Electrical Inspector Adams Dies

From Sun Nanaimo Bureau
NANAIMO—James Richard (Dick) Adams, 79, local electrical inspector, died Wednesday in Nanaimo Hospital.

He was born in Nashville, Tenn., and came to Nanaimo in 1930. Mr. Adams served his apprenticeship in Missouri with Kemlock Phone Company and was with the San Francisco Sunset Telephone Company when the famed earthquake occurred.

Mr. Adams was field man for Canadian Utilities here.
The firm had head offices at the time in Calgary. He started the first power line between Luncan and Nanaimo while a fireman in the "hungry 30s."

He retired from the British Columbia Power Commission in June.

He lived with Mr. and Mrs.
Mark Fontana 26½ years and they were his "dearest kin." Latterly he will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in Westwood Funeral Chapel by C. G. Piper, preceding cremation.
