people know that the "sovereign reme is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This powerful a tive extirpates "the evil" by thoro eliminating all the strumous poison from blood. Consumption, catarrh, and vario other physical as well as mental maladi have their origin in-SCROFULA When hereditary, this disease manifests itself in childhood by glandular swelling running sores, swollan joints, and general feeblenessof body. Administer Ayer's Sarsaparila on appearance of the first symptoms. "My little girl was troubled with a painful scrofulous swelling under one of her arms. The physician being unable to effect a cure, I gave her one bottle of Sarsaparilla, and the swelling disappeared."

Ayer's

—W. F. Kennedy, McFarland's, Va.
"I was cured of scrofula by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—J. C. Berry, Deerfield, Mo.
"I was troubled with a sore hand for over two years. Being assured the case was scrofula, I took six bottles of Ayer's

Sarsaparilla and was cured."-H. Hinkins, Riverton, Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1: six bottles. $5. Cures others, will cure you

THREW AWAY HIS CRUTCHES AFTER YEARS OF TERRIBLE SUFFERING.

STATEMENT OF MR. WM. MONEE.
For eight years I was troubled with a sore on my leg which resulted from having it broken. The doctors kept me in bed five months trying to heal it up, but all to no purpose. I tried all sorts of salves, liniments, ointments, pills and blood medicines but with no benefit. In 1883 it became so bad that I had to sit on one chair and keep my foot on another for four months. I could not put my foot on the ground or the blood would rush out in a stream and my leg swelled to twice its natural size.

ELEVEN RUNNING SORES STATEMENT OF MR. WM. MONEE.

ELEVEN RUNNING SORES

developed on it which reduced me to a living skeleton (I lost 70 lbs. in four months). Friends advised me to go to the Hospital; but I would not, for I knew they would take my leg off. The doctor then wanted to split it open and scrape the bone, but I was too weak to stand the openation. One old ledve said it had the bone, but I was too weak to stand the operation. One old lady said it had turned to black erysipelas and could never be cured. I had never heard of Burdock Blood Bitters then, but I read of a minister, Rev. Mr. Stout, who had been cured of a severe abscess on the neck by B.B.B., after medical aid had failed, and I thought I would try it. I washed the leg with the Bitters and took them according to directions. After using one bottle I could walk on crutches, after taking three, I threw away the crutches, took a scythe and went to work in the field. At the end of the sixth bottle my leg was entirely healed up; pieces of loose leg was entirely healed up; pieces of loose hone had worked out of it and the cords came back to their natural places again. That was nine years ago and it has never broken out since. I can walk five miles to-day as fast as anyone, and all this I owe to B. B. B., which certainly saved my leg, if not my life. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Give B. B. B. a trial, it will cure you as it did me.

Yours truly,

WM. McNer, St. Ives P.O., Ont.

Mr. F. C. Sanderson, the druggist of St. Marys, Ont., certifies to the entire truthfulness of the remarkable statement made by Mr. McNee and says that several other wonderful cures have been made in his district.

The man had informed a number of his friends that he was going down and give the editor a thumping, and his friends, who knew the editor, tried to dissuade him, because they had seen a few wrecks who had escaped. But it was no use; he was bound to go and they couldn't prevent him. They waited across the street, however, and an ambulance to receive him when the call was finished. In about fifteen minutes he came out, without even

Old Joe Case didn't have much respect for either doctors or medicine until a short for either doctors or medicine until a short time ago.

Joe had just pulled through a pretty severe attack of grip, and was persuaded, much against his will, to take quinine as a tonic. The country doctor, to whom Joe went for the quinine, happened to be very busy that day, and did not have time to put up any capsules for him. However, he provided him with the materials, and ample directions as to how he must fill the capsules with the quinine.

A week after this Joe presented himself at the doctor's office. His-face was beaming.

"Doc," he said, "I ain't never a gwine to say agin thet you can't help a feller. You've done me a power o' good."

The doctor was slightly surprised. He asked him how much quinine he had taken.

"Wall," said Joe, "I ain't took none of it yet. I've just been a takin the capsules. Quinine may be pretty good, but them dar capsules does the business. Lemme have all you kin spare. The old woman will be oneasy 'till she gits 'em, fur she 'lows they mought help her, too."

"What is that you say?" asked the land-lady from the next table, "Speak a little louder, won't you?" louder, won t you?

He reiterated his remark.

"That isn't true," retorted the landlady hotly.

"I do not use adulterated goods on my table."

"My dear madam," said the bland joker, "there are always a lot of p's in pepper."
There was an impressive pause, then the landlady said in a crushing tone:

"Oh, yes, just as you always furnish part of the dessert."
"I don't understand."
"The chestnuts." A Woman's Watch,

PREPARING FOR SPRING. ers. Jones Tries to Hammer a Little "Jeptha," called Mrs. Jones from upstaire, "where is the tack-hammer?"
Mr. Jones was deep in a work on national politics, and hated to be called off. But he stopped long enough to say:
"It's wherever you left it when you used it last, m'dear."
Presently Mrs. Jones came down with a cobweb on her nose. eighteen years of age, has deposed the regents and taken upon himself the obweb on her nose.

Have you whistled for it? inquired

Jones sarcastically.

"Oh, don't try to be funny, Jeptha. I want that tack-hammer, and must have it. Look in your secretary and see if it is there." Mr. Jones laid his book upside down with care and began a search for the tack-hammer which lasted far into the night, but without success. He barked his shins on step-ladders, nearly brained himself on a hanging shelf, and at last, tired out sat down to contemplate his ruins. Then Mrs. Jones asked in a cool, even voice: "Do you suppose it can be in the tool-box?" box?"

"That's the last place where I should expect to find it," said the perspiring man, as he went on another search spell.
"Well, I vum!" he exclaimed as he fish-

"Well, I vum! he exclaimed as he handed to out, "that's the wonder of the age. Here it is. Now what are you going to do with the measily thing, Maria?"
"Nothing. I just wanted to have it handy for the spring housecleaning when it comes. It saves confusion to take time by the forelocks. Don't you think so, Jantha?" eptha?"
But Jeptha was madder than a wet hen.

A Society Idyl. "Why is that women are always so jealous and suspicious of each other?" asked the professor in a plaintive voice of the lady with whom he had been dancing.
"Oh, because they know each other so well. Now, there's that Kate Lawson. Do you know what she told young Anderson to night?"

"No. Please enlighten me."

The woman with the dog was making herself obnoxious to everybody by her silly fondling of the animal, which, by the way, was a fine one, as dogs go. Finally a man sitting near made a remark that the woman overheard and she fired up. "I'd have you know, sir," she said, "that this is no cur. It is a well-bred dog "that this is no cur. It is a well-bred dog, sir," and she put her arms about its neck.

"I beg your pardon, madam," he responded, politely. "I said nothing against the dog. He has my sympathy. I ve often noticed that well-bred dogs are owned by ill-bred people," and the dog wagged his tail for some reason or other.
