

LOCAL SUMMARY.

ATHENS AND NEIGHBORING LOCALITIES BRIEFLY WRITTEN UP.

Events as Seen by Our Light of the Pen.—Local Announcements Briefly Noted.

Athens photograph gallery has changed hands. Mr. O. L. Smith's Falls, is the new proprietor.

5,000 Deacon Skins wanted at the Athens Meat Market by Wilson & Son.

Mr. Truman Caldwell has returned to Athens from Lombardy and taken a position in the mill of S. Y. Bullis.

The ladies of the Methodist church W. M. S. will hold a thank offering service in the vestry on the afternoon of Good Friday.

Members of the L. & G. B. E. A. will leave with regret that the spire of Mr. F. W. Fulford, Brockville, was burglarized this week and considerably damaged.

In the spring a young man's favor will turn to a new suit. Our new goods are stylish and we are not afraid to show their merits. See them—G. E. Douglas.

Brockville's tax rate has been struck for this year at 22 mills on the dollar, and the taxes must be paid before a ratepayer will be given a ballot at next municipal election.

The merry music of many robins greeted the first beams of the rising sun yesterday. They are what the Recorder calls "real robins." The "robins" of that journal can't tell a robin from a grosbeak until he hears it chirp.

Thomas Robinson, an aged man maintained at the House of Industry at Brockville, died at that institution last week. He was the first person named Robinson to be buried at that place. The body was removed to Brockville for interment.

Officers of the Salvation Army from Brockville closed the work in this town with a farewell meeting held in the Methodist church on Monday evening. The labors of the Army in Athens have resulted in good to many, but financial support given was not sufficient to maintain the corps.

We said last week that the B. & W. expected to have the road clear on Thursday, and the large forces of men employed would have realized that expectation, but on the afternoon of that day another big storm crossed the track and piled up the snow so high that the road was not finally cleared until Saturday. The express came in on the evening of that day, and on Sunday a train of eleven cars passed up the line delivering welcome consignments of goods at the various stations.

The "semi-occasional" debates in the high school not proving a sufficient outlet for the oratory of the students, a few of them have taken the commendable step of forming a club—in fact, limited to twelve in order that all may have a chance to speak on the various questions debated. On Saturday evening one of the clubs debated the relative merits of the horse and cow. Of course, as was fitting in this county, the cow got the call, but the horse was such a close second that final judgment was withheld.

It is announced that as a result of a preliminary hearing of the recent shooting affair in Brockville, conducted by Police Magistrate Deacon this week at the General Hospital, Lepointe was transferred from that institution to the county goal, though he has not yet by any means recovered from the injuries inflicted upon him on that eventful day. At no time since his arrest has Lepointe given any sign of a realization of the gravity of his position. He has not mentioned a word about the crime one way or the other, and when the subject is broached by the guards he turns the conversation to something else with remarkable shrewdness.

Blaze at Frankville. The people of Frankville are congratulating themselves upon their narrow escape from an extensive conflagration. About seven o'clock on Friday morning smoke was seen issuing from the dry goods store of C. A. Caste. An alarm given at once given and an entrance being effected it was found that the floor near the big box stove had taken fire during the night and that about eight feet square of the flooring had been completely consumed, now being kept in place by the ceiling only by the heavy timbers on which the floor had rested. The fire was still smoldering, but was promptly extinguished. The damage will be done by the goods, principally on the second building and contents were insured in the Royal for $2,100.

The building was so situated that in its destruction by fire a half-dozen shops and houses would necessarily be involved.

Obit.—Nicholas E. Brown. About three weeks ago Mr. Brown was attacked with paralysis in his right side. Dr. Horton of Brockville attended him, and in a few days had him removed to the General Hospital, Brockville. On Thursday evening of last week he suffered another stroke, which completely paralyzed his right side, and he became unconscious and continued to sink until 6 a. m. on Monday morning, when he died.

There were few men better known in the township of Elizabethtown than Mr. Brown. Born at the village of New Dublin in the year 1849, he was in his 47th year at the time of his death. He was a son of Jacob Brown, who for many years held the position of township clerk of Elizabethtown.

At the death of his father, Nicholas was appointed clerk in his stead, and filled the office with ability ever since. Mr. Brown was a Conservative in politics, and possessing an abundance of ready wit and a fluent tongue, was called upon to speak in political contests on behalf of his party. He was also a prominent society man, being a Mason, Orangeman and Forester. He married Maggie Goff of the Redan neighborhood. She died about six years ago, leaving a family of thirteen children, all of whom survive both their parents.

The funeral is being held to-day (Wednesday) at 2 p. m. at the English Church, New Dublin, under the auspices of the different societies of which he was a member.

