Within the present year, The Tribune has provided itself with a new and faster Press at a cost of $30,000, merely that some of our subscribers may receive their papers a mid earlier than they otherwise might do. With correspondents at the most important points throughout the civilized world, and a staff of writers chosen from among the best in the country, we believe that even those who dislike the politics of our wheat concede to it frankness in avowing its convictions and ability in maintaining them. We appeal, then, to those who believe that an increased circulation of Tree Tribune would conduce to the political, intellectual and meral well-being of the Republic, to aid us in effecting such increase. As we employ no traveling selicitors of subscriptions, we ask our present patrons in every locality to speak to their neighbors and friends in our behalf; we shall gladly receive from any friend lists of those who would receive and read a specimen copy of one of our editions, and shall be particularly grateful to those who may send us such names from post offices at which we have now no subscribers.
