BUFF LEGHORNS (EXCLUSIVELY.)

I was one of the first to import this noble breed to the Pacific Coast, and after three years experience have decided to keep no other variety. I won first on cockerel and first and second on pullet at the Victoria show, January, '93. My stock is from the most noted breeders in the east and is as good as any. Eggs reduced to July 1st, to $2.50 per sitting of 15, guaranteed fresh and true to name, and 10 or more chicks to the sitting.

I want money Dry weather has burnt up our grain, and frost has injured my fruit crop. So NOW IS YOUR TIME TO BUY

EGGS { from choice } BUFF LEGHORNS and - - - - { pens of.... } SILVER SEBRIGHT BANTAMS.

I have THREE PENS OF BUFFS.

Pen No. 1 is headed by cock I bought of A. Armstrong that took 2nd prize at State Poultry Show in Feb., '04, and won silver cup as the best California-raised Buff Leghorn Cock on exhibition.

Pen No. 2 is headed by fine dark male, raised by F. A. Stewart of Michigan, who took 1st on Pen at the World's Fair.

Pen No. 3 is headed by dark chestnut cock of my own raising. Eggs from this pen are in reach of every one—I put them down so that you could buy them. They have all the merits of fancy birds, and I know, if you buy them you will send to me in the future for better eggs or Fancy Males to mate with your Pullets.

My Pen of SILVER SEBRIGHT BANTAMS is the best on the Coast, scoring 94 and 95 points, and were imported direct from Massachusetts.

I am in the business to stay I WANT YOUR CUSTOM IN THE FUTURE. So you can rely on square dealing now.

Buff Leghorn Eggs: Pen No. 1, $3.50; Pen No. 2, $2.50; Pen No. 3, $1.50.
 Buff Cochin Eggs, $2.00 per 15; Bantam Eggs, $3.00; White Guinea Eggs, $1.50 per 15. Fifty cents off on each additional setting in same order from different pens.
