Sir Arthur W. Currie,
McGill University,

Dear Sir: —

Professor Hendel of Princeton has told me that he is applying for the chair of Moral Philosophy in McGill University, and I am glad to support his candidacy to the best of my ability. He has proved himself a successful teacher here and has been particularly valuable to the philosophical department (of which I was for some years a member) by his powers of administration and organization. His recent work on Heine is evidence of his scholarship and has received favourable attention in Germany.

I have the honour to be,

Very respectfully yours,

Paul E. More.
