cattle feed, particularly barley. It seems, especially with cattle, that the awns of grain, covered with this fungus, penetrates between the teeth into the gums and tongue, becomes difficult to remove, and here forms a point of infection. The disease is not contagious from one animal to another. You should examine their mouths and extract the barley awns if they are present. This is likely to prove a difficult undertaking. You will, no doubt, have to rope and cast the animals to accomplish your task. When you have removed as much of the awns as is possible, thoroughly wash out their mouths with carbolic solution—one part of the acid to one hundred of water, using a syringe. Administer, internally, morning and evening, two drams of iodide of potash dissolved in a half pint of water, and give as a drench to each animal. Continue this medicine for two days, then discontinue its use for a week, then repeat as before. The swellings on the jaw may be painted once daily with tincture of iodine. If there are any cavities, the tincture of iodine may be injected once a day. Keep the cattle away from the barley straw.

LOW-GRADE FLOUR FOR HORSES—CONDITION POWDER

1. Would you consider low-grade flour and ground oats, mixed, one of flour to two of oats, good to feed working horses?

2. What is a good, cheap condition powder for working horses?

J. S. K.

Ans.—1. Horsemen do not speak highly of low-grade flour for feeding. Oats, and a little bran, form a more satisfactory ration. What is known as dark feeding flour contains the germs of the grains, and so is rich in protein. Some authorities recommend it for horses at hard work, to be used as part of the grain ration.

2. An excellent condition powder for working horses is clean, wholesome hay and oats, carrots or turnips once or twice a week, and pure water. This, along with the exercise, should keep them in good condition. If a tonic is required, use the following: Two ounces each of ferric sulphate, pulverized gentian, pulverized nux vomica, and nitrate of soda. Mix, and give a teaspoonful night and morning in ground oats or bran. Also give two or three times a week, a feed of boiled oats, and to the regular grain ration add some oil cake, which is laxative and aids digestion.

COVER FOR BINDER

How can I make a water-proof cover for binder? A. W. M.

Ans.—A satisfactory cover is made by painting ordinary canvas with raw linseed oil. A standard mixture frequently used is made as follows: Add to every three pints of boiling water two ounces of yellow soap. Then dissolved, stir in one quart of boiled linseed oil. When this has cooled, stir in $\frac{1}{4}$ pint of brown japan as a drier. If black oilcloth is wanted, add some lampblack.

CLOSE BREEDING

I have an eight-year-old Shetland pony mare, which I desire to breed this spring, but there is no stallion of the breed near here, except her own two-year-old colt. Under the circumstances, would it be advisable to breed her to him? Am told that inbreeding is quite common with these ponies. A. B. F.

Ans.—There is no particular danger of deformity or vicious temperament developing by breeding the dam to her two-year-old colt, but the practice should not be continued indefinitely, as, after a generation or two, there would be danger of sterility and stupidity. Inbreeding is practiced by pony breeders, but not indiscriminately. Inbreeding tends to get finer and smaller stock, a very desirable characteristic in ponies.

Lost Energy Restored by Psychine.

Mr. Geo. Pratt, of Clarkson, Ont., says: "Four years ago my son Wilbert was so run down, thin and emaciated, that we thought he was going into a decline and feared he would never pull through the severe cold of the winter months. The boy had no appetite and seemed to have lost all energy and interest in life. He was altogether in terribly bad shape. His condition caused us the gravest anxiety.

"Fortunately I procured PSYCHINE for him and this soon gave him a new lease of life. It is really remarkable how rapidly this splendid medicine brought about a change. After taking one or two bottles he was hardly recognizable as the same youth. PSYCHINE effected a speedy cure and he was soon able to work about on the farm again. To-day he is a robust young fellow, and if anything, stronger than his brothers. Nothing in the way of hard work seems to affect him. I cannot speak too highly of PSYCHINE. It certainly saved our boy and made a man of him."

Prevents the children taking cold, wards off that terrible malady La Grippe and completely fortifies them against disease. It should always be used for colds, a gripe, weiness, loss of appetite, etc. Send to Dr. T. A. SLOCUM, Limited, Spina Ave., Toronto. Sold by all druggists and dealers, 50c and $1.00.
