WALSH IS GIVEN HIS OPENING

Announcement that Freddie Welsh deposited lightweight champion of England, will be the next opponent of Ad Wolgast in a world's title battle.

When battling Nelson were the crown, Welsh trailed in the wake of the Dane and hurled challenge after challenge without success.

Freddie Welsh, real name Fred Hall Thomas, was born in Pontypool, Wales, March 6, 1886, and is therefore, as a little close figuring will prove, just a trifle over 25 years of age.

According to Welsh's own history of his life, he became identified with the ring name at the early age of 15.

As Welsh seems practically certain to land the match with Wolgast for next Thanksgiving Day, a brief history of the Welshman will be of interest to ring followers at this time.

Fredericton, July 27.—Mary Cromwell, daughter of Gambetta Wilkes, and full sister of Walter Cox's Bramham Boughman, won the feature event of today's programme at the Fredericton Park Association's races and reduced the record from 2:18 1/2 to 2:16 1/2 in the third heat of a race stringing out to six heats.

There were thrilling finishes in several heats as the talent got badly bumped, Dimple K. being heavily played as an event money favorite against the field.

The 2:30 trot was soft for Baring an Allen farm product, Driver Frank Boutiller of Halifax winning both races today.