This is all-fool day. Mr. Robert Bowie, of Brockville, the owner of Bob's Park Hotel, Charleston, was in Athens last Sunday.

Snow shovellers had just a trifle too much experience this year of "winter lingering in the lap of spring."

Mining operation will be resumed at Hicks' point, Charleston Lake, just as soon as the snow disappears.

Within a week or two it is probable that the Gordon woolen mill will be in full operation for the season of 1896.

Just as soon as the weather will permit it is the intention of the proprietors of the Gamble House to finish and furnish the large new addition to his first class hotel.

H. N. Mosher, better known to our readers as "Doc" Mosher, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, is able to be out on the street and is slowly gaining strength.

Mr. Robt. Mackie, Reeve of Kitley, was in Athens a few hours on Monday last. Mr. Mackie thinks that Hon. John F. Wood will have a walk over in the Brockville riding.

Timber Boss John Flood is getting everything ready for rafting and making a run down the St. Lawrence to Quebec. He expects to float the timber down the river no later than May 1st.

Parliament will die a natural death April 24th, and as yet nobody seems to offer special legislation to prevent the closing of this riding to stand next election. The Conservative convention has not even been called yet. Is it possible that our Tory friends have decided to drop out of the race entirely this year?

Fishery Overseer Hicks has been granted by the Department of Fisheries as the advisability of granting permits to fish for suckers. Mr. Hicks' opinion has always been that no harm results from fishing for this species of fish, provided the persons engaged in such fishing would refrain from killing game fish. In all probability permits will be granted subject to supervision of the overseer.

Some Indians living in this neighborhood are liable to get themselves into trouble. It seems that these aborigines are not satisfied to do their trapping in a legal manner, but have been cutting open muskrats; houses on Wilson Lake and setting traps therein. Complaint has been made to a magistrate, and probably those Indians will yet learn that the law will not permit them to be as destructive as they wish to be.

The local lodge of Orangemen have appointed a committee of reception to provide a suitable programme and arrangements for the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne at Athens next July. At the next lodge meeting the committee will get actively at work, and will continue working until after the celebration. It shall have been pronounced the most successful demonstration ever held in this village.

We regret to announce the death of an old resident of the township of Yonge, Mr. Thomas Jacobs of the Dobbs Settlement, which sad event took place on the morning of the 28th inst. Mr. Jacobs was seized with an attack of a grippe last week, which rapidly developed into pneumonia, he being confined to his bed only a couple of days. He was very highly respected in the community, and his death is a serious loss to his family. His funeral was held yesterday (Tuesday), in Christ Church, Athens, the Rev. Wm. Wright, officiating. We join with the community in expressing our sympathy to the widow and children, four sons and three daughters.

Mrs. Field of the Brockville College has about completed arrangements to enter a lawyer's office as stenographer. Mr. McLennan expects to take a position as book keeper in a few days. Comment is unnecessary as to the merits of the school, and we will let the story. College will be closed for the Easter holidays and will reopen April 13th.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

Mr. C. F. Kerr, Portland, spent Sunday in Athens.

Mr. Ohas. Howe has material on the ground for the erection of a large horse barn on his property, Main street east.

On account of funds accumulating quickly, will lend money on real estate at the very lowest rate—$10,000 on hand now. Mortgages also purchased.—JOHN CRAWLEY, Athens, Ont.

Mrs. William Snie of Frankville does not put a drop of water on the plant known as the Snake or Rat Tail cactus from the time when it is taken in from the fall frosts until returned to the veranda in the spring. Then apply water at regular intervals, and the force accumulated by no winter growth will burst forth in a profusion of large light and dark pink flowers, apparently forming the miniature drapery in fancy costumes. I think the various species of cacti are by far the most wonderful family of flowers in the world. To my fancy they ever shadow a forbidding exclusiveness, manifest a lone dignity and invest themselves in a mysterious majesty, which never fails to take us by surprise when flowering. Even the little leucocactus freely embroiders its lace robe with little stars of pure white, in form and shape like the pale blue forget-me-not.

If you happen to rot your cacti down with water, out the top off and reset as a slip in fresh earth.

For the next ten days H. H. Arnold will offer special prices on his various curtains, window shades and wall paper. A golden opportunity for those who want these goods.

Mrs. John Dewry, mother of Mr. Fred Dewry, who last season managed Cedar Park Hotel at Charleston Lake, died on Thursday at her home in Newburgh.

Our readers will be pleased to learn that Mr. P. Slack, who has been dangerously ill for several days, is now much better and in a fair way to a speedy recovery.

Parliament has decided to dissolve on April 23rd. When the elections will be held has not yet been announced, but it is expected that they will be held either in the month of June or October.

