Seeing the benches almost empty, and forgetting where he was, he said to his feet and exclaimed: "Mr. Biggar, I move that the House be adjourned."

New York physicians, in investigating the increase in suicides in that city during the first quarter of the year, find it to be 25 per cent. Dr. Cyrus Eaton, of the health department, said: "The increase in suicides and insanity is doubtless due to the grip, which, being followed by nervous exhaustion, produces melancholia and then suicide. In the case of weak-minded people, who require only a small force to throw their intellects out of balance, nervous exhaustion produces that impulse, and insanity is the result. I have noticed the increase in suicides, both abroad and in this country, and it seems to me to come hand in hand with the grip. But this is only an off-hand opinion."

CATASTROPHE IN QUEBEC!

Longue Point Insane Asylum Falls a Prey to Flames.

About 1,800 People in the Building When the Fire Broke Out.

Probability that a Hundred Lives Will Be Lost—The Insane Become Unmanageable.

MONTREAL, Que., May 6.—Word has just been received in this city from Longue Point, nine miles east of Montreal, that the Insane Asylum is in flames. There are over 1,000 inmates confined in the institution. Help has been asked from this city.

1:45 p.m.—The insane asylum is fast burning to the ground, and in an hour more nothing will be left but the ruins of the walls. The fire commenced at 11:30 exactly.

At present, as near as near as can be calculated, there are from 100 to 150 inmates in the building who will be burnt to death.

BURNED TO DEATH. The fire apparatus is inadequate to control the flames. The sights in the grounds surrounding the institution beggar description. Hundreds of inmates, male and female, are grouped there, gibbering and in a frenzied condition. The nuns are going about them, trying to allay their fears, and they are being removed to places of shelter.

THE PATIENTS UNMANAGEABLE. The inmates in the grounds became unmanageable about 1 o'clock, and a detachment of Montreal police were sent for and in less than an hour were on the spot and relieved the already overtasked guardians. There were 1,300 inmates in the asylum at the time fire broke out.

He added that he could not but admire the treatment accorded to his daughter in America, which had been marked throughout by great delicacy. As for himself, he was out by great degrees from the kindness of American railroad men toward him. He refused to discuss the trial. Another Version of the Peters Trouble. To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:—

In referring to the paragraph in your paper of 5th inst. in which my name appears I beg to make the following statement: I lived on the place in question, the Peters homestead, all my life up to March 1887. I had my crops and stock raised on my own land and purchased with my own money, stored there. In my absence John took possession of the house and locked me out and then he put a man and his wife in possession with instructions not to let me in when I returned, but I had my hired man there looking after my stock all the time and I was there frequently myself. I did not want possession of the house or anything belonging to John. I was there on Saturday and made arrangements with a man to remove the stock Monday morning and put them out to pasture on my own land and then he put a man and his wife in possession with instructions not to let me in when I returned, but I had my hired man there looking after my stock all the time and I was there frequently myself. I did not want possession of the house or anything belonging to John.
