Illegal Liquor Selling. There is a resort in Fairville where the police believe that liquor is being sold without a license. On Monday last Policeman Lawson met a man coming from the house and seeing the officer the man went in the rear of a barn. On investigation later, the officer found no less than four bottles of alcohol hidden behind the barn.

Carleton Methodist Church. There was a large attendance at the reunion held in the Carleton Methodist church last night and a most enjoyable time was spent. There were addresses by Rev. George A. Ross, of Fairville; Rev. Mr. Steele, of Percodiac and the pastor of the church, Rev. J. Heany. Miss Hilda Wood rendered a violin selection.

Case Dismissed. In the police court yesterday afternoon Magistrate Ritchie dismissed the case against James Driscoll, who had been charged by Night Detective Lucas with having sold liquor during prohibited hours. The evidence given by a number of witnesses on Tuesday and one yesterday went to show that the men were in the Edward Hotel for a lunch and not for a drink.

Chose Wrong House. Early yesterday morning Policeman Lawson and family were disturbed in their house on Lancaster Heights, and when the officer went to the front door to see what was the matter, he found a man making a bed for himself in the vestibule. The man said that it was cold outside and thought that it would be no harm to sleep within doors. He was ejected in no easy manner.

Ex-Conductor Arrested. Yesterday about noon Sergeant Baxter was called into the C. P. R. building on King street to eject Harry Napier, an ex-conductor, who was annoying Supt. William Downie. Napier then refused to move along the sidewalk when ordered by the police and he was arrested. He is charged with using threatening language to Supt. Downie. The prisoner was remanded to jail.

Father in Jail. Some weeks ago, William Walker of Fairville, was sent to jail and his family have been in need. His wife decided that she would allow her three children to be put in the municipal home and would look after herself. Policeman Lawson of Fairville had considerable trouble in getting hold of the children, but after a week's trial he secured the three of them a couple of days ago and they are now comfortable in the almshouse.

Lively in Market. There was a lively time in the City Market yesterday morning, and the police had to be called in to prevent a breach of the peace while Director Wisely and Clerk Dunham were removing the goods belonging to F. E. Williams & Co. The director was acting under the advice of the Recorder and the whole affair promises to be more interesting when an investigation is held. Those persons who were holding stands that were not purchased from the city have been ordered to vacate the market.

C. P. R. EMPLOYEES ORGANIZE FOR "FIRST AID" COURSE

Instructive Address Delivered by General Secretary of St. John Ambulance Association Branch—Drs. Walker and Christie Contribute Services for Series of Lectures—An Important Work.

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon the large room in the general superintendent's quarters in the C.P.R. building in King street, was filled with railway men to hear S. A. Gidlow of Montreal, Gen. Secretary of the C. P. R. centre of the St. John Ambulance Association, speak of the organization of ambulance classes among the C.P.R. employees along this division. Mr. Downie presided at the meeting and in introducing the secretary spoke briefly on the importance of the work that is being carried on.

Mr. Gidlow on being introduced stated that one of the first things to be considered in first aid was to teach the people what to do until the doctor arrived. The second question of equal importance was what not to do. The third was, how to deal with emergency cases such as bleeding, drowning or poisoning. Lives were often lost by ignorance of the bystanders.

Lives Might be Saved. The speaker then gave instances of serious accidents where death resulted and life might have been saved had the people near known what to do. In one case in a machine shop a heavy piece of machinery fell on a workman's thigh, the thigh was fractured and an artery pierced. He was picked up and carried to another section of the building and the result was that the man bled to death. Had those who were handy at the time known what to have done the life might have been saved.

Another case was where a man spilled some carbolic acid on his hand. Instead of washing the hand with water some bystanders poured on some oil. An ambulance was summoned and the man was hastened to a hospital and a number of fingers had to be amputated. He spoke of the special desirability of this knowledge to railway men. He considered it the duty of every person to take at least one course. All are liable to an accident and a life might be sacrificed by the ignorance of a bystander.

Mr. Gidlow described the class of work and said that it consisted of five one-hour lectures. Dr. T. D. Walker consented to give the lectures and Dr. James Christie consented to conduct the examinations, both gentlemen giving their services free. Dr. Christie, Dr. Walker and A. M. Belding were heard in short addresses and all stated that a good work was being done in introducing these classes and that the great help to know what first aid to the injured would be.

Mr. Gidlow stated that Mr. Kidd, the chief clerk in the superintendent's office would act as the divisional secretary, and that all of the classes would report to him and he would report to headquarters.

Certificates will be issued to all who qualify. It was shown that the work is very simple and everything in connection with the matter will be furnished by the C. P. R. free. 1,200 Members Now.

Mr. Gidlow stated that from the Western Lines there are at present 1,200 organized members and all are delighted with the movement. He offered to do anything for the Dominion Association in this line of work. He thought that the series should be taught in the schools and colleges. Mr. Gidlow then gave a demonstration in the methods of bandaging, chiefly in triangle bandaging, and pointed out the simple manner of the first aid. A class will be organized as soon as sufficient names are received. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a meeting in the Bay Shore Round House and the employees of the road in that section of the city will be given a chance to hear Mr. Gidlow on the subject.

SUDDEN DEATH OF ERNEST DALZELL

Well Known Resident Succumbed to Attack of Heart Failure in Hotel Edward Last Evening.

About ten o'clock last night Ernest Dalzell dropped dead in the Hotel Edward on the north side of the King Square. For a couple of years past the deceased had not been very well and was unable to perform any laborious work. He did not complain, however, being able to get about, and yesterday appeared to be in the best of spirits. Heart trouble was the cause of his death. He was 40 years of age and leaves three brothers, Joseph and James of this city and Frederick of the United States. The deceased was very well known in the city and his death will be deeply regretted by a host of friends.

Disorderly Conduct.

Last night a number of youths caused considerable disorder on Waterloo street and it is claimed that one of the number caught hold of a woman as she was passing along the street. Some of the number smashed the plate glass window in Ham Lee's laundry on Waterloo street and the young fellows ran away. Policeman Crawford was summoned and a few minutes afterwards he and Sergeant Scott captured Leonard McQueen and Joseph Ryan on Cliff street. Two others escaped, but the two mentioned were locked up in the central station.

Congregational Reunion.

The first congregational reunion for the winter months was held in St. Jude's church schoolroom last evening and was largely attended. The room had been tastefully decorated by a committee of ladies and the affair was greatly enjoyed. During the evening there were piano solos by Mrs. W. L. Harding, Mrs. Wilkes and Miss Valda Pentec, a duet by Misses Lucy Coster and Gertrude Lawson, a solo by Percy Cruikshank and a violin and piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes. Refreshments were served and Rev. Mr. Scott the rector of the church, gave a brief address.
