HER POEMS RIDICULED, SHE GAINS A DIVORCE. Husband Mocks at Art, Especially Her Verses—A Cruel Punishment.

TOLEDO, March 27—Mrs. Ida Eckert Lawrence, called the poet laureate of Ohio, was today granted a divorce from her husband, Fred Lawrence. The grounds for the divorce were mainly that he did not pay tribute to her artistic temperament; that he mocked at art in all its forms, principally that of writing verse, and that he made specious attacks upon her own personal work.

Mrs. Lawrence has achieved considerable local fame through her poetical works, and she it was who wrote the ode which was delivered at the launching of the battleship Ohio. Her testimony was to the effect that Mr. Lawrence virtually conducted a press bureau devoted entirely to articles against verse-making, and that he would select certain of these, lay them on her desk and proceed to impress upon her the foolishness of spending time in such a futile pursuit.

GRAFT FROGS SKIN ON BURNED ARM OF WOMAN. After Nine Months Spent in Hospital Victim is Recovering.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 27—Following the grafting of seventy-two inches of frogskin on the burned arm of Mrs. Orville Kizer, doctors pronounced the woman on the way to recovery after nine months spent in a hospital. Mrs. Kizer had put some turpentine on the stove to heat and gone outdoors. The lid caught fire, and her husband took it to the door and threw it on his wife as she was about to enter the house unscathed by him.
