YORK COUNTY ...AND... SUBURBS

GOVERNMENT MUST CARRY ON WORK

W. F. Maclean, M.P., Emphasizes Need for Action to Help Unemployed.

CEDARVALE MEETING

New Conservative Association Addressed by Local Members.

There was a large attendance at the inaugural meeting of the Cedarvale Conservative Association in the new hall of the Church of the Resurrection last night.
Among those on the platform were: W.
F. Maclean, M.P.; Geo. S. Henry, M.L.A.; Hon. J. E. Maclean, H. H. Ball, Robert Maclean of the township council, and Geo.
H. Moss, Jr., president of the Toronto Conservative Association.

"What is to be done for the unemployed?" was the theme of Mr. Maclean's speech. Altho some of the unemployed was caused by the European war, he thought that much of it was the outcome of the era of over-speculation thruout the Dominion has just passed.

Parliament's Duty.
In consideration of the Dominion's attitude to the motherland relative to the war, the member for South York said:
"The main thing the country has to do is to carry on her share in this great war. It is the duty of parliament to vote the money needed to carry on the war." He said that in two or three days there will be another source of financial assistance.

In connection with the recent charges made regarding the equipment of our soldiers, Mr. Maclean said: "To cheat the soldiers going to the war by supplying bad equipment is terrible, and these charges should be thoroughly investigated." Touching upon the financial stringency, he said a banking policy has to be drawn up for the people, not the banks.

Practically a Unit.
Geo. S. Henry, M.L.A., in opening, referred to the death of Sir James Walter, and said that in his successor, the Hon. W. H. Hearst, the province had practically a new man in the legislature had practically been diluted, and when the next session was held there will be little or no continuity. In regard to the alien question, he said that he was able to sympathize with President Palmer in saying that foreigners were needed in universities; but he did not interpret the feeling of the people. He did not want to see Sir Edmund Osler's resignation accepted.

Mr. Maclean was most emphatic in regard to the employment of aliens.
He said that a foreign professor could not teach young boys without creating in their minds a certain feeling towards his country and their ideals.

Mr. Maclean wanted to know why the German professors at the university should be allowed to go free, while others of their fellow countrymen, the kind that came to a day, were interned in Stanley Barracks.

Imported Experts.
In conclusion Mr. Maclean referred to the importation of experts into the country by the government, and he said that the Toronto-Hamilton railway, "I think in Canada cannot produce men to lay concrete pavement from here to Hamilton, then God help Canada," he said.

Mr. Ball in outlining the constituency of South York since the redistribution stated that there were now thirteen Conservative Associations being conducted.
He said that he had some interesting recollections of campaigning for the last party years ago.

Two resolutions were adopted, one to the effect that the German professors be discharged and the other urging Canadians to buy "Made-in-Canada" goods.

Association Growing.
The association has now a roll of a hundred, and its officers are: Honorary President, W. F. Maclean, M.P.; George S. Henry, M.L.A.; and John Harris; president, A. C. Jennings; vice-president, R.
Green; secretary, W. H. Moss; treasurer, A. E. Smith, and convenor of executive, A. E. Smith.

At the annual meeting of Lodge Coleridge, S.O.E., 356, the following officers were elected: President, F. Ward; vice-president, S. Rowe; chaplain, G. M.
Jennings; W. H. Moss; treasurer, A. C. Jennings; and 1st committeeman, A. C. Jennings.

The Ladies' Guild in connection with the Church of the Resurrection will hold their annual entertainment and supper dinner in the basement of the church.
An excellent program of songs, tableaux and a dialog has been drawn up.

DENTAL BRIDGEWORK

ONLY RELIABLE CLUE
Inquest Held Over Remains found in Ashes of Anderson's Barn at Fairbank.

The remains of the unfortunate man whose remains were discovered in the ashes of a barn near Fairbank are now being examined at the coroner's establishment. The barn was burned the night of the fire and the remains were found in the ashes. The coroner will hold an inquest on the remains on Tuesday next. Two gold teeth and a considerable amount of bridgework in the jaw of the skull makes the task of identification somewhat easier. The barn soon over half a mile away from any other building and was filled with hay and grain. Its loss is covered by insurance.

men are looking forward to some rifle practice and training this winter.

Avenue Methodist Sunday school gave a

"He Came to Earth but Not As King." The singing chorus was excellently rendered.

CANDIDATES ADDRESS

OSSINGTON RATEPAYERS Ossington District Ratepayers passed a resolution last night in support of the re-election of Ald. Meredith.

J. M. Warren, addressing the meeting, said that better business administration was required at the city hall, and promised, if elected, to assist to the utmost in bringing about reform. "A revision of the assessment should be made which would be spread equally over the whole city," he said. Regarding the appointment of a fair-wage officer, Mr. Warren thought that, if bylaws existed governing the amounts to be paid to employees, he considered it would be useless to appoint such an official. If, on the other hand, there were no regulations governing wages, then an officer was required, and he would support the proposal.

EARLSCOURT

Controller J. O. McCarthy, Ald. F. S.
Spence, Jos. Gibbons and W. R. McKenzie, candidates for the city council, will civic line down Lansdowne avenue, and the special assessment on property benefited by the proposed road thru Prospect Cemetery will be discussed.

evening in the Salvation Army Citadel, St. Clair avenue, Earls Court, Mrs. Myhill, rendering several solos. W. J. McKenzie, pied the chair.
