house of Hamilton, of which the Dukes of Abercorn is the head. The starchioness also lays claim to noble French ancestry.
