Particular attention should be paid, in every home, to the care of shoes. Where there are children there is generally an accumulation of shoes partly worn and wholly worn, and these are all thrown in the bottom of the closet together and must be assorted when wanted. When taken out they are sometimes mouldy, because they are thrown in when damp and dirty. Many of these are of no earthly use to the possessors, but are hoarded up with the idea that same day they will be needed; yet rarely is this true, as they are put away in such a rough condition that when taken out they are generally unfit for use. Shoes that are worn regurlarly, if cared for, will last much longer than if neglected. A French kid shoe, if kicked around on the closet floor or under the bed, will not last as long or look as well as one inferior in quality if properly cared for. When shoes are taken off they should be wiped with a soft cloth, and after airing a little while, oiled or polished and put in a box by themselves, or a shoe-bag, and when wanted for use can be taken out ready for wear. It is not advisable to use much of the dressing so fashionable for ladies' and children's his honor remembered the days of his youth and sustained the objection.—Preston, N. and ruin it.
