BANGOR BEATS FREDERICTON; PLAYERS FIGHT ON THE FIELD; ST. CROIX TRIMS THE GREEKS

BANGOR 10, FREDERICTON 3.

In Frederickton yesterday afternoon a fairly large crowd of spectators who went to see a ball game between Frederickton and Bangor, were not sure after they had been on the grounds a while whether they were looking at an international prize fighting tournament or a ball game. There was a continual lot of kicking and according to those who are unbiased in their opinion there was almost more slugging and rough neck tactics used in the game by players than has ever been seen on a baseball diamond in this section of the country. Frederickton was being given a good trouncing by the Bangor team and, of course, any blame that was put on any persons by fans who could only see one side, all that blame was put on Umpire Labelle and Bangor players. President Hooper was an attendant at the game and when Keaney and Reed got into a rough and tumble fight at second base and the crowd rushed onto the field, he was among the first who stated that Umpire Labelle's decisions were bad. All umpires, however, are not perfect, but Labelle while he may miss a few like the very best of 'em, has performed his duties satisfactorily with the exception of yesterday, when his work appears to have been mostly unsatisfactory to the Frederickton side of the question. It has been announced that President Hooper informed Mr. Umps that he would be released, but the League Executive will perhaps have to deal with such a matter.

It was good playing by Bangor that won the game of ball, as the score of 10 to 3 alone will show. Frederickton had frequent misplays. The first misplay in the game happened in the third inning, when Dolan of Bangor slid home and was called safe. Catcher Murphy of Frederickton objected to the decision and followed up his objections by jostling the umpire, who properly showed his authority and put Murphy out of the game. A few minutes later Reed slid for second and, in doing so, he spiked Keaney. Now Keaney is not one of the quietest ball players on a diamond and after exchanging some words with Reed, they were both seen in a clinch, after which they were parted by a couple of swings at the Bangor outfielder. The scrapper was parted by other players and the game was delayed for a time on account of the crowd rushing on the diamond, along with the police.

In the other half of the inning Catcher Wakefield was hit in the throat by a foul ball, which went between his mask and his protector, and on the advice of Dr. Crockett he retired from the game and his place behind the bat was taken by Brooks.

The next trouble came in the fifth inning when Tewhey, while at bat, claimed that Stone, the catcher, caught hold of his bat and interfered with him, while Stone claimed that when Tewhey swung the bat it struck his mask. After these two players exchanged some words they got into a fight but were soon separated. No matter who is to blame it seems the proper thing for the league executive to deal harshly with all players who so far forget themselves as to make a rough-house of a ball game. Hooper was in the box for Bangor and he allowed only one hit in the first five innings. After that he was hit frequently. He lacked control and gave seven bases on balls. Dedrick and Woodcock, who were on the mound for Frederickton, didn't appear to have much with which to mystify Bangor batters.

ST. CROIX 7, MARATHONS 3.

Yesterday was Children's Day on the Marathon grounds and the little girls and boys, numbering over a thousand, thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon as the guests of the local management. Through the kindness of F. L. Potts the Artillery band rendered a programme of music during the afternoon and each little girl was presented with a carnation by Mr. Potts. The boys completely filled the bleachers while the girls, who were all attired in their Sunday clothes and numbering about four hundred, had a section of the grand stand reserved for them.

The game was between the St. Croix and the Marathons, and the former team walked away with a victory, with the score seven to three. It was a good game of ball through-out and John E. Ruderham, who proved such a favorite umpire last season, was on hand to take charge of the game. Not one decision was questioned and Ruderham was given general applause when he went out to announce the batteries at the opening of the game.

Howard was the pitcher for the visitors and proved very effective, only three hits being made off him for six innings, but when the old seventh inning arrived the Greeks pounded him as if he had not a friend. With one out Waterhouse hit to right for two bases, Riley and Woodbury followed with singles, then came O'Brien with a two-base hit to left, scoring two runs. Dutch Howard appeared to know that the Marathons had got his goat and tied a tin can to it, for with a happy smile he retired from the box without even being asked and his place was taken by Conley, who finished the game with-out allowing a hit or a score. Pinkerton was the first man to face Conley and he hit to Lynch, who threw a single to left and scored. With a man on third and first, Shankley came to bat and it was expected that he would hit and send the ball to right but the best the big fellow could do was to strike out.

The Greeks gained their first run in the fifth inning when, with a man on third and two out, Lynch made a bad throw to first and allowed the score. A two-base sacrifice and a single drove in two more runs for the visitors in the third inning. A base on balls, a two-bagger and a single drove in two more runs for the visitors in the third inning. Two singles and a sacrifice gave St. Croix another run in the fourth inning.

