WEDNESDAY, Nov. 29th, 1916.

Jellicoe and Beatty.

Britons the world over will be pleased with the information contained in the early messages of today that the British Government has made Sir John Jellicoe First Sea Lord at the Admiralty Board. It looks as if public opinion in Great Britain has at last forced the Government to take steps to deal with the submarine menace, and it is very easy to associate Sir John Jellicoe's name with the Government's intention regarding that rather serious situation. It is no less gratifying that a man of Beatty's calibre should be appointed to the command of the Grand Fleet. He has, since the beginning of the war, been second in command, and conducted the operations in the Dogger Bank affair in January, 1915, and the Jutland Battle on May 31st last with great brilliancy. With such men in charge of naval affairs it will give Britons the world over a greater (if that were possible) confidence in the ability of the Grand Fleet to dispose of the enemy if he ever decides to come out of hiding and risk battle with our matchless fleet.

Poultry Show.

In opening yesterday evening's Poultry Exhibition at the Prince's Rink, His Excellency the Governor, Sir Walter B. Davidson, expressed the great pleasure it gave him. He spoke of poultry raising from an economic standpoint and congratulated the Nfld. Association and every member thereof for what they had accomplished in encouraging and fostering superior poultry breeding in this country, evidences of which he could see around him. He referred to the prominent place poultry raising was taking as a national industry, and in conclusion trusted that all would continue to manifest that keen interest which had characterized their good work thus far. His Excellency, accompanied by Lady Davidson, then spent an hour with other interested spectators, viewing the splendid exhibits. An outstanding feature of the display of birds is that some of the best of them came from Government House Lodge and were prize-winners.

The Show is pronounced to be the best yet. Altogether there were eight hundred birds on exhibition by some fifty persons, from the outports as well as the city and all the well-known breeds were represented, such as Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth and Barr'd Rocks, Wyandottes, Leghorns and Orpingtons. The customary displays of turkeys, geese and ducks and cages of fancy stock were also in evidence. Professor Frehill, of New Glasgow, Judge of the exhibits, paid a tribute to all interested here. He was favourably impressed with the whole show and agreeably surprised with the superior class of exhibits, which, he contended, would do credit to more pretentious towns than ours. Due to the untiring efforts of the Poultry Association, marked progress has been made in poultry raising, not only in St. John's but in the most remote sections of the outports as well. Hundreds of people visited the Rink last night and were delighted with what they saw. The show is being continued to-day. The awards and prize-winners will not be made known until Judge Frehill has finished his work, that being a new departure arrived at by the Committee.

Those present at the opening of the 5th annual Poultry Show, besides H. E. the Governor and Lady, who were received by Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, C.M.G., President of the Association, were Sir Edward Morris, Sir William Horwood, Hons. Blandford, Watson, Crobble and Messrs. R. B. Job and W. J. Higgins.

PREMIER ADDRESSES BOTWOOD CLUB.

Quite a large number of Botwood Club members and their friends met at the Botwood Hall last night and listened to an interesting address delivered by the Premier on the War and the part played by Newfoundland. At the close of the address a vote of thanks proposed by the Rev. H. Uphill, Rector of St. Mary's Parish, was tendered the lecturer. A free and easy hour then took place, Mr. G. B. Lloyd singing the Welsh National Anthem, "The Land of my Fathers" in both English and Welsh languages. Next Wednesday the club will hold a smoker.

To Purchase No More War Goods in U. S. A.

Great Britain and France Able to Manufacture All Supplies.

New York, Nov. 23. (Toronto Globe)
—Britain and France will no longer purchase munitions of war from the United States. Efforts are now being made to secure cancellation of previous contracts for arms and ammunition placed by Great Britain and France in this country. Hereafter Great Britain will be able to manufacture all supplies needed in the war with Germany except in cases of extreme emergency.

This fact became known in New York through sources from persons in personal touch with the British commissioners who supervise contracts and the purchase of munitions in this country. Attempts made by representatives of Britain and France in this country toward cancellation of all munitions orders have progressed to such an extent that Entente orders are now held in abeyance in several of the munitions factories.
