

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	PAGES
INTRODUCTION . . . . .	1-6
CHAPTER I
WORDSWORTH'S STATESMANLIKE QUALITIES	7-17
i. His natural gifts . . . . .	7-9
ii. Combined advantages both of property and of wealth	9-11
iii. Neither a Whig nor a Tory . . . . .	12-16
iv. Knowledge of France . . . . .	17
CHAPTER II
WORDSWORTH'S KNOWLEDGE OF FRANCE .	18-52
i. Acquisition of knowledge . . . . .	18-21
ii. Thoughts on Revolution . . . . .	21-52
A. Joy of revolutionary dawn . . . . .	21-33
B. Massacres of September and Reign of Terror .	33-48
C. The fall of Robespierre and effect on the judgement of Wordsworth . . . . .	48-52
CHAPTER III
DEVELOPMENT OF WORDSWORTH'S POLITICAL CONVICTIONS (1792-1802) . . . . .	53-70
Gradual development under . . . . .	53-54
i. Declaration of war between England and France .	54-58
ii. France becoming assailant of national liberty .	58-59
iii. Influence of Burke's teaching . . . . .	59-70
CHAPTER IV
THE STATESMANSHIP OF WORDSWORTH (1802- 1815) . . . . .	71-93
A. The state of England (1802-1815) . . . . .	71-75
B. The nature of Wordsworth's statesmanship . . .	75-93
i. General character of statesmanship (Nationalism) .	76-85
ii. Specific principles of Wordsworth's Nationalism .	86-93
First: National independence of every European State source of every other blessing . . . . .	86-88