The largest sailing ship in the world, the Norwegian bark Bell, hailed from Point Breeze for Yokohama, Japan, on May 11, with 149,000 cases of refined petroleum, 3,000 cases of naphtha and 300 cases of tops. The Bell was formerly the British bark Brilliant, afterwards sold to the Germans, and following her capture by a British cruiser, sold, under a prize court ruling, to her present owners.

This department is conducted by the Local Union, and is under the charge of an editor appointed by them. This Editor assumes the responsibility for the statements and articles which appear in this column.

The members are reminded that the next meeting June 25th, is the annual meeting. Superintendents are asked to have their reports ready. A full attendance is urged, that there may be no difficulty in finding heads of departments for the ensuing year. The programme committee will also be elected. The committee in charge of the Pledge work asked permission to hold over their final report until the 25th, as the returns from the various churches were not yet complete. The fact that the 11th was Flower Mission Day also left very little time for discussion of other work. Bouquets were prepared for sick and shut-ins, under the direction of Mrs. Blackhall and Mrs. Morton.

The following lines contain a plea for the Bulletin which is worth considering. Mrs. A. G. Adams will receive subscriptions, new or renewal.

Press Report

After speaking of work done, Mrs. Mitchell says: If each Union would from time to time put an item about your work in the County papers, it would be of interest and encouragement to others and keep our work before the public which means more than we realize oftentimes. Also, if you would send reports of your work—a special social or meeting held, a copy of some paper read at one of the meetings, etc., to our "White Ribbon Bulletin," it would encourage the Editor and give added interest in the paper to our local membership.

Sisters, you are missing more than you know if you are not taking the "White Ribbon Bulletin." It is a little gem. I always sit right down and look through mine as soon as it comes into the home. Then when I have plenty of time and quiet I sit down and digest it. It is something you owe the Executive, something you owe your own society, something you owe yourself.

None of us want to be dummies, mere figure-heads; unless we read on current topics, how can we be otherwise? How anxiously we scan the daily papers for the war news. One sister said to me, "my eyes are giving out. I read two or three daily papers, every word, yet that same sister does not take the Bulletin," a monthly paper, has not time to read it. How can we talk intelligently, much less vote intelligently on questions that come up before our Unions from time to time. I wish every society would adopt the $1 membership fee. Then the Bulletin would be in every home where there is a White Ribboner.

Reasons—Pro and Con.

At a recent State Convention, With the very best intention, Each a statement was asked to make. Why "The Bulletin" she didn't take.

If perchance she didn't, Though 'twill hardly be believed, This list of reasons was received:

Why she didn't! "So much to read, I have no need. Take so many, don't read any. Too much to do, I can't get through. I move around from town to town. I take the 'News' is my excuse. My window flowers employ my hours. To much for pills and doctor's bills. Such heavy tax that won't relax. My church dues make me refuse. Prefer to dress, why, I guess. I can't yet, I do regret. I know 'tis good, and wish I could. Would like to, dear, but not this year. I simply won't, that's why I don't."

Why She Did: Then turning to the ladies dear, What takes the paper every year? What think you of the Bulletin's great, And why you take it, please relate. With beaming face and sparkling eye, They all were eager to reply; 'Tis just the thing success to bring, It tells the ways of work that pays. It brings to view so much that's new. Full of suggestion on every question. Merits first score on temperance lore. Its aim is high, the whole world dry. 'Tis easy read, tho' much is said. The suffrage vote 'twill always note. Shows how to live, good health to give. It advertises no surmises. The stories, too, are always true. It is so nice, well worth the price. Won't regret it if you get it.

(Substitute "Bulletin" for Signal and then see which list of reasons is the best.)

A. H. LEWIS, Cor.-Secy. N. S.
Apropos of the fact that the annual election is so soon to take place, the following lines are commended to the earnest study of Union members; of all Union members. They were printed in a child's paper, but the idea is worthy the attention of older people as well.

Somebody Else
Who is Somebody Else? I should like to know.
Does he live in the North or the South?

Or is it a lady fair to see,
Whose name is in everyone's mouth?
For Meg says "Somebody Else will sing,"

Or "Somebody Else can play,"
And Jack says, "Please let Somebody Else
Do some of the errands to-day."

If there's a shy hard or unpleasant task,
Or difficult thing to do,
'Tis always offered to Somebody Else;
Now, isn't this very true?

But if some fruit or a pleasant trip
Is offered to Dick or Jess,
We hear not a word about Somebody Else.

Why? I will leave you to guess.
The words of cheer for a stranger lad,
This Somebody Else will speak;
And the poor and helpless who need a friend

Good Somebody Else must seek.
The cup of cold water in Jesus' name,
Oh! Somebody Else must offer;
And brave words of love for a broken heart

Brave Somebody Else will proffer.
There are battles in life only we can fight,
And victories, too, to win,
And Somebody Else cannot take our place

When we shall have entered in.
But if Somebody Else has done his work,
While we for our ease have striven,
'Twill be only fair if the blessed reward
To Somebody Else is given.

