

The plums are picked by gangs of men in the orchard as shown in Fig. 1008, and brought to the fruit-house for packing. Mr. Cline's sons take charge of the work to a large extent, and superintend the packing and shipping.

FIG. 1008.—PICKING PLUMS IN MR. CLINE'S ORCHARD.

Mr. Cline's fruit-house (Fig. 1009) is simple in construction, and quite inexpensive, costing only about $300 complete. The main part is 24 x 36, built