They failed to score again until the eighth inning when, with one out, Spiller drew a base on balls. Gross hit to Pinkerton, who, in trying to make a double play, tossed the ball wide to Waterhouse, with the result that all were safe, and Vance scored on the error. Conley went out, third to first. Parker came across with a single to left field, scoring Spiller and Gross. Lynch fled out to Ramsey in right field and retired the side. Both sides were retired quickly in the ninth and an interesting game was finished.

THOUSANDS SEE AMERICAN MEET DEFEAT IN TEN NIS MATCH.

GENERAL VIEW OF THE ALL-ENGLAND TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

It is estimated that fully 10,000 people saw Mr. A. F. Wilding, the New Zealand and All-England lawn tennis champion for the past three years, retain his title last week in a memorable match with Mr. M. E. McLoughlin, the American, at Wimbledon, England. Mr. Wilding beat his opponent in three straight sets by 8-6, 6-3 and 10-8. In the above photograph is shown McLoughlin following a lob shot by Wilding.

SPORTOGRAPHY

BY "GRAVY"

Birthday of "Ginger" Beaumont, Former Star.

Clarence Howett Beaumont, for a dozen years one of the crack outfielders and star stickmen of the National League, was born at Rochester, Wis., thirty-seven years ago today.

"Ginger," as his admirers used to call him, started his diamond career as a catcher with a semi-professional team in 1895. In the two subsequent seasons he played with teams of the Fox River Valley League, and with Rochester Academy and Beloit College. In those innocent and heady days it wasn't considered a crime for a college student to play ball for money.

Cornelius McGillicuddy, alias Conkle Mack, was the discoverer of Beaumont. Conkle was then the manager of the Milwaukee Western League team, and he gave Clarence a chance in the outer garden. Beaumont batted .254 with Milwaukee in 1898, and the following year he joined the Pittsburgh Pirates.

During his first year with the big show Clarence biffed the ball for .250, but came back strong in 1901, and in 1902, his best year, he batted at .357 gait. For three years he continued to bat over the .300 mark, but in 1906 he began to go back, and Pittsburgh sold him to the Boston Nationals.

Beaumont's first year in the City of Beams made him look like a sure enough come-back. He played in 149 games and finished the 1907 season with an average of .322. Next year he slipped back to .267, and the following year to .228.

Boston then traded Beaumont to the Cubs, and he played one year in Chicago, finishing somewhat in the winning of the National League pennant. The next year, 1911, he was sent back to the minors, and, with the St. Paul team of the American Association, began the backward trek to oblivion that all ball players, however great, have to take some day.

While holding out last spring, Caplan repeatedly declared that he wanted to be traded. Today he said on this subject: "I wrote to a Boston newspaper man that I would like to be traded to the Red Sox, or to one of two other clubs, and that there are also two other cities in the league in which he would like to play."

There is very small chance of such a deal coming off right away, however, for Pres. Navin would not consider a cash proposition, and none of the clubs having players who would be regarded as of sufficient value to figure in a trade for the Peach will turn them loose.

FREDERICTON TODAY AT 3.15 O'CLOCK

Frederickton is here this afternoon to do battle with the Marathons and the contest promises to be a hard fought one from start to finish as both teams will have their strongest line-up on the field. Charles will, no doubt, be the twirler for the Greeks and in addition to him McPherson, recently with St. Croix, will be the shortstop for the Marathons, a trade having been made yesterday when Watt was released by the Marathons and signed on by St. Croix, and McPherson was released by St. Croix and signed on by the Marathons management.

John Ruderham will be on the job with the indicator and it is safe to say that players will take no liberties with this gentleman. He is of the old school who makes the players play ball and play it right.

A large crowd will, no doubt, be in attendance and the game should be well worth seeing. The battle will commence at 3.15 o'clock sharp.

THIS DATE IN RING ANNALS

1904.—Bob Fitzsimmons fought the first of his two bouts with "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien. This was a ground affair in Philadelphia and no decision was given but it was plain to all that the freckled fellow was going back rapidly. Bob couldn't be convinced of this, however, and challenged Philadelphia Jack to a long battle. This was staged in San Francisco in the latter part of 1905, and while Bob fought valiantly, he was stopped in the hoodoo thirteenth. In 1907 Fitz again tried to come back against Johnson, but was stopped in the second round, and in 1909 he was knocked out by Bill Lang in Australia.

1893.—Kid McCoy and Ike Moore fought 22-round draw at Muncie, Ind.