The Methodists of Westport are busy getting out timber for their new sawmill hall and sheds, and have a subscription list that guarantees the enterprise being carried out.

Recorder—Rev. J. J. Cameron, of Athens, preached at both services in the First Presbyterian church yesterday, and his able discourses were listened to with much interest and appreciation by large congregations.

CASH.—$800.00 worth of crockery china and glassware at Bankrup prices Sale continues for a short time only until after the celebration. See the ad. in Hall, Brockville, Ont., nearly opposite the Revere house.

Wm. G. McLaughlin, the barber, has bought out Ed. Curry and resumed the barber business in the old post office building, next to H. H. Arnold's store, and hopes by close attention to business and good work to receive a call from all his old customers and the public generally.

Mr. John Earl died on Monday last at his residence on the Perth road, about six miles from Brockville. For several years he conducted a hotel, a in this capacity was widely known as a model host and jovial companion. He leaves a widow and several children, four sons and three daughters.

Mrs. Field of the Brockville College has about completed arrangements to enter a lawyer's office as stenographer. Mr. McLennan expects to take a position as book keeper in a few days. Comment is unnecessary as to the merits of the school, and we will let the story. College will be closed for the Easter holidays and will reopen April 13th.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. C. F. Kerr, Portland, spent Sunday in Athens.

Mr. Ohas. Howe has material on the ground for the erection of a large horse barn on his property, Main street east.

On account of funds accumulating quickly, will lend money on real estate at the very lowest rate—$10,000 on hand now. Mortgages also purchased.—JOHN CRAWLEY, Athens, Ont.

Mrs. William Snie of Frankville does not put a drop of water on the plant known as the Snake or Rat Tail cactus from the time when it is taken in from the fall frosts until returned to the veranda in the spring. Then apply water at regular intervals, and the force accumulated by no winter growth will burst forth in a profusion of large light and dark pink flowers, apparently forming the miniature drapery in fancy costumes. I think the various species of cacti are by far the most wonderful family of flowers in the world. To my fancy they ever shadow a forbidding exclusiveness, manifest a lone dignity and invest themselves in a mysterious majesty, which never fails to take us by surprise when flowering. Even the little leucocactus freely embroiders its lace robe with little stars of pure white, in form and shape like the pale blue forget-me-not.

If you happen to rot your cacti down with water, out the top off and reset as a slip in fresh earth.

For the next ten days H. H. Arnold will offer special prices on his various curtains, window shades and wall paper. A golden opportunity for those who want these goods.

Mrs. John Dewry, mother of Mr. Fred Dewry, who last season managed Cedar Park Hotel at Charleston Lake, died on Thursday at her home in Newburgh.

Our readers will be pleased to learn that Mr. P. Slack, who has been dangerously ill for several days, is now much better and in a fair way to a speedy recovery.

Parliament has decided to dissolve on April 23rd. When the elections will be held has not yet been announced, but it is expected that they will be held either in the month of June or October.

The Methodists of Westport are busy getting out timber for their new sawmill hall and sheds, and have a subscription list that guarantees the enterprise being carried out.

Recorder—Rev. J. J. Cameron, of Athens, preached at both services in the First Presbyterian church yesterday, and his able discourses were listened to with much interest and appreciation by large congregations.

CASH.—$800.00 worth of crockery china and glassware at Bankrup prices Sale continues for a short time only until after the celebration. See the ad. in Hall, Brockville, Ont., nearly opposite the Revere house.

Wm. G. McLaughlin, the barber, has bought out Ed. Curry and resumed the barber business in the old post office building, next to H. H. Arnold's store, and hopes by close attention to business and good work to receive a call from all his old customers and the public generally.

Mr. John Earl died on Monday last at his residence on the Perth road, about six miles from Brockville. For several years he conducted a hotel, a in this capacity was widely known as a model host and jovial companion. He leaves a widow and several children, four sons and three daughters.

Mrs. Field of the Brockville College has about completed arrangements to enter a lawyer's office as stenographer. Mr. McLennan expects to take a position as book keeper in a few days. Comment is unnecessary as to the merits of the school, and we will let the story. College will be closed for the Easter holidays and will reopen April 13th.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Bellamy, who will probably become a permanent member of the Athenian colony in the Empire State of this metropolis.

This (Wednesday) evening the high school students will hold a public debate and entertainment in the lecture room, to which they extend a cordial invitation to the general public. The program for the evening has been in course of preparation for some time, so something special may be anticipated.

Mr. Kinch E. Redmond, of New York, city traveler for the wholesale linen importing house of J. Locke & Potts, has been spending a few days at his home in Athens. He returned to the city on Tuesday, and was accompanied by Mr.