THE CONFERENCES IN PARIS—PAINFULLY IMPORTANT REVELATIONS TO ENGLAND.

The Congress continues to sit in Paris. The Count d'Orloff has, it is said, been summoned to St. Petersburg to attend a diplomatic Conference, and during his absence, M. de Titoff will act for him in Paris. By degrees, we are learning the history of what passed at the Congress up to the period of the conclusion of the Treaty. We are indebted to the Journal des Debats for a second revelation, and we suspect, that the British public will find it to be painfully important. We are told, that when, in conformity with the terms of the fifth point, by which the allies reserved to themselves the right, in addition to the already conceded four-points, of making such further stipulations, for the sake of guaranteeing the safety of Europe, as they should deem essential—we are told that when, in pursuance of this article, England demanded that the forts erected by Russia on the Southern declivity of the Caucasus should be dismantled, she was overruled. Now, we have only to repeat an opinion expressed on the instant of the Austrian offer of mediation, that it was the duty of the British Cabinet to settle distinctly with the French Government the conditions they would receive, and on no account to depart from them. Had this been done, there never could have occurred that most extraordinary and most dangerous spectacle of allies professing to be thoroughly identified, dividing in the face of the watchful Plenipotentiaries of the enemy, and by dividing rendering further resistance impossible. When Austria offered her mediation, the Ministers of Queen Victoria ought to have known what value the country attached to the positions held by Russia in Asia Minor. The Russian fleet in the Black Sea would be comparatively nothing in the scale with Russian forts established on the borders of both the Turkish and the Persian empires. Russia had already proved, that she set no reliance upon her maritime forces, from whence the conclusion might safely have been drawn that, in her future attempts upon Turkey, she would trust to her armies alone. Having in the face of the world pronounced condemnation on her own fleet; having hid it behind stone walls to sink and burn it when Sebastopol was destroyed, nothing ought to have been plainer, than that her next object would be to keep the ships of war of other nations out of the Black Sea. Hence this project of neutralization, which is held up as a great victory gained by the allies, is, in point of fact, an immense and stupendous gain for Russia. As she could not make head against the British and French ships, it became her policy to have them kept out of the way. Let Russia do what she pleases now—not against Turkey, whom for awhile she will let alone, but against Persia holding the keys of India; and by our own boasted achievement of neutralization, we have debarr'd ourselves the right of menacing and watching her with our fleet. Thus has Russia once more triumphantly confirmed her reputation for diplomatic skill.

COMMERCIAL.
(From Willmer's European Times of April 12.)

The Money market is still very stringent owing to the heavy demands for accommodation, in consequence of the increased activity of trade on the declaration of peace, and the preparations for the payment yesterday of the fourth instalment of the five million loan, amounting to £750,000, besides that of 20 per cent. on the funding of Exchequer bills, making altogether a sum of £1,350,000. There remains but one more instalment to be paid upon each, amounting in the whole to £1,050,000. What the further necessities of the Chancellor of the Exchequer may compel him to borrow will not be known for several weeks to come: the lowest estimate is £5,000,000, the highest £15,000,000. The banks and discount houses are well supplied, and the payment of the April dividends now in progress will tend to make the general market easier, though no abatement of rates is expected for the present. On the Stock Exchange, money has been worth 7 per cent.: it is no lower, as short loans can be had at from 5 to 6 per cent. on Government securities.

The imports of specie during the week amounted to rather more than £5,000,000, principally from Australia. Gold is coming in from the United States; the Exchanges so long unfavourable on account of heavy corn purchases having taken a decided turn. At the same time the demand from France has abated. Coin, however, continues to be sent to the East weekly to a large amount; and the demand from India and China for silver remains unchecked. Nearly all the gold arrived this week has been sent into the Bank of England.

The Grain trade has presented a quiet aspect, and prices manifest a downward tendency. Owing to a change of wind, a large fleet of vessels have arrived from the United States, adding largely to the stocks of Indian Corn, Flour, and Wheat. In any article of the trade, we do not observe a disposition in any quarter to enter freely into purchase, and it appears probable, a rather cautious system will continue to prevail as long as sufficient supplies of home and foreign produce remain available; the extent of these, from week to week, will, in a great measure, regulate the course of prices for some time, as we are not likely to experience speculative influences until we approach much nearer the periods when weather is of more importance than at present in regard to the well-being or otherwise of the crops. Our market has continued without animation, buyers not being willing to go beyond their immediate requirements. Fine qualities of Wheat and Flour maintain their previous value, but inferior descriptions have given away about 2d per bushel, and 6d to 1s per barrel. Indian Corn sells only in retail, and whose sales have been made, ex ship, an abatement of 2s per quarter has been submitted to. Oats and Oatmeal dull.

"A HOLY YEAR"—In consequence of the re-establishment of peace, it is said to be the intention of his Holiness the Pope to celebrate a "Holy year" in this year of grace 1856. The Daily News correspondent, making the statement, says:—The Romans themselves are rather aghast at the prospect of twelve months' exhortations and fasting, without carnival, theatres, or other riotous amusements, with the danger moreover of money-spending foreigners abandoning the Eternal City to almsgiving friars and pilgrims."
