

Hon. David Mills Enters the Dominion Government.

Few men stand higher in Canadian public life today than Hon. David Mills, who will be sworn in this week as Minister of Justice of the Dominion of Canada. Occasionally, when a Premier asks one of his ablest supporters to join him as a Cabinet Minister, misgivings are expressed lest the choice may not be in every sense wise, but in the case of our esteemed fellow-townsmen, since it has been known that he had been definitely chosen to succeed the now Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario as Minister of Justice, and as leader of the Senate, there have been no criticisms of that description.

Hon. David Mills enjoys a reputation as a statesman second to none in the Dominion. He entered public life as a member of the House of Commons at Confederation, and for 30 years has been a prominent figure in the various Parliaments which have been called on to legislate for the Dominion. When first returned, he was one of the youngest members in the House, but he speedily took a prominent part in its debates. At each recurring general election, till 1896, he was re-elected by the people of Bothwell, among whom he was born and reared, and under ordinary conditions he would have been elected last year, but for the tactics of his opponents, who resorted to means of a most indefensible character to secure his defeat. Somewhat similar tactics had been previously adopted, but failed, through the hold which the honorable gentleman had on the affections of the electorate. On two occasions the opponents of Mr. Mills had the constituency gerrymandered. Each time it was confidently believed that the Liberal majority had been wiped out, but on election day it was found that it had been overcome by Mr. Mills, while other Liberal statesmen, similarly treated by their chivalrous opponents, were found among the slain. Once, through the gross misconduct of a returning officer, Mr. Mills was kept out of his seat for two sessions, the minority candidate being counted in. But the Supreme Court finally gave the honorable gentleman his rights. There is no doubt that had legal action again been resorted to last year, Mr. Mills would have been yet the member for Bothwell, but being offered a seat in the Senate, as a western representative, he entered that chamber, and at once took his rightful place as one of the leaders of his party. In the meantime, his name had been freely mentioned in connection with a prospective vacancy in the Supreme Court of Canada. Before the late Government went out of power, it was well understood that Mr. Justice Gwynne of that court had resolved to retire, being then over 80 years of age. He had leave of absence, at the end of which it was fully expected he would resign. Meanwhile, a new Government came into power, and if Justice Gwynne had contemplated resignation, he changed his mind, and returned to his duties, and is still a judge, at the age of nearly 84. That is probably the one reason which prevented the carrying out of a widely-expressed desire that the able services of Hon. David Mills should be directed into an exclusively judicial career.

For years the honorable gentleman has, as the leading authority on constitutional law in the Dominion, and it was generally recognized that a statesman with his ripened judgment, and vast experience in law-making, would be a distinct acquisition to the highest tribunal in the Dominion, before which so many questions with which he is entirely familiar are from time to time brought. However, when Sir Oliver Mowat consented to accept the position of head of the Government of Ontario, as representative of her Majesty, public opinion at once pointed to Senator Mills as pre-eminently fitted to succeed Sir Oliver as Minister of Justice, and Premier Laurier's choice of his old colleague for the vacant portfolio was ratified by public opinion with an unanimity that showed the wisdom of the selection.

Hon. Mr. Mills is no novice as a Minister. For some time he held the office of Minister of the Interior in the Government of Hon. Alexander MacKenzie, and proved a careful, yet progressive administrator. Prior to that time, he had done good service for his native Province, as a commissioner to define the northwestern boundary of Ontario, and he was one of the counsel in the argument before the Privy Council in 1884, which resulted in the vindication of the right of this Province to retain the great district of Northwestern Ontario, which the then Dominion Government was endeavoring to have wrested from it.

Whether as a private member or a Minister of the Crown, Mr. Mills has always taken an intelligent interest in the many and varied questions which have been brought before Parliament. An earnest student, a careful investigator, a man who would rather be right than popular, Mr. Mills has brought a matured mind to the discussion of every subject which has engaged his attention. Probably no man more fully enjoyed the confidence of members on both sides of the House than Mr. Mills. When he spoke, there were many listeners in the ranks of each of the parties into which Parliament was divided, for they well knew that the matter in hand would be treated in a statesmanlike manner. As it was in the House of Commons, so was it in the Senate last session—the first in which Mr. Mills had a seat in that chamber. In Hon. David Mills, therefore, the Government of Canada possesses a most suitable successor to Sir Oliver Mowat. We know that we voice the wishes of a very large number of the people of Western Ontario, who know the new Minister of Justice best, who admire him for his many estimable qualities, when we wish him every success and a long and honored incumbency of the high office to which he has now been called.

