Kitchener's Words of Encouragement

good effect, it served a good purpose in drawing from Lord Kitchener, Secretary of War, a plain if brief statement of the doings at the front during the past month or so. In the western theatre of war the situation apparently remains much the same. Although the Germans transferred troops to the Eastern front, they left men enough to hold their trenches in the West. There was an ebb and flow in the tide of battle, and gains at various points, more especially by the French Army east of Rheims and in Southern Alsace. This accords generally with the impression we have received, for although we hear of advances here and there every day, the names of the places at which fighting has been taking place remained much the same during the past five or six weeks. Bigger sweeping movements have taken place elsewhere than France and Belgium. While the ebb and flow of the tide along the Western line of battle has been small, there has been an ebb and flow in Eastern Prussia, West Poland, South Poland, Galicia and in the Carpathian passes. The difference, however, is that in these regions the ebb and flow has been much greater. The Russians have sustained greater losses to the Germans and inflicted greater losses on the Germans and Aus trians than have taken place between the combatants in the West. Just severe set-back on the Marne in Sep- intensely frosty to very mild, and and 5,400 tons displacement, which as German aspir tember last, they have suffered a severe set-back in their third and last attempt on Warsaw which was to be taken at any cost by the Kaiser's orders before Christmas, just as the Germans were to hack their way through to Calais in November, no the conditions keep the skin in perfect order. Such a preparation can be found in our Cream of Lilles, which a cruising radius of 18,500 miles, can a cruis matter what losses they sustained, has now stood the test of nearly ten run under water for 275 miles at a Lord Kitchener points out that the years use at all seasons and during stretch, has 4.7 guns for surface notable victory of the Russians a fort- all weathers, and whose popularity fighting, and carries sixty torpedoes night ago should have a far-reaching increases cash year. A report comes to-day from Rome that Austria has offered peace to Servia on the basis of leaving Servian territory intact and offering her Northern Albania with the Adriatic coast line from and including Durazzo to the Montenegrin border. The offer seems absurd as Austria is purporting to offer what she has no power to give. She has no troops there, the kingdom of Montenegro, which as Lord Kitchener states, has captured important positions in Bosnia occupies the land between Austrian territory and Northern Albania, and her fleet is invested in Pola and likely to be captured when that fortified fort falls to the fleet of the Allies. Italy would also have a say in the matter as well also have a say in the matter as well as Britain and France. If Austria wants peace she will have to release her hold on Bosnia and Herzegovnia which she seized in 1909. Besides the reverses suffered in the Caucasus, Indian troops have inflicted a defeat on the Turks in South Mesopotamia. Her much heralded attack on Egypt has not come off. MARY DOOLEY. With profound sympathy for the be-eaved family we record to-day the assing of Mary Dooley, darling child of Mr. J. M. Dooley of Pleasantville and the late Mrs. Dooley, whose death we referred to in yesterday's issue. The ending of this bright young life that was so full of promise, amid such pathetic circumstances, has struck the already grief-stricken family with unusual severity. Before the remains of her much beloved mother were con-signed to earth, the little girl, who was inconsolable since her mother's death, was seized with a hemorrhage which terminated fatally at 5 o'clock this orning.
