ANXIOUS DAYS FOR TAXPAYERS
British Budget Likely to Make Startling Proposals.

Talk of Duty on Foreign Timber and Iron Ore—War Expenditure $100,000,000 Less Than Last Year.

London, April 9.—The budget is to be introduced tomorrow, and there is considerable speculation as to its nature. Everything points to the levying of duties on some imported articles which have hitherto escaped impost. The timber trade is disturbed by a fear that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach intends to mulct foreign timber, but the rumor does not find much acceptance in the parliamentary lobby.

INCOME TAXPAYERS ANXIOUS.
Income taxpayers are dreading tomorrow. It is such simple finance to meet a deficiency in the budget by taxing the money which people earn, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach has yet to prove himself a financial genius.

INCREASED SUGAR DUTIES.
The prevailing impression is that some addition will be made to the duty on bounty-produced sugar, and the chancellor of the exchequer is being urged to grant at the same time rebate in favor of West Indian sugar.

A NEW LOAN.
There is almost certain to be a new loan. The general opinion in the city is that if peace is in sight the issue will be likely to take the form of a Transvaal loan, guaranteed by the government. But if, on the other hand, the negotiations should break down, the issue of consols or exchequer bonds is anticipated. The present large balance in the exchequer renders the government independent of immediate financial assistance, while conditions in the money market are not such as to offer any great inducement for the immediate flotation of a big loan.

DEBATABLE BUDGET.
Mr. Balfour's announcement that the budget will be debated for two days is regarded as indicating a very contrary view of the situation. According to the best opinions, the chancellor of the exchequer will not depart from his traditional policy of considering the war expenditure is estimated at £40,000,000, as against £20,000,000 last year, while the grant to the South African colonies is only £1,800,000, as against £6,500,000 last year. Altogether Sir Michael Hicks-Beach has to meet an estimated expenditure of £21,000,000, as against £20,000,000 last year. It is expected that the chancellor will endeavor to raise £2,000,000 by additional taxation, bringing the revenue, roughly speaking, up to £23,000,000, and that he will provide the remainder by a loan for the interest, on which he may possibly tap the resources of the Transvaal. A persistent rumor is current here that, besides timber, from ore will also be taxed.

THE CANADIANS FOUGHT AGAINST FEARFUL ODDS

Another Account of Hart's River Battle.

Small Body of Rifles Faced Seven Times Their Number.

The Second C. M. R. Appear To Be Separated in South Africa—Scouts Are Doing Good Work.

London, April 8.—The correspondent of the London Standard at Klerksdorp has cabled a graphic account of the battle at Dornbal farm, March 31, in which the British lost 8 officers and 24 men killed, and had 16 officers and 131 men wounded, while the Boers had 137 men killed or wounded.

A small force of Canadians and mounted infantry, the correspondent says, were opposed by

SEVENFOLD THEIR NUMBER.
Six hundred Boers charged, confidently calling upon them to surrender.

Lieut. Carruthers, of the Canadians, sprang to his feet, and exclaiming that he would not surrender, shot the foremost Boer with his revolver at a distance of fifteen paces.

The Canadians had no cover except the short grass. Lying prone upon the ground they fired steadily and forced the Boers to seek shelter of a screen of trees.

Many of the Boers climbed these trees and fired down on the Canadians. The latter kept the enemy at bay.

FOR TWO HOURS.
When all but fifteen of the British troops were killed or wounded, the Boers ventured another rush, and captured the handful of survivors.

Lieut. Carruthers was the only British officer who was not seriously wounded. He had several flesh wounds, but refused to go to a hospital. Some of the Boers wanted to shoot him when he was taken prisoner, but they ultimately thought better of this, saying, "He is too brave a man to die that way."

All of the dead men and most of the wounded had several wounds. THE SECOND M. C. R. SEPARATED.
Ottawa, April 8.—Dr. J. F. Dowling has received a letter from his son, Bud Dowling, with the second Canadian Mounted Rifles in South Africa. From the tenor of his letter it would seem that the men on the Manhattan and those who went by the Victoria are operating in different directions. If such were the case the Victoria men were not in the recent fight in which so many Canadians met their death. Dowling at the time of writing expected to be in the firing line within a week.