GERMANS OVERCONFIDENT

No Secret That German Soldiers and Russian Prisoners Are Sowing Wheat on Invaded Territory

What will the harvest be when the ripe heavy russet heads of the full-grained wheat hang in the August sun?

Unmindful of the ominous grinding forward of the Allies the Germans are actually sowing the fields behind their lines of entrenchment, and with all the assurance of peace times that they will harvest the grain despite the grim lines wearing them backward, inch by inch, towards those green fields upon which many of these farming soldiers will later hear the last reveille, perhaps before the grain is grown.

The British flag will not stop this side of the Rhine, nor may it stop there if wisdom dictates its further advance, for the Union Jack's import on European soil today is to make the state of the unbidden guests in France and Belgium as brief as the lavish expenditures of treasure and the courage of its battalions can accomplish.

In France and Belgium the Union Jack is held in as reverent esteem as their own national banners, for British colors backed by British courage, in which Canadians are playing a most meritorious part, stand as a bulwark between them and the monstrous foe to liberty.

Every home in Canada should show the Union Jack from their front. The Graphic's generous offer to supply Flag Outfits on practically gift terms is set forth fully on another page of to-day's issue. Hundreds have secured and hung out these flags already, hundreds more are arriving for distribution. Get your flag outfit to-day—if you have one set another, but take advantage of this excellent opportunity while you can secure such an excellent Union Jack, pole, halcyons and window socket, at the small

AMERICAN REPLY

BRIEF AND POINTED

Kaiser Must Say Whether or not He Will Obey International Law

Washington, June 4.—The American government's rejoinder to the recent German note concerning the sinking of the Lusitania was ready to be laid before the cabinet today. President Wilson drafted the communication itself. It is short and to the point.

It asks definitely whether Germany intends to be guided in the future by the humane principles embodied in international law for the conduct of maritime warfare.

The dispatch of the note to Berlin only awaits cabinet approval. With its transmission, a personal representative of Count Von Bernstorff the German ambassador will leave for Berlin to personally outline to the German government officials, the situation in the United States as respecting public opinion towards the German government, and to explain the American point of view on submarine warfare, as gleaned by the ambassador from his conference on Wednesday with President Wilson.

Foreign governments have given assurances of safe conduct for the emigrant at the request of President Wilson.

Vera Cruz, June 4.—President Wilson's note to General Carranza and the leaders of other Mexican factions was published without comment in the newspapers here last night. It was received calmly by the public and apparently was regarded with indifference by groups of persons who gathered in cafes to discuss its contents.

For ALL REPAIRING
One of the largest ships in the British navy does not fight, but it always accompanies the fleet in actual warfare. This ship is the Ark Royal and the most unique in the world. She is the last word in special units, and is the present time located off the Dardanelles. She is a floating aeroplane factory, and carries spare propellers, wings, floats, and every conceivable part of a hydroplane or seaplane. Great Britain is the first navy in the world to possess such a ship. These flying machines accompanying the fleet, can be repaired and practically re-built right on the ground, by means of this mother ship.

Another famous ship, and which does not fight, attached to the navy, is H.M.S. Cyclops. She is nothing more or less than a huge dockyard foundry, employing three hundred skilled mechanics, in addition to the crew necessary to sail the ship. She does not carry a gun, because every inch of room is required for machinery. Every battleship has a small workshop, but it cannot do big repairs or casting as a battleship's propeller can be made. In the ship are huge cupolas or domes for smelting and casting, stretched away above the deck like huge mushrooms. Over the bow of this ship hangs a huge anchor, made of wood. This is a template for casting a complete anchor should one of the war ships lose one. In addition to her huge repairing plant, the Cyclops carries a vast distilling apparatus to supply fresh water to all the ships in the fleet. She is fitted up with ice-making machines and refrigerating rooms in which fresh meat is stored for the crews of those small craft, like submarines, torpedo boats and destroyers and small cruisers, which can not be so fitted. The Cyclops is five hundred feet long, and at the time she was built was the first of her type and size in the world.

There is also another ship of the same class, called the "Assistance," but she is not so large.

There is still another called the Vulcan, of 7,000 tons displacement, which has ability to cruise 10,000 miles without re-coaling. This latter ship has two huge cranes, worked by hydraulic, which are large enough to lift a small vessel clean out of the water on to the dock within half a minute. These cranes are fastened to the keel of the repair ship, to prevent her tipping over when lifting a large vessel.

These facts possibly throw light for the general reader upon many matters connected with the royal navy, which must have suggested thought at times.
