LEAVES THE COUNCIL TO THINK IT OVER.

Ald. Crane Claims It Was All Fixed, and Ald. Dunn Cries "Politics."

Ald. Lamb said he was not in favor of a high-salaried official for this position. While he recognized that his Worship was very clever in municipal government, still he had qualities that would not add to his ability as an assessor. If the Mayor was willing to accept the position at a fairly low salary to begin with ne had no doubt but that the Council would increase the salary if his Worship proved himself deserving of it for results attained. While there was no doubt that the Mayor was a success in that position, he would be somewhat of an experiment as Assessment Commissioner.

at once:

"You can settle that matter as far as I am concerned in two minutes." said his Worship, addressing the Council. "I may tell you that I would not accept the position at a low salary nor in the expectation of an increase later on. I don't look upon my acceptance of the office as an experiment."

Ald. Lamb had something more to say. He thought Mr. Forman's services were deserving of recognition, and if his salary was increased and the Mayor also there at a big salary the citizens would not approve of such expense.

Several of the Mayor's friends in Council commenced to heap praise and flattery upon him; and his Worship, modest man that he is, called Ald. Lamb to the chair and left the Council chamber.

Poor man! He had given them his ultimatum and they could think it over.

They Want a Good Man.

Ald. Rutter admired the Mayor's frank-ness and thought the best man available should be selected and given a good sal-ness and thought the best man available should be selected and given a good salary.

Ald. Preston's idea was that the best man was none too good for this position. The city's business should be conducted as well as that of any private corporation or institution, and the only way to do this was to place the best man obtainable at the head of each department. The revenue of the Province, but the city's business had been conducted badly in many instances.

"A contemptible Scheme."

Ald. Crane the ntook the floor. He was mad all over.

"What is the use of appointing this committee?" he asked. "It's all fixed. It's all a farce. This is a contemptible scheme."

Ald. Maughan recommended Mr. Forman, and no one can deny that Mr. Forman is capable of filling the position. The Mayor may be a good man, but he has no right to gobble up the rights of any official."

Ald. Hubbard was quite willing to let the special committee confer with the Mayor. As for himself, he would vote for the applicant whom he thought would best fill the position.

Ald. Sheppard remarked that Mr. Forman light excursion to Richmond Hill (the The applicant whom he thought would best fill the position.

Ald. Sheppard remarked that Mr. Forman in his opinion was a good office man, but not strong enough for the vacant position.

Ald. R. H. Graham spoke very briefly. The Mayor might be a better man than Mr. Forman, but he was not prepared to pay an extravagant salary to anyone.

Ald. Dunn: This is politics of the worst kind. [Cries of Oh! Oh!] No one can deny that it is politics." He was not surprised that Ald. Crane should consider the whole matter fixed, when one looked at the complexion of the special committee.

Ald. Crane: I think Ald. Dunn is wrong about the politics. Many of the Mayor's opponents want him out of the way. You know that.

There was considerable discussion as to the first to break the silence. He jumped up and expressed the pleasure he felt at the Mayor's decision to accept the office. It would put an end to a "long-vexed question, and he felt that his Worship was just the man for the position.

Ald. Sheppard agreed with Ald. Hallam that the Mayor's decision would put an end to a "long-vexed question"—a question as to whether Toronto was going to nave him forever as Mayor. (Hear! hear! and laughter.) He moved that Ald. Leslie, Beaic, Preston, Lynd, Burns and the mover be appointed a special committee to confer with the Mayor as to the salary and the duties to be assumed.

Ald. Hallam (excitedly): I should be on that committee. I am the oldest member of Council.

Ald. Sheppard: I have chosen one from each ward.

I amb Says a Ward. Engineer's Becariment Salaries.

The Board of Control's recommendation that the sum of $4000 be restored to the appropriation for salaries in the Engineer's Department slipped through in Committee of the Whole, but in council Aid, Gowanlock spoke at some length against the recommendation and moved that it be struck out and that the board make the reduction ordered by council. The motion was lost on the following vote:

Yeas—Aid, Lynd, Russell, Burns, Hubbard, Gowanlock, Spence, Scott and the Mayor—8.

Nays—Aid, Lamb, R. H. Graham, Leslie, Rutter, Dunn, Shaw, Saunders, Carlyle, J. J. Graham, Woods, Beele, Frame, Preston, Crane and Sheppard—15.

Toxing Areas. Toxing Areas.

The recommendation of the Committee on Works that areas be taxed as follows: Eight cents per square foot per annum in the business portion of the city and four cents in the outlying districts, caused a long discussion. Aid. Burns, Carlyle and Rutter opposed the recommendation, but after a long discussion, as amended by Aid. Spence to the effect that the charge in the centre of the city be not more than eight cents and in the outlying districts not more than four cents. ents and in the outlying districts not note than four cents.

Dear Sir,—I think it well to call your attention to a rumor on the streets to-day that the annual report of your association has been placed with The Toronto World at a large figure.

It is hardly necessary to expatiate to you upon the remarks made by the newspaper men upon the peculiarity of the course adopted by your people in New York in placing their favors. You know The World, none better. You also know that the three morning papers in the city—The Mail, Globe and The Empire—are those which have standing in this country. You are also aware that The Mail has of all Ontario papers by far the largest circulation, the highest standing. And that of all the morning papers and the smallest circulation, the lowest standing is that of The World, which has been selected by your head office as their representative in this country. As I said before, the newspaper men make very peculiar remarks about such a course, and the general public is very apt to follow sait.
