

Waterpolers trounce soldiers, but "that's all folks"

Before an enthusiastic audience in Tait McKenzie pool last Saturday, York's water polo Yeomen trounced the winless Royal Military College cadets but failed to topple the strong Queen's and Carleton teams.

York started on the right foot in the opening game against Queens, with Olympian Gary MacDonald scoring in the first twenty seconds. Queens' impregnable goaltender knocked back four almost certain goals in the first quarter.

When the quarter finished the score was one all but by half-time Queens was leading 4-1.

Queens' experience and excellent goaltending were responsible for their 7-2 victory. The score however did not indicate the strong performances turned in by the Yeomen's George Skene, an Olympic pentathlon athlete and backs Gaviller and Wallace.

The second game pitted York against the powerful Carleton team. Gabor Mezo scored for Yeomen in the opening play. Despite high spirits and two goals from Neil Harvey and Mezo, the Carleton side was able to fend off the Yeomen fourth quarter rally and won 8-6.

Had a little luck been added to the strong Yeoman defense, the victory could have gone to York.

Yeomen rookies got in some game experience when York took on the inexperienced RMC team. York won 14-7. Gary McDonald, who scored five goals, and Gabor Mezo who picked up four, led the Yeomen barrage.

Carleton came first in the tournament after a strong 6-3 win over Queen's and a devastating 11-3 victory over RMC.

Later Queen's stomped the Cadets 10-4 for two wins.

Top York scorers for the tournament were MacDonald with eight goals, Mezo with six and Harvey with three.

"We're going to have to work hard"

York's puckmen-new coach, new faces

By Ian Wasserman

Last weekend the hockey Yeomen travelled to Ohio State for their annual match against the Buckeyes. Ohio State took the Friday night contest 8-4, but York rebounded Saturday, winning 6-4.

The Buckeyes got a look at Yeomen, the youthful Yeomen. Through the loss of several veteran players the Yeomen are basing their hopes this year on youth.

Defencemen Dave Chalk summing up the two games, said, "The first game we were beat, but the second game it was all heart and soul. The Yeomen took pride in playing the game and showing that they would not be counted out." Coach John Marshall and several other players on the team echoed Chalk's feelings.

Marshall stated that "This is the type of team that is going to have to work hard in all of their games. Since most of the players do not know each others' moves they will have to work at it." However, he added, "they will for sure be a team to be reckoned with once again in the OUAA."

According to Marshall "the intent is to always win, but also the intent behind this Ohio state trip was to bring the team together under game conditions". Most of the players have only seen the other during practice. In the game atmosphere everyone got to know each other. The trip also gave Marshall a chance to try out different line combinations.

Although this year's team is youthful, most of the players have had some college or Major Junior "A" experience as Yeomen. Thus these players will be together for at least another two years, and over time, will get into a cohesive unit.

In net, Steve Bosco and Glen Weiers return being joined by Brian Mitchell from the Weston Dodgers. Defencemen Chris Kostka, Dave Chalk and Roger Dorey are joined by Chris Lawrence, John Winder from the Orillia Terriers, and Gord Borland from the Weston Dodgers.

It's on the forward lines where youth reigns supreme. On left wing only Gary Gill returns. Ample support on the left side will come from Glenn Wagner from the Peterboro Petes, Barry Crump, of Middlebury College and Al Vitonis, with Tier Two and Junior "A" experience.

Aidan Flatley and Bob Fukomoto will battle with Bob Schnurr of the Petes and Jim Diugman of Ajax for the center spots.

The right wingers all have college experience, with John Goodish and Romano Carlucci bringing their past Yeomen experience back with them.

Also on the right side are Lake Superior State's leading scorer Steve Faulkner and Greg Brioux from Northeastern University.

The new look is not just in age. Last year's Coach of the Year Dave Chambers is on a year's sabbatical, moving assistant coach John Marshall to the top spot.

Helping Marshall are assistant coaches, Iain Douglas, who played in Sweden's first division and Larry Sakler, helping the goalies.

In the dressing room Ed Nowalkowski, is now being aided by Ernie Durocher as trainer and Ray Wintjes as team manager.

The Yeomen now prepare for their appearance in the U of T Tourney. This will be the first chance for fans to see the Yeomen this season.

The Yeomen tangle with the Waterloo Warriors at 9 pm. Friday night.

U of T hosts the weak Laval "Rouge et Or" at 6 pm. The winners playoff at 9 pm. Saturday, loses go at 6:30.

The games can be heard on Radio York (CKRY) starting ten minutes before game time, on the Canadian University Sports Network.

Coach Marshall will be appearing Wed. Nov. 2 in the first Bearpit between 1:15 and 1:30, to answer questions and tell about this year's team. The season opener for the Yeomen is on November 5 at the Ice Palace against Rookie Coach Billy Harris' Laurentian Voyageurs at 8:15 pm.
