General Manager E. V. Buchanas said today that this seemed a little unfair. Some of the reduction should be borne by the factories, he thought. This would by the factories, he thought. This would give domestic consumers a short period in the day when they could use electric appliances which are almost useless under the present conservation system. Prospects are not bright for improved conditions. As long as skies are cloudy and there is a minimum of sunshine a maximum of electric power will be demanded. While this increased demand is comparatively small in each municipality, it is a heavy drain when applied all over the Niagara district. Available power was just sufficient to meet demands so long as bright weather continued.

Appeals To French Canadians To Remain In Own Province

Quebec, Oct. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Under the heading: "Let Us Stay at Home," Le Soleil and l'Evenement yesterday published the following article: "A campaign is now being carried on in certain parts of the Province of Quebec to attract French-Canadians to the colonization regions of New Ontario.

'We wish to warn our fellow-citizens against this campaign and those who are conducting it. We have in our good old province farms in abundance and of great fertility. There is no reason for adventure in another province when one is certain of success at home.

"It would, moreover, be unjust to forget that in Quebec there is no school problem or language question, and that French-Canadians enjoy certain essential liberties which are refused them elsewhere."

Several Thefts Attributed to

Boys Reported in the County.

Juvenile crime is increasing in Middlesex County, according to Deputy Sheriff Ben Watterworth. Several cases of theft attributed to young boys are now being investigated by the county constables. The house of T. Smith, at the Richmond "V." between Broughdale and Masonville, was recently entered, and some jewel boxes broken open, various pieces of jewelry disappearing.

The home of Mrs. Cudney at Komoka was entered some time ago and a watch was found missing. Later the watch was found in the possession of a girl who had traded a bicycle for it. The boy from whom the girl got it had got it from another boy.

Some of the juvenile alleged culprits will likely appear in court shortly, but the constables are still investigating; a number of cases, in which the property stolen has changed hands so many times that it is not easy to decide just who purloined it in the first place.