SELF-MURDER.

Five Cases of Suicide—Passion and Unrequited Love Among the Motives.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 18.—Charles M. Spencer, manager of the Postal Telegraph Company's office at Deadwood, S. D., shot himself in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Westville, Ind. The deed was committed while the congregation was singing and much excitement followed.

SUICIDE AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Benson Moore, 22 years of age, who worked in Musgrove's drug store, Bank street, was found dead in the bath-room of his boarding house yesterday. He left a note to his comrade, who boarded with him, stating that he was tired of life, and intended ending his existence. This he did by a dose of prussic acid.

SHOT HERSELF.

Shelburne, Nov. 18.—On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Skelving, wife of High County Constable Skelving, tried to commit suicide by shooting herself in the breast. Medical aid was hastily summoned, and the bullet was extracted, but the wound will probably be fatal.

TOOK POISON.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Edward Fink, 20 years old, waved at the sweetheart a hand containing a bottle of carbolic acid. "Hurrah, I'm off!" he shouted, and drained the contents. Fink stood opposite the home of Miss Minnie Peterson. She sat by the window watching her youthful lover, with whom she quarrelled. She saw him raise the bottle to his lips and heard his adieu. She saw him swallow the poison and fall to the ground. Then she rushed across the street and knelt by his side till an ambulance came. Fink died an hour afterward. The trouble started in a lover's quarrel Saturday night at a party.

A BOY'S BAD TEMPER.

Hamilton, Nov. 18.—While in a fit of bad temper, Charles Pedler, an 18-year-old son of Mr. Thomas Pedler, No. 9 Hilton street, committed suicide by hanging. The youth had a quarrel with his mother at the dinner table over a trifling matter, and Mrs. Pedler said she would tell her husband about his misbehavior when he returned from a wedding trip. The lad apparently got over his fit of bad temper, and shortly afterwards left the dining room. About twenty minutes after the boy's absence was noticed, his little brother ran into the house crying and said, "Charlie has killed himself in the woods." Mr. Pedler, who had just come in the house, ran to the shed and saw his son hanging from a rafter with a rope around his neck. He cut the lad down and tried to revive him, but all efforts to restore life were vain. The deceased had a violent temper, which he made little effort to curb.

GLADSTONE AND BISMARCK.

Both Suffering From the Same Malady, But the G. O. M. Seems to Have Five Years More to Live Than the German.

London, Nov. 18.—Both Gladstone and Bismarck are in poor health, if not actually in a precarious state. Both are suffering from the same ailment—chronic neuritis—and the difference in temperament of these two great men is remarkably exemplified in their differing conduct under similar circumstances.

Gladstone fully retains his interest in life, despite the trying malady. He is planning a new literary work and is preparing to start for the Riviera in search of a drier climate for the winter. He shows plainly at last all the signs of physical debility usual in extreme age. Bismarck, on the other hand, has grown so moody and exclusive that even his own family can hold little communication with him. He has refused positively to follow Dr. Schweidinger's advice to winter in Egypt, and the only way to obtain relief from constant neuralgic pains.

Lord Rosebery recently went from a visit to Gladstone in Fife to his mark at Friedrichsruhe. He told a friend afterward, that in his opinion, Gladstone had five more years of life in him, but Bismarck, because Gladstone is cheerful, contented and untroubled by worldly troubles, while Bismarck is morose and overwhelmed by gloom.

SPARED A TERRIBLE FATE.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Great Life Saver of the 19th Century—Bright's Disease Robbed of Its Terrors.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Local medical men, in common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveler of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and in other medicine Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any good." These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

A clear, bright brain, a cool head free from pain, and strong, vigorous nerves are requisite to success in modern life. A PLEASING EVENT.

Mr. G. B. Sippl Waited Upon by Many Local Musicians and Presented With a Cabinet of Cutlery.

