BID FAREWELL TO HON. R. J. RITCHIE

Good Wishes Extended in Court as He Leaves on a Tour of Europe.

Hon. Robert J. Ritchie, police magistrate of the city for thirty-three years and judge of the city court, will leave tonight for Montreal where he will take the S. S. Montreal for Naples, his first stop-over place on his three months' tour of Europe. His Honor intends to visit Rome, Milan, Venice and other places in Italy; Oberammergau, Bavaria, to see the "Passion Play"; Paris, London and the former home of his parents in Ireland. His Honor will accompany touring party as far as Paris and then will proceed alone to London and to Ireland. While he is absent his place on the bench will be filled by George A. Henderson, sitting magistrate, and E. S. Ritchie will act as clerk of the court.

The best wishes of the bar association of the city for a good trip were tendered to his Honor in the city court this morning by G. Earle Logan and K. A. Wilson on behalf of the members of the association. Both the judge and the regent would experience at his absence and hoped he would be back in the same position at close of his well earned holiday. They also told of the respect with which his judgments were received and the good fortune on his trip and a wholehearted enjoyment of all he should see.

It was with a great deal of feeling that his Honor replied and, at times, tears appeared in his eyes when he referred to the happiness their words gave him. He was glad to get away on a holiday, he said, but his happiness was not unmingled with sadness at some of the associations he was breaking through only for a few months. Many people had approached him in the last few days, he said, and their simple words in wishing him "bon voyage" had touched his heart strings.

When he returned, his Honor said, he would be ready to get back into harness or to step out and let some one else fill his position. It all depended on whether or not the city wanted him on the bench. He left with no hard feelings in his heart and he greatly hoped that no one entertained any hard feelings towards him. Many of the people he had met and sent to jail, he said, had been among those whose good wishes would go with him on his trip. "I am leaving in the best of spirits," he said, "and I wish to thank you, gentlemen, of the profession for your kind words."

ALL EVIDENCE IN THIS AFTERNOON

This is the Expectation in the Trial of John Paris.

Truro Policeman Repeats the Testimony Given at Previous Trial—Says He is Sure
He Saw Accused in Truro on August 2.

It is now expected that all the evidence in the third trial of John Paris, charged with the murder of Sadie McCauley on August 2, will be in the afternoon. The last witness for the defence, Ira Boss, was on the stand at adjournment for lunch and it is understood that the crown will call one more witness in rebuttal this afternoon. The evidence of Mr. Boss and that of John A. Maxwell, colored, occupied the whole of the session.

The Harvest Excursion.
John Maxwell, steam driller, Truro, otherwise known as "Lulu" was the first witness heard this morning, said on the night of August 2 he left Truro on his way to the west for harvesting. He arrived in St. John on the morning of August 4. He said he saw John Paris on that train.

To the attorney-general, the witness said that he returned from the west about Oct. 27. He knew John Paris since last May. Witness said the statement he made at the last trial that he had not again met accused until August 2 was untrue. He saw Paris again on July 29, 28, 26 when a fight took place between John Paris and Noble Paris. He saw him again on August 2. He knew John Byard and his wife and knew that there were over here for the last trial but went home without giving evidence.

The witness said there were many named Paris living close together on "the island," William McNaughton, he said, used to live in the vicinity of colored section. He knew Miss McKenzie to see her. He denied seeing John Paris at Truro station on Sunday night, July 31. On August 2 he first saw John Paris a few minutes after the train left Truro. Archie Paris was in the same seat as the witness on the train. He did not remember if Archie Paris produced a pass for the conductor or paid his fare. He did not remember of hearing that a harvest excursion train left Truro, on August 4.

He said he did not know John Paris when he met with him and Archie until an hour or so before they reached St. John. He paid $4.00 for his ticket to St. John and $2.00 from there to St. John. He remained in St. John all the day of August 4.

To the judge the witness said he did not know anyone in Truro who resembled John Paris. He was sure it was he who came to St. John with him on August 3.

Truro Policeman.
Ira Boss, police officer, and sanitary inspector, Truro, told of a search for a can of stolen cream at "Smith's Island" on August 2. He saw the accused there, and heard him speak to Chief Fraser.

On cross-examination, Boss told the attorney-general that Chief of Police Fraser was to St. John for the last trial but did not think he gave any evidence. He fixed August 2 by a Chautauqua parade and said that on a search warrant the witness identified a copy of the Truro Daily News, dated August 2, and read a paragraph in which it was reported that a parade had taken place the day before. He also read from a copy of date of July 30, an advertisement of a Chautauqua parade on Monday, August 1, called "Lucky Number Parade" for children. Witness, however, was certain the parade took place on August 2.

He said Chief Fraser was mistaken when he said at the first trial the chief, Boss and Mr. McLellan went to the island together on August 2. The attorney-general asked the witness if the chief had told him that the St. John police requested information regarding where Paris was on August 1, 2 and 3. Mr. Vernon objected and the question was disallowed.

The judge would not allow the attorney-general to cross-question the witness on evidence given by another witness at a previous trial.

The witness said he was not at the island on August 3, 4, or 5. He was not sure about August 6. He said his vacation began early in July. He would not swear that Chief Fraser was to the island on August 2 and that he was there with the chief on August 4. He said it was reported after August 2 that the can was hidden in William Byard's yard. He would not swear that Mr. McLellan and the chief went to the island on August 2, and found no cream. It was not on the 4th that he went to the island.

He said he did not come to the first trial because he was not subpoenaed. The judge remarked that the police did their full duty if they disclosed their knowledge to either the crown or the defence. The duty of calling them as witnesses then lay with the counsel.

Continuing the witness said he did not see the warrant on August 2. He could not say why he could not fix the date he was to the island by the Chautauqua before finding the warrant on September 27. He did not know what the chief did with the warrant on his return from the island.

Adjournment was made until 2.30 o'clock.
