Place Flags At Halfmast

In very few instances are flags placed at half mast correctly, and it may therefore be stated that the flag should be hoisted to the mast head and then lowered, but not more than the width of the flag from the top of the pole. A flag placed lower than this is very unsightly; the ballards should be gathered in tightly, keeping the flag close to the flagstaff; all flags should be lowered at sunset each day.

POLICE COURT; THREE THEFT CASES UP

Smith is Given Three Months—Evidence in Alexander and Hazlewood Cases

Three theft cases were dealt with this morning by Judge Ritchie in the police court. Murray Alexander, charged with stealing a horse and pig from his father, James Alexander, and Edward J. Hazlewood charged with breaking and entering a charge of stealing $21 from L. C. Bullock, clerk in the Ottawa Hotel.

The case against Alexander was first taken up. His father said that on missing his horse from his barn on Monday last, he notified the police, and with Detective Killen, drove out the Marsh Road a few miles, and found his son with the horse and his wagon. The value would be about $120. His son had been drinking on Sunday last, and was intoxicated on Monday when he took the horse and carriage. When he and the detective found the prisoner, the latter's face was covered with blood, and he said he had been in a fight with several men.

Detective Killen told of arresting the defendant at the instance of his father.

In the case against Hazlewood, Detective Killen told of placing Hazlewood under arrest. The prisoner denied taking the goods at the time, saying he had either bought or been given them. The goods consisted of about twenty-five pounds, a couple of neckties and about $1 in change. These were all recorded, most of them being found on the prisoner.

His Honor told Smith that he could have him sent to the penitentiary for a lengthy term, but in view of his youth, of his plea of guilty, and of his being a stranger, he would be dealt with leniently by being sentenced to three months in jail with hard labor.

William Shields, a Scotchman, was allowed to go on suspended sentence on a charge of interfering with machinery on board the steamer Kingstons. He has work waiting for him on another steamer.

John McDonald, charged with vagrancy, pleaded guilty and His Honor gave orders that he be sent out of town. He has been a protectionist at central station at various times. He said he had no home but was simply wandering about the country.

Wm. Cook was fined $8 or fifty days jail on a charge of drunkenness.
