WHAT'LL THEY SAY? When the stars of today are all finished And the cheers of the crowd seek the new, I'll be thinking of Tyrus the Terror

And the stuff that he used to put through: As I turn to the fans all around me Loud boosting their present star host, Will they sneer in derision, I wonder, If I happen to mention the Ghost?
As they cheer for their own bally wonders Will they call me a pink-eyed zob If I try to horn in with some prattle

SEPTEMBER ROUND-UPS.

There have been a few historic September upsets, but as a rule the ball club reaching September with a fair lead has managed to wiggle through and reach the mainland without disaster.

The most historic upset of them all was in 1908, when the Giants had the Blackwell.

DIAMOND FREAKS.

Sir: Seeing that you have been cataloguing diamond freaks, consider this entry: On April 29, 1907, in a grame at the Polo Grounds between the Giants and Boston, the Giants received four passes, stole five bases and Boston made an error, all in one inning—yet the Giants scored but one run out of the ten bases gained. How? Shannon was out on a ground ball. Strang walked, but Devlin flied to third. Strang stole and on a bad throw by the catcher went to third. walked, and with Strang executed a double steal, Strang scoring. Bresnahan walked, and he, with Seymour, executed another double steal. UMPIRE FORFEITS GAME TO CHICAGO IN TENTH INNING

Cleveland Players Lose by Protesting Decision and Delaying Game.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 .- With the score tied at 3 to 3, Umpire Brick Owens forfeited today's game to Chicago 9 to 0, in the tenth inning because of the dilatory tactics of the Cleveland players. As a result Chicago is now seven games ahead of Boston in the pennant

The Cleveland players protested Owen's ruling in the tenth, when, with two men on bases and no one out, he called Graney out in a close play at third base. The game was delayed for ten minutes because of arguments. When the Cleveland players finally resumed play they hurled their gloves in the air and two or three of them rolled into the dirt to express their displeasure. pleasure.
After Pitcher Danforth, the first man up in Chicago's half of the tenth had struck out Catcher O'Neill, of Cleveland, deliberately threw the ball into centre field, whereupon Owens forfeited the game.