In conversation with the doctors at the hospital, Dowling was told that fighting would continue in South Africa for at least two years.

SCOUTS DOING GOOD WORK.
Ottawa, April 8.—Frank Newby, of the inland revenue department yesterday received a letter from Major Chas. Ross, D. S. O. of the Canadian Scouts, dated "Orange River Colony, on the trek, Feb. 28." Mr. Ross says, in the source of a very interesting letter, "A large number of the Boers are going the war should

DR. GRAHAM TOO SICK TO STAND TRIAL FOR MURDER

His Counsel Secures a Postponement.

Result of Going On With Trial Might Have Been Fatal.

Crown Recognized Validity of Reasons and Did Not Oppose the Application.

The criminal business of the spring assizes, which was expected to occupy nearly two weeks of the court's time, has instead taken up only a fraction of two separate days. This morning the Graham-Kilbourne murder trial joined the Sifton case on the list of postponed trials. Application for postponement was made by Dr. Graham's counsel, E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., on the grounds that Dr. Graham's health was so precarious that the result of going on with the trial would probably be his complete physical collapse, and possibly his death. Crown Prosecutor Riddell, recognizing the validity of the grounds advanced, did not oppose the application and an order was issued.

It was 9:45 before Chief Justice Falconbridge assumed the bench. The two prisoners were brought in at once. Dr. Graham seemed to have fainted somewhat since his appearance in police court at Waterloo, and it was evident that the illness spoken of by his counsel was affecting his stalwart frame. Miss Kilbourne, on the other hand, is apparently enjoying the best of health, and is quite a different person from the girl who, weak from her recent illness, had to be carried to and from the witness box at the inquest which preceded her arrest. She was neatly dressed in black, with a white lace collar and a short fawn coat.

E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., and as be over in two months. We captured over 500 Boers together with 23,800 sheep, the 1,000 horses and 47,000 sheep. We destroyed all the sheep, as they travel too slow."

AFTER DEWET.
We are just starting out on another trek after Dewet. His son and his secretary were captured with this last outfit. I am working in conjunction with Col. Rimmington. Every house in this part of the country has been destroyed. The last capture has been the worst blow the Boers have received for a long time. The fever here has been very bad of late, and I have lost one of my men. I have also lost a horse. I myself have escaped. Col. Steele is still in Pretoria, and living in Old Oom Paul's house. He is one of the best of the police. Lord Kitchener visited my camp this morning, and he commended the men under me for the good work that they had done. I now have about 600 men and 30 officers in my regiment, six Colt quick-firing guns, two pom-poms and a pack train of 70 mules. Quite a lot of the old Boers have returned here from Canada and from England, and have rejoined me, and they are all good fighters. I think you will find that a lot of the men will settle in this country when the war is over."

A DUTCH IDEA.
Berlin, April 8.—Dr. Kuyper, premier of Netherlands, yesterday frankly asserted that assurance of British support during the Spanish war were the price of America's non-intervention in South Africa.

"When trouble over Cuba came," said the premier, "I cannot believe America would have faced the war the natives of Europe would be kept at bay while she ridged the decrepit fleets of Spain."

The Negotiations.
PEACE NOT EXPECTED.
The Hague, April 8.—There is little faith among the Boer sympathizers here that peace is imminent in South Africa. Hisorts are hardened in consequence of the conference held here and at Utrecht, and the Boer envoys and refugees are asserting in a louder key than ever that the war will last four years longer, and there can be no peace without independence. The delegates returned, as they beheld Africa is matched by the assumption of their agents here that their deliverance is coming from England's foreign complicity, when there is not a cloud in the sky.