A committee of musicians of the city a few days since waited upon Mr. Geo. B. Sippl, organist and choir-master of St. Paul's Cathedral, who was recently married, and presented him with a magnificent cabinet of sterling silver cutlery. This tangible expression of their esteem and respect was accompanied by the following address:

"Dear Sir—It is with much pleasure that we, the undersigned musicians, take this opportunity—such as has lately presented itself—of showing our exalted estimation of you, and your many estimable qualities and talents. We would therefore beg you to accept the accompanying gift as a slight token of our respect."

THE LATE PETER WESTON

His Funeral in the City—A Man of Sterling Character.

The remains of the late Peter Weston arrived from Chicago yesterday, and were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, the funeral taking place from the residence of his son, Mr. W. H. Weston, Stanley street, South London. Rev. Dr. Daniel officiated, assisted by Rev. J. G. Stuart, of Knox Church. The pall-bearers were Thomas and Edward Weston, of Chicago; Wm. McLeod, of this city; George Wigley, Toronto, and Edward Wigley, city. Among the relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weston, Mr. Ed. Weston and son, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wigley, of Toronto; and Amos Weston, of Tillamook, Ore. Many beautiful floral offerings were received from friends, of whom the late Mr. Weston had legion.

An outline of Mr. Weston's life has already been published in The Advertiser, and a few more details will be interesting to the many who knew and esteemed him. He was born in Nottinghamshire in July, 1819, as already stated, and lived for short periods in New York, Jersey City, Montreal and Toronto before coming to this section. In 1850 he left Toronto and took up land about twenty miles north of London, but at the solicitation of leading builders in this city, who prized his mechanical skill, he settled a few months later in London, and opened a wood-turning business on Fullarton street, where he remained for many years. He manufactured the wood work for St. Paul's Cathedral, and other leading buildings at that time. Later on he bought a site on the St. Catharines property, Dufferin avenue, and continued business there until ten years ago, when he entered the crockery trade, handling the factory output to his son, Mr. Thomas Weston. Shortly afterwards Mr. Weston retired from active life, and went to reside with his son, though frequently returning to his favorite city to visit relatives. He was one of the founders of the New Connexion Methodist Church, and was one of its local pillars until it merged in the Wesleyan body. He was a staunch and ardent supporter of temperance, and an enthusiastic advocate when the cause had fewer standard-bearers than now. He was a man of the strongest religious convictions, and had the courage to abide by them. A sterling character was his.

A LONG WAY OUT.

The Guess of an Alleged Clairvoyant Leads to Trouble.

Chatham, Nov. 18.—Some time ago thieves visited the homestead of Alex. Roberts, Jun., Dover township, and took, among other booty, a set of valuable harness. No trace of the robbers or their plunder was secured until yesterday, when the victim of the theft was interviewed by Miss Ouellette, the alleged clairvoyant. By the mysterious methods used by this young lady she indicated to Mr. Roberts that the stolen harness was secreted in the fourth house from the town line, on concession 7 of Chatham township.

Mr. Roberts made prompt use of his information, and, visiting Judge Houston, of Chatham, swore out a search warrant without notifying the judge of the source of his information.

Judge Houston placed the warrant in the hands of High Chief Constable Cogan, under whose directions it was promptly executed. Surprise overcame the officer when he found the house described to be that of Rev. Daniel Eady, one of the best and most highly respected of the township's residents. Mr. Eady, of course, respected the warrant, and allowed the fruitless search to be made, but at the same time he has intimated his intention of taking further steps in the matter.

Yesterday afternoon the return of the officer from his useless errand, that the authorities learned the source of Mr. Roberts' information, which was made known to Mr. Eady.

TWO PICTURES.

One Rich, Bright and Cheerful; the Other Gloomy, Dark and Muddy.

Forty-five samples of colored cloth are shown on the Diamond Dye sample card, from which can be produced over one hundred good, solid colors. Look upon your dyed goods with a brilliant and fast, showing just what any woman with ordinary intelligence can do with Diamond Dyes. This picture is number one.

The common imitation dyes, and dyes composed of soap grease as a principal ingredient, show but a dozen or fifteen colors, and so imperfect in color, tone and power that the small collection looks gloomy, despondent and sickly to any individual with a taste for the beautiful. This is picture number two.

To those who doubt we say, send your address to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, for a color card of Diamond Dyes; it will be sent free.

The Diamond Dyes being the easiest to dye with, give all the grand results in beauty and fastness of color that the heart can possibly desire.
