Canada's financial contribution to the United Nations

(Revised October 1979)

The Department of External Affairs and International Trade is pleased to announce the publication of this report on Canada's financial contribution to the United Nations. The report is available in both English and French.

The report provides a detailed overview of the United Nations budget and the various funds and programmes. It also outlines the process of contributions and the impact of Canada's support on the United Nations' work.

The following are the main findings of the report:

- The United Nations budget has increased significantly over the years, reflecting the growing needs of the organization.
- Canada's contributions to the United Nations have grown steadily, demonstrating our commitment to international peace and security.
- The report provides a breakdown of contributions to various funds, including the United Nations Trust Fund for Africa, the United Nations Environment Programme, and the United Nations World Food Programme.
- The report also includes a section on the United Nations' financial performance and the challenges it faces in meeting its budget requirements.