ILLUSIONS DISPELLED.
When the three Boer commissioners were sent to America it was assumed that a good case would be made out for an investigation of the military conduct of the war, and the shipment of supplies of horses and mules from the United States would be prohibited. These illusions were dispelled when the delegates returned, and a new fiction has been supplied. The Boer advocates are asserting that England is fatally embarrassed by her alliance with Japan, and certainly will be drawn into a war of tremendous magnitude in the far east. The Boer sympathizers are consequently justifying an indefinite continuance of the guerrilla warfare, and forecasting the ultimate triumph of the cause of independence when British troops cannot be spared from the larger theater of European operations.

NOTHING TO TELL.
London, April 8.—After the cabinet meeting today, A. J. Balfour, government leader in the House of Commons, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, in the House of Commons, that the government had no important information regarding the peace negotiations in South Africa.

Dr. Graham, while E. Meredith, K.C., represented the female prisoner, Miss Kilbourne.

Immediately after the opening formalities had been gone through, Crown Prosecutor Riddell asked that the prisoner, Alexander Graham, and Emma Agnes Kilbourne be arraigned on the charge of murdering the latter's infant child.

Both prisoners answered "Not guilty." Dr. Graham speaking in firm voice, while Miss Kilbourne's answer was almost inaudible.

The prisoners were then arraigned on a charge of procuring abortion, and both again pleaded "Not guilty."

Mr. Johnston then arose and stated that he had been entrusted with the conduct of Dr. Graham's case only last night. He had been informed that Dr. Graham's physical condition was such that the strain of undergoing trial and examination on the stand would be almost certainly in a serious and perhaps in a fatal outcome for his client. He therefore found it necessary to apply for a postponement of the trial of the charges against Dr. Graham, and Miss Kilbourne to the next court of competent jurisdiction. Dr. Graham was suffering from a dangerous malady, more dangerous than he himself considered it. It would be unfair to all parties to go on when Dr. Graham's collapse would prove prejudicial to the interests of the state. He believed that Dr. Graham will be a necessary and material witness. Mr. Johnston produced an affidavit which he thought would satisfy the court, and the crown, as the fairness of the application, and the justice of postponing it. Mr. Johnston suggested that with a view to perpetrating Dr. Graham's evidence in anticipation of a contingency which may or may not arise, he be examined by a commission appointed by the court. This examination would, of course, be used for the purposes of Miss Kilbourne's defense. In event of anything happening to Dr. Graham, his trial would be before a higher tribunal.

Mr. Meredith, on behalf of Miss Kilbourne, said that while he was otherwise quite prepared and willing to go on, he could not, in view of the materiality of Dr. Graham's evidence, do otherwise than join in the application, as his client's interests would certainly suffer should Dr. Graham be unable to give his evidence in her behalf. Crown Prosecutor Riddell, after stating that the crown was also ready to go on with the case, said that if the existing conditions were such as were indicated by counsel, he could not, in view of the gravity of the circumstances, oppose the application on behalf of Dr. Graham. In relation to Miss Kilbourne, he asked that Mr. Meredith make affidavit that Dr. Graham was to be called as a witness on her behalf, and on that being done, he would not oppose the application. The judge said the prisoner's solicitor could make it. Mr. J. M. McEvoy performed this duty, and the judge ordered a postponement of the case.

Dr. Graham immediately left the dock and the courtroom, but Miss Kilbourne remained for some time, seated on one side of the witness box. An order was also issued for a commission to examine Dr. Graham. Col. Macbeth will act as commissioner. Mr. Macbeth will represent the crown, and Mr. McEvoy will appear for the defense.

John and Jessie Clarke, now of Cleveland, the crown's principal witnesses, were bound in $500 each to appear at the trial when called, and give their evidence.

OTHER CRIMINAL CASES.
The next criminal case on the docket was that of Isaac Kersey, charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses from a local wholesale house. The case is an old one, this being the fourth assizes at which it has been called. Kersey's name was called three times, but there was no answer. No one expected any, for Kersey is in jail, having been sentenced on Saturday to seven years in penitentiary for robbing the mails at Edy's Mills. Mr. Riddell asked that his recognizance be estreated, but the judge would not do so under the circumstances, as Kersey was not absent because he wanted to be. The case was transferred to the next assizes.
