Thus, through the use of a Mer-cantile Agency they have been able to buy goods or obtain consignments when there was no chance of paying for them, and are therefore under a lasting obligation to these miserable American Mercantile Agencies. Every person that has spoken favourably of the Mercantile Agencies has been obliged to withdraw from discussion, well know-ing (if they know anything at all about them) that the system cannot be defended without the defender becoming a party to help those who regularly help the dishonest.
